$50,000 BARRIE GIFT EQUIPS SHACKLETON

Anonymous Donor Who Made Antarctic Expedition Possible Is the Playwright.

HIS REGARD FOR SCOTT

Who Left Him a Last Blurred Message—His Mother's Influence Seen, Too—Mr. Frohman's Explanation.

The reason Sir Ernest Shackleton has been able to announce that he has finally collected the necessary funds for his antarctic expedition is that Sir J. M. Barrie, the playwright, has come forward with the remaining sum desired.

The Barrie contribution, without which the expedition would not have been possible, was made, so it was learned yesterday, with the single stipulation that it should be kept private. Even now the Barrie donation to the Shackleton fund is not known in London.

The sum with which Barrie rounded out the fund deemed necessary for this latest south polar exploration is $50,000. The entire equipment needed can now be furnished, according to the estimate of Sir Ernest Shackleton. The expedition will start from Buenos Aires in October, the object being to cross the south polar continent from the Weddell Sea to the Ross Sea, a distance of 1,700 land miles. More than half this distance will be over an entirely new route. Financially supported better than any other previous polar expedition, the Shackleton party will set out equipped with an aeroplane, motor sledges, 120 trained dogs and a complete supply of all the latest scientific apparatus. This will be Sir Ernest Shackleton's first polar expedition since, as Lieut. Shackleton, he led the famous dash which was checked and turned back 111 miles from the South pole. He had previously served in Scott's unsuccessful attempt to reach the pole.

Why Barrie Is Interested.

Charles Frohman, who has produced all of Sir J. M. Barrie's plays in England and America and is one of his closest friends, explained last night the probable reasons for Barrie's great interest in the Shackleton polar expedition.

"Knowing Mr. Barrie's extreme sensitiveness to any publicity concerning his gifts," said Mr. Frohman, "I won't either confirm or deny the fact that it was he who completed the sum necessary for the Shackleton expedition. But if you say it is so, I can easily explain the donation to you. Naturally, everybody will be interested to know the connection between one of the gentlest, shyest and most retiring of men with a huge, daring expedition into a land already so tragic for Englishmen. But, once you know J. M. Barrie, the explanation is simple.

"Two influences make Sir Ernest Shackleton's coming polar expedition an event of the most absorbing interest for J. M. Barrie. One influence is typical of Barrie sentiment, and the other is typical of Barrie heredity. One of the closest friends of the late Capt. Scott, among the living men of England, was J. M. Barrie. Peter Scott, only son of the dead explorer, is Mr. Barrie's godson, and gets his name from the playwright's 'Peter Pan.' Capt. Scott was Sir Ernest Shackleton's chief, and Mr. Barrie regards the Shackleton expedition as a fulfillment of an ambition that Capt Scott gave his life for. Barrie now possesses one of the last messages found beside Capt. Scott's body in the tent that finally became his grave. It is a wonderfully heroic farewell message. I have seen it. It was written in lead pencil, and toward the end the words are very faint, going off finally into the obscurity of undecipherable scratches. Then it suddenly ends with the abruptness of a thing written by a dying hand.

"In the message Capt. Scott confides his son, Peter, to Barrie's care. I particularly remember one sentence in it: 'Give the boy a chance in life if the State won't do it. He ought to have good stuff in him.' Capt. Scott, Lieut. Shackleton, as he then was, and J. M. Barrie, all inveterate pipe smokers, were, as Barrie and Shackleton still are, wonderfully kindred souls; the link between them being a boundless curiosity in the unknown; Barrie experiencing in his writings the love of adventure that Shackleton and Scott experienced in their explorations.

His Mother's Influence.

"But heredity, too, enters largely into the explanation of Mr. Barrie's interest in the Shackleton expedition. J. M. Barrie is, above all else, his mother's son. He has told me that, as a lad, his mother's favorite reading was the biographies of explorers; only he says that his mother, to whom he invariably refers simply by her maiden name, Margaret Ogilvy, always said she hoped that every famous explorer would have the sense to stay at home, after finally getting there, although she would beam with admiration as each explorer disappointed her and went forth again.

"Now, this is the way a great admiration for explorers, felt all her life by Barrie's mother, worked out as an interesting bit of heredity in Barrie himself. As a lad it first fired him with an eagerness to venture forth into unknown lands very far to the south of his own native Kirriemuir in Scotland; so that he was one of the first of the very few of his generation who risked seeking a livelihood in London with barely a shilling in his pocket. After years of struggle and privation he succeeded as a writer, first of books and then of plays, largely concerned with the unknown world. In 'Peter Pan' he coined a name for it, the 'Never-Never Land'—the unmapped tract of country where all is thrilling adventure.

"When Capt. Scott failed to return from the 'Never-Never Land' no man felt it more keenly than Barrie. He had heard Capt. Scott tell by the hour of his adventures in each of the earlier expeditions, and, just as the biographies of famous explorers, read to him in his youth by his mother, affected Barrie's early life, close association with living explorers, like Shackleton and Scott, has left its traces in the present period of Barrie's life. You can see a most interesting example of this in his latest play, 'The Legend of Leonora,' where the character, 'Capt. Rattway,' described as an explorer but newly returned from a perilous expedition, is none other than Barrie's friend, Capt. Scott. The beauty of Capt. Rattway as a character in a play is the beauty that Capt. Robert Scott had in J. M. Barrie's eyes as a character in life. And as for Leonora and her love of explorers, of course, that again is heredity; for 'The Legend of Leonora' is the legend of Barrie's own mother.

"So you can see why nobody in England will be more solicitous for the safety and heartening of Sir Ernest

GLYNN SEES WILSON TO-DAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Gov. Glynn of New York, accompanied by William F. McCombs, Democratic National Chairman, arrived here late to-night, and will have a conference to-morrow with President Wilson. Questions affecting the reorganization of the Empire State Democracy are to be discussed.

With members of Congress and a United States Senator to be elected there next Fall, President Wilson has been giving much attention in his recent talks with Chairman McCombs to the New York State situation. It is known that the national Administration is anxious to build up in New York State a new organization, and that it will look for assistance from Mayor Mitchel and Gov. Glynn. Neither Gov. Glynn nor Mr. McCombs would discuss politics to-night. Just how far the reorganization would affect Charles F. Murphy and the Tammany organization may be made clear after the conference.

Gov. Glynn said that, besides his visit to the White House, he came to Washington to appear before the Rivers and Harbors Committee in the interest of a deeper Hudson, and in connection with the Niagara water power question.

TO LECTURE LIKE BRYAN.

Secretary Wilson Booked for Chautauqua with Yodlers and Jugglers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Undeterred by the criticism of Secretary Bryan last Summer, William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor, is going on the lecture platform. His Chautauqua manager will be Dr. Paul W. Pearson of Swarthmore College in Pennsylvania, who arranged the Bryan tour.

Secretary Wilson is to talk for the Democratic cause in Pennsylvania from the same platform as Gifford Pinchot, Progressive candidate for the nomination for United States Senator in the Keystone State. An admission fee will be charged.

Dr. Pearson announces "the other talent" to appear on these Chautauqua platforms. This talent includes a band, motion pictures, both educational and comedy: Tyrolean yodlers, violinist, Tuskegee singers, a "Prince of Jugglers," a male quartet, an "operatic company," and other attractions. The Pennsylvania Chautauqua is the organization which utilized Secretary Bryan's services last Summer.

Dr. Pearson says: "Making a partisan speech on a non-partisan platform is no new thing in the Chautauqua. This method means that the people pay for their own political campaigns instead of letting the corporations and big business pay for them. Chautauquas put campaigning on a democratic basis."

These are the places in Pennsylvania where Secretary Wilson and Mr. Pinchot are to speak and the dates: Hazleton, April 18; South Bethlehem, April 20; West Chester, April 21; Carlisle, April 22; Lancaster, April 25; Coatesville, April 27, and Chester, April 28.

RUNAWAY INJURES FOUR.

Driver Thrown Out and Auto Party Bruised.

A team of horses drawing a heavy coach dashed through 125th Street, from Fifth to Eighth Avenue, early last night when the sidewalks were crowded and the street full of autos and wagons. At every crossing groups of pedestrians narrowly escaped being run down, but in spite of repeated efforts to stop the runaways, the frightened animals galloped on as far as Eighth Avenue, where Patrolman Bolk succeeded in stopping them.

The driver, John Heany, 37 years old, of 331 East 122d Street, was thrown from his seat when the team bolted, and was picked up unconscious. He was removed to the Harlem Hospital in an ambulance by Dr. Allen, who said that he was suffering from a fracture of the skull and possible internal injuries. In front of Hurtig & Seamon's Music Hall, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, the runaways swerved, and the coach collided with an automobile in which were seated Harry Seamon, Joseph Hurtig, and Phil Wolf. All three occupants of the machine were thrown out, and the body of the touring car was badly damaged. Seamon and his companions escaped with a few bruises. The team of horses and the coach are owned by George B. Prior of 3,160 Broadway.

THIEF CHASE IN CHURCH.

Choir Boys Join in Pursuit of Man Who Interrupts Mass.

Priests were about to celebrate the mass at the morning service yesterday in St. Xavier's Church in West Fiftieth Street when persons in the congregation saw a white-haired man in ragged clothing edge over in his pew until he was directly behind a woman who was praying. The old man's hand stole over the back of the pew in front of him and came back with a large leather handbag.

When the thief had moved out to the aisle one or two arose to follow him. The old man started to run down the aisle to the door of the church. Cries of "Stop thief" aroused those who were at prayer and had not seen the incident. Several choir boys in cassocks and surplices, preparing to take part in the service, caught an idea of what was going on and ran down the aisle to join several others who were pursuing the thief. The priests looked from the chancel in astonishment at the uproar in the church.

The old man ran fast and had arrived at Sixth Avenue and Sixteenth Street before George Peyronnin, who was at the head of the pursuers, caught him.

The prisoner said that he was James Morton, 72 years old, of 153 Bowery, and that he had stolen the bag because he was starving. The police said that he was an old offender. Magistrate House heard the prisoner's story in the Men's Night Court and held him in $1,000 bail for Special Sessions.

RATHBURN CLINTON HELD.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Rathburn Clinton, 29 years old, a resident of New York City, was arrested here to-day and sent to the Washington Asylum Hospital for observation as to his mental condition. The complaint was made by his brother, Capt. Thomas Clinton of the United States Marine Corps.

Capt. Clinton told the police that his brother recently threatened to kill him. A warrant was issued, but when Rathburn Clinton was found his condition was so pitiable that he was sent to the hospital for treatment. The police said he was suffering from drug poisoning.

JAPAN ONE REASON FOR LARGER NAVY

OTHER POLICIES TO DEFEND

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The House Naval Committee has made public testimony of Rear Admiral Charles E. Vreeland, a member of the General Board of the Navy, ranking next to Admiral Dewey, before that committee which contains significant references to Japan and American naval strategy in the Pacific. Some of Admiral Vreeland's remarks about Japan, Germany, and the international contest for sea power have been retained in the printed text of his testimony, but all those statements which he thought necessary to be kept confidential have been blue-penciled in his revision of the stenographers' record of what he said.

Admiral Vreeland recommended the construction of four dreadnoughts as part of this year's naval increase programme, and said the General Board urged the creation of a fleet of forty-eight battleships by 1920.

The report of the General Board to Secretary Daniels on naval increase this year stated the board's position in these words:

> The General Board does not believe the nation stands ready to abandon or modify any of its well-established national policies, and repeats its position that the naval policy of the country should be to possess a fleet powerful enough to prevent or answer any challenge to these policies. The absolute strength necessary to accomplish this is a question that depends upon the national policies of prospective challengers and the force they can bring against us, and hence is relative and varies with their naval policies and building programmes.

Policies We Must Protect.

This statement was utilized by the "little navy" members of the Naval Committee for a grilling interrogation of Admiral Vreeland.

"Does that state your views?" inquired Representative Witherspoon of Mississippi.

"Yes, Sir," replied Admiral Vreeland. "That is straight."

"What are the national policies we should be able to resist or prevent any challenge of?"

"There is one for which we need a very large navy—the Monroe Doctrine," answered Admiral Vreeland.

"What are the others?" inquired Representative Witherspoon.

"Have we abandoned the open door in China?" flashed back Admiral Vreeland.

"No," said Mr. Witherspoon. "I am trying to get at the policies. You say we should have a fleet powerful enough to prevent or answer any challenge."

"Excluding the Asiatics," replied Admiral Vreeland, naming another policy.

"From California?" inquired Mr. Witherspoon.

"From our country," said the Admiral. "They are three big propositions that require force to maintain."

"Is that all?" asked Mr. Witherspoon.

"They occur to me as the most important," said the Admiral.

"Do you know of any reasonable apprehension that anybody is about to challenge the Monroe Doctrine, or the open door policy, or the exclusion of the Asiatics?"

"The exclusion of the Asiatics has been challenged," responded Admiral Vreeland.

"That is one reason why your belief is that we should increase the navy in order to prevent or answer any challenge to our policies?"

"Yes, Sir," said the Admiral.

"Have you any reasonable apprehension that the other policies will be challenged by any nation and that we should increase our navy for the purpose of preventing or answering that challenge—any one except the one?" insisted Mr. Witherspoon.

"The Monroe Doctrine," was Admiral Vreeland's answer.

Vreeland Differentiates Japan.

"What percentage of the navy of England could be spared," asked Mr. Williams of Illinois, "under ordinary conditions and complication in Europe, to be sent to America to attack us?"

"I do not think she could spare any—not without an understanding with the other powers," replied Admiral Vreeland. "I should say that is also true of Germany at the present time. I should say it is true of France, also."

"Is it true of Japan?" asked Mr. Williams.

"No, Sir," was Admiral Vreeland's reply.

"Would Japan be free under present conditions to send practically her whole navy across the Pacific to our west coast?"

"I don't think," said the Admiral, "she would have occasion to do that. She could inflict damage nearer home."

"I infer," said Mr. Williams, "from your answers that our need for a larger navy and extensive naval construction is in the Pacific rather than the Atlantic."

"At present," replied Admiral Vreeland. "You canot tell what the case will be a year hence; no one can tell."

"I understood you to say the European powers could hardly spare a sufficient number of their navy to come this far from their base to attack us."

"At the present time," answered the Admiral. "No one can predict what alliances and ententes may exist a year hence. So long as our navy is comparatively weak, we should go ahead."

JAPAN SITUATION BRIGHTER.

House's Handling of Immigration Bill a Revelation to Tokio.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Notable improvement in the relations between the United States and Japan is believed to have resulted from the events in the House of Representatives last week connected with the passage of the Burnett Immigration bill. Reports from Tokio are that a profound impression was caused in the Japanese capital, not only by the refusal of the House to include in the bill the proposed prohibition against the entry of Japanese into the United States, but even more by the non-partisan appeal of Representative Mann.

The demonstration of the fact that in dealing with such large matters of international importance Americans stand ready to ignore mere party considerations, and that there is no reasonable ground for expecting a different viewpoint on international affairs to result from a change in the political cast of the Administration is said to have been something of a revelation.

The Japanese statesmen are declared to have been much pleased, moreover, by the House's reception of the appeal for fair treatment of aliens and for abstention from legislative interference with the Executive Department in its efforts to arrive at a settlement of the open issues between the two countries. Officials here are encouraged in the hope that the proceedings in the House have gone far to insure an early and satisfactory adjustment of all issues between the two Gvernments. So far as known, the only actual step that has been taken is the proposal that a new treaty be made declaring the right of Japanese to hold land in America on even terms with other foreigners.

TRAIN'S WAY TO ROUT TICKET SPECULATORS

Whitman's Assistant Proposes a Central Ticket Office Run by Managers.

Assistant District Attorney Arthur Train will submit to Lee Shubert to-day a plan to do away with theatre ticket speculation in New York that will put an end even to ticket agencies in the hotels. The scheme already has been submitted to other leading theatrical managers, and although it is drastic in its provisions, Mr. Train believes that every one of them will work in harmony with his suggeston.

As worked out by Mr. Train, the plan calls for the establishment in Times Square of a central ticket office operated and controlled by the theatre managers themselves, where tickets for all of the amusement places will be offered for sale. To meet the expenses of such an establishment Mr. Train proposes to increase the price of tickets from $2 to $2.25.

This extra 25 cents on each ticket will, Mr. Train believes, pay all of the expenses of the central agency and also for the employment of a staff of special detectives to spot persons buying for speculators and so keep tickets from falling into the hands of persons who would resell them.

Mr. Train's idea is to have on sale at the central office only the first eight or ten rows of orchestra seats, and to keep the central office open only until 7 o'clock at night. After that hour all unsold tickets are to be returned to the box offices and put on sale there at the regular two-dollar rate.

In order to do away with the hotel agencies Mr. Train propses to amend the excise law making it a misdemeanor to sell a ticket to any place of amusement in any place where liquor is sold.

If the theatre managers fail to [illegible] the plan suggested by Mr. Train, or fail to suggest another which meets with his approval, he will immediately suggest the passage of laws which will take the matter out of the hands of the managers altogether.

"When the matter of theatre ticket speculation was first brought to the attention of my office," said Mr. Train last night, "I was surprised to find how much damage the speculation in the tickets had done to the theatres and how widespread was the resentment of the public at the treatment it was receiving. As a matter of fact, the ticket agencies are kept alive by the large number of visitors to the city, who, having only a short time to stay and see the shows, are willing to pay almost any price to get good seats. New Yorkers object to paying the high prices asked for tickets and have been driven away from the theatres.

"While at the outset the managers may have encouraged the sale of tickets to speculators, I am convinced now of their sincerity when they say they will do everything in their power to help break up the practice. The health of the theatre business depends upon doing away with ticket speculation.

"My plan is for the establishment of a perfect agency where a large force of clerks will give prompt and courteous treatment to the public, and where a person knows he can get good seats—if not for, to-night, then for to-morrow night, or for some other night. It may be necessary for the business to be strictly cash at first, but that will be up to the managers themselves. Later, if they wish to extend credit to persons they know, just as the agencies do now, that is entirely their own business.

"The public, while it objects to paying exorbitant prices for seats, has been educated up to a small advance at least, and the 25 cents extra which I suggest placing on all good seats sold at the central office would not be objectionable to any one. At the same time, with all of the theatres represented, it would bring in a large income which would make possible the employment of clerks of the highest class.

"I will also attempt to obtain legislation which will make it a crime for the manager of a theatre to sell or assist in the selling of tickets at a price higher than the one he has stamped on them. While any law which would attempt to prevent the buyer of a ticket from reselling it at a higher price probably would be unconstitutional, we will try to reach that evil in other ways. At all events, we will make it possible for the public to get what it wants at a fair price, and when that is done there will be no one to deal with the agencies.

"I have gone over the plan carefully many times, and I do not see any better way to do it. The report that Mr. Klaw said that Klaw & Erlanger did not believe in entering into any agreement with other managers is not true. I found Mr. Klaw most anxious to help me in every way. I have an appointment with Mr. Shubert on Monday, and will go into the plan with him, just as I have with the others. I am sure he will help, too."

"Last September," said Sargent Aborn of the Century Opera Company last night, "practically every agency and ticket speculator called upon us and tried to arrange for 'blocks of tickets' for each week's opera. The most important factor in their proposition was that they wished to return any unsold tickets to the box office each night as the curtain was rising.

"We said at the time we would not lend ourselves to such business methods in disposing of tickets to the public.

"We very soon got rid of the street speculator by having him arrested and fined. Some five or six speculators were so handled during the early part of our season, and that ended the nuisance. We are heartily in accord with any movement which will end forever the ticket-speculating nuisance and free the amusement public from the methods now employed to extort exorbitant prices for tickets for the opera."

PASTOR SAID 'DAMN' TO DANCE OBJECTOR

Now Greenpoint's Reformed Episcopal Church Is to Lose the Rev. Charles Quinn.

Because he desired the young people of his congregation to dance as often as they wished, while a senior warden considered a dance in the church building an outrage on the fitness of things, the Rev. Charles Quinn, pastor of the Reformed Episcopal Church of the Redemption in Greenpoint, handed in his resignation last night. It is to take effect on March 1.

The announcement created a stormy scene during the evening service, during which William MacEwan, the first warden, shouted that the pastor was "a liar," and two young girls arose to remark that "after Mr. Quinn goes away the congregation will consist only of Mr. MacEwan and the four members of his family."

It was clear from the behavior of the congregation that its sympathies were with the pastor. The Rev. Mr. Quinn is a young man. He was ordained less than two years ago. Mr. MacEwan is one of the oldest residents of Greenpoint. He has served as church warden during the incumbency of half a dozen pastors.

The trouble started, according to a version on which the Rev. Mr. Quinn and Senior Warden MacEwan partially agree, at a meeting of an organization of church workers known as the Helping Hand Society. The members of this society went to the church for a meeting a few weeks ago only to find that the fires had not been lighted and that the rooms were very chilly. Some one suggested that the members dance for a few minutes in order to warm up for the society's session.

A telephone message to the young clergyman obtained his permission, and a few numbers were danced to music from the church organ. As the fourth waltz was in progress the Senior Warden burst in upon them, hot with indignation.

He announced that "this dancing business will not do," and when told that the pastor had given his permission for the dance, the Senior Warden said the pastor would not do any more than the dancing would. He ordered all present to leave the church, and said he would report the minister to Bishop Robert L. Rudolph next day.

Events of the next day led to friction and bad feeling that has driven asunder all thought of fellowship and reconciliation between the minister and the Senior Warden. The Rev. Mr. Quinn told the young people they could have another dance that night if they so desired. Senior Warden MacEwan said there never would be another dance, whereupon the clergyman, as he admitted last night, dropped a remark that "there were many things a damn sight worse than dancing at which the young people might become engaged if driven away from the church for their amusements."

The profane phrase in the cleryman's remarks was repeated to Bishop Rudolph that very day. There was an investigation, and in accordance with the Bishop's recommendation, the Rev. Mr. Quinn gave out his announcement that he was ready to seek a new congregation.

"No publicity in this, no publicity in this," said Mr. MacEwan when reporters sought for details from the Rev. Mr. Quinn last night.

"But if there has been publicity you are to blame," the clergyman retorted to the Senior Warden.

"Any one who says that is a liar," said Mr. MacEwan, and he added, "You don't dare tell it all anyhow."

But the Rev. Mr. Quinn insisted that he did dare to tell it all, and asked Mr. MacEwan to listen while he did so. He then narrated the story, including the phrase containing the word "damn" that had so stirred up Mr. MacEwan. He insisted that most of the trouble was due to the fact that Mr. MacEwan belonged to a generation that had passed and could not, even in a slight degree, interpret the desires of the young folks of the present day. He said that the three clergymen who had preceded him had remained only for very brief periods.

Miss Harriet Gieger, President of the Helping Hand Society, and Miss Florence MacMillan, its Secretary, announced that they would see to it that all of the young folks remained away from church until "Mr. MacEwan could be brought to his senses."

MEMPHIS BANK CLOSES.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 8.—The Directors of the Mercantile Bank formally declared the bank insolvent to-day and adopted a resolution ordering its doors closed. They also directed Gen. L. E. Wright and Caruthers Ewing, attorneys, to take such steps as are necessary to protect the remaining assets of the bank. The resolutions asserted that default by the President of the bank, Hunter Raine, made that action necessary.

The last report of the bank, on Jan. 6, put its capital at $200,000 and the surplus $100,000. The Directors said to-night that they could not give a detailed statement of the affairs of the bank because the books were under a time lock and could not be reached. Mr. Raine, who is said to have lost a large sum in speculation, turned over to the bank all of his personal estate, valued at some $400,000. It is believed the bank will pay its depositors in full. Mr. Raine's losses were said to have occurred almost entirely within the last forty to fifty days.

The name of Hunter Raine was familiar in these parts a dozen years ago when it was borne by a well known racehorse, named for the Memphis banker.

ACCUSE HUSBAND IN NEWARK MURDER

HIS SISTER ALSO HELD

As a Material Witness—Evidence Obtained in Note Left By Suicide.

Chief of Police Long of Newark announced shortly after midnight last night that a charge of murder would be placed against Charles I. Manning, proprietor of a garage at Verona, N. J., for the death of his wife, Harriet Manning, of 219 Warren Street, Newark. Mrs. Manning was shot and killed on Friday night by Miss Hazel Herdman of Cedar Grove, N. J., who confessed just before she died on Saturday at the Mountainside Hospital in Montclair, N. J., of poison by bichloride of mercury, taken with suicidal intent, that she had murdered Mrs. Manning and had done so to free Manning to marry her. Manning and Miss Herdman had a child 18 months old, who is now in the care of relatives at Montclair.

At midnight the detectives brought two women into Newark Police Headquarters. After they had been questioned for an hour, Captain of Detectives Tuite announced that one of the women was Mrs. Sadie E. Garrabrant, a sister of Manning, who would be held as a material witness. Before his arrest Manning had lived with her at her home in Bloomfield Avenue, Verona. The second woman was released.

After questioning Manning's sister Capt. Tuite said:

"We have established to our satisfaction that Manning knew that Miss Herdman had committed the crime at least as early as the time that she was arrested on Friday night. There is also reason to believe that he knew in advance that the deed was committed.

Capt. Tuite was asked if Mrs. Garrabrant had admitted that words of her brother showed that he knew about the crime. Capt. Tuite, however, would not say whether the accusation against Manning was supported by his sister's testimony.

Miss Herdman in her dying statement attempted to exonerate Manning, but Chief Long said last night that evidence had been obtained tending to show that he was an accessory before and after the fact. One thing which the police in their investigation yesterday were seeking to show, was that Manning took Miss Herdman in his automobile to Newark before the murder was committed.

Last Monday Mrs. Manning received a check for $2,600, her share in the estate of her father, Reuben Cobb, a farmer. She had other property besides that. She died intestate, and under the New Jersey law Manning became her sole heir, as they had no children.

Shortly after the murder on Friday night the police of Newark called up Manning's garage at Verona and found him in. Later they took him to Police Headquarters in Newark and questioned him, but later released him.

Manning made no efforts to escape. On Saturday morning he drove with Miss Herdman to Newark and viewed the body of his wife in Mullin's morgue. After Miss Herdman had taken poison he carried her in his machine from Bloomfield to the hospital in Montclair, and later drove with the girl's mother and sister to the hospital, where he was taken into custody by Chief Long.

Physicians at the hospital in Montclair, who read the note the dying girl left for Manning, said that there was nothing in it which implicated Manning in any way with the crime or showed that he had any knowledge of it. Chief Long refused to say what the note contained, holding that it was a dying declaration and contained valuable information for the police. Chief Long refused last night to tell what the evidence was which led to the decision to charge Manning with murder.

Chief of Police Long of Newark questioned Manning yesterday afternoon in the presence of Mrs. Harriet Cobb and Mrs. William Reilly, mother and sister of the murdered woman. Chief Long later sent for a stenographer to take a statement. Chief Long, however, refused last night to say whether his investigation had thrown any light on the murder.

The body of Miss Herdman is at Kunz's Morgue in Orange. The funeral arrangements have not been completed, but it was said last night that the services would be conducted by the Rev. John R. Pratt, pastor of the Congregational Church at Verona, who was asked for on Saturday by Miss Herdman, but was unable to reach the hospital before her death.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Feb. 8.—THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent learns that Messrs. Knoedler have just sold to an American collector a very fine whole length life-size portrait by El Greco of a Spanish gentleman in armor. The price paid was $150,000. This is believed to be by far the highest price yet paid for a painting by this master, of whose work there are very few good examples outside of public collections, and these chiefly in Spain.

Roland F. Knoedler of Messrs. Knoedler & Co., 556 Fifth Avenue, said at the Hotel Savoy last night that his firm had not yet been formally notified of the sale of the portrait. Charles L. Knoedler, another brother, of 169 West Fifty-seventh Street, who retired from the firm two years ago, said he did not consider $150,000 an extravagant price for one of El Greco's works. "The works of this artist," he said, "are mostly to be found in the galleries of collectors in Madrid and other parts of Spain. Collectors here are just beginning to go after his paintings."

UNIONS ACCUSE A JUDGE.

WHEELING, West Va., Feb. 8.—President Wilson will be asked to bring about an investigation of the official conduct of Circuit Judge Alston G. Dayton, of the Northern District of West Virginia. This was decided upon at a union labor mass meeting held here to-day under the auspices of the Ohio Valley Trades Council. A petition, signed by 5,000 men, will be taken to Washington this week.

The United Mine Workers of America started the fight on Judge Dayton charging him with having shown favoritism in cases growing out of the strike at Colliers, West Virginia.

MAYOR MITCHEL BETTER.

To be at His Office To-day—Will Cut Down Dinners.

Mayor Mitchel, who was confined to his home at 258 Riverside Drive on Saturday by a severe headache and a slight cold, was feeling much better yesterday. He said last night that he would be at his office this morning ready for work.

"It was only a headache," said the Mayor, "and I don't know that I can blame dinners and other social engagements for my slight illness, but I've got to cut down my social engagements in order to get more rest."

The Mayor missed two dinners on Saturday night where he was scheduled to make addresses.

FLIES 1,000 MILES STRAIGHT

German Aviator Stays Up 16 Hours 20 Minutes, Breaking All Records.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Monday, Feb. 9.—A further demonstration of the fact that a transatlantic aeroplane flight is no longer to be regarded as an impossible achievement, says The Daily Mail, was given on Saturday by the German airman Ingold, who covered a distance of more than 1,000 miles in 16 hours and 20 minutes, breaking the endurance record, during which time he flew from Mülhausen, in Alsace, and ended his flight near Munich.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 8.—A. D. Jernigan, a Valdosta jeweler, yesterday married Miss Bertha Stevens, whom he is nursing through a case of smallpox. When Jernigan went to visit the girl he found that she and other members of her family were suffering from smallpox, and that the house was under quarantine. He got through the quarantine lines and announced that he would nurse his sweetheart back to health, and that they would be married at once. Then another difficulty arose, for he could not induce any clergyman to come to the house.

The Rev. A. C. Pyle, a Baptist preacher, finally settled the difficulty by yelling the ceremony at them from the safety of the front yard, having first assured himself that all the windows and doors were closed.

GOETHALS TO JUDGE BURKE.

Charges of Graft to be Passed Upon by Canal Chairman.

PANAMA, Feb. 8.—The report of the investigation into the alleged irregularities in the Commissary Department, of which John Burke is manager, is now in the hands of Col. George W. Goethals, Chairman of the Panama Canal Commission, who will decide to-morrow what action, if any, is to be taken.

Allegations have been made that Mr. Burke has accepted illegal commissions from contractors for supplies, and his European dealings have been the subject of a special investigation. It is understood that the case has been left in the hands of Col. Goethals, to deal with in an administrative capacity.

LOSES POWER OF SPEECH.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 8.—Mrs. Lillie Oberhofer of 640 Sixtieth Street, Brooklyn, who arrived here to-night suffering from a nervous breakdown, lost the power of speech before the train arrived in this city.

She managed by signs to let the ticket agent at the Reading Station know that she wanted to talk to a policeman, and after walking away with one she recovered somewhat. In a newspaper she pointed out letters, and the policeman by spelling them out learned her name and that she had been out of a hospital two days. She was put in charge of the police matron, who took her to the Atlantic City Hospital.

HATS MIXED, DANCERS FIGHT

Lack of Hat Hooks Leads to Shooting at Mrs. Rosseny's Party.

When Mrs. Josephine Rosseny gave a dance on Saturday night in her flat at 353 East Twenty-third Street, there were not enough hat hooks for the fifteen couples who took part, and several hats were laid on the floor against the wall. As soon as the music struck up the couples danced along the hall and the hats were kicked into an inextricable mass.

The guests began to depart early yesterday morning and a quarrel at once began. One man became infuriated and fired four shots from his revolver. One guest was shot twice in the breast, and while he was being taken to Bellevue Hospital, the others went home hatless. A revolver was found in the gutter outside, but no arrests were made. The man wounded was James Saverano of 382 Keap Street, Brooklyn, a son-in-law of the hostess.

MARSHALL PREVENTS PANIC.

Helps Smother Shouts of "Fire!" in Crowded Hall—Bryan There Also.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The lives of more than 2,000 persons who had gathered to hear Secretary Bryan, Vice President Marshall, and others speak at the Interdenominational Bible Conference were endangered at Polique's Theatre this afternoon when fire started in the dressing rooms below the stage. The curtain was rung down and the people quietly passed out, thinking the meeting was over. Rats gnawing on matches caused the blaze.

Quiet on the stage was maintained by Vice President Marshall and others, who prevented cries of "Fire!" from being shouted. Among those on the stage were the Rev. G. Campbell Morgana, pastor of Westminster Chapel, London, and prominent church dignitaries from practically every State in the Union.

VILLA TELLS WILSON HE'LL PUNISH BANDIT

ALL DEAD IN TRAIN WRECK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—After an hour's conference with President Wilson at the White House to-night, Secretary Bryan announced that assurances had been received from Gen. Francisco Villa of his intention to protect Spanish subjects when he attacked Torreon.

Word was also received from the Constitutionalist General of his intention to assist in every way possible in fixing the responsibility for the tragedy at Cumbre Tunnel, on the Mexico Northwestern Railroad, in which several Americans were suffocated. Gen. Villa has complied with the request of the State Department that a guard of soldiers accompany the party, composed of Americans, who hope to recover the bodies of the dead Americans. Secretary Bryan said he had ordered American Consul Edwards at Juarez to send a special messenger with the party to report on the facts of the affair.

Constitutionalists here say Maximo Castillo, who is charged with responsibility for the tunnel accident, is an irresponsible bandit with a small following, recognizing neither Huerta nor Carranza. He was the trusted bodyguard of Madero when the latter took the field against Diaz, and members of the Constitutionalist agency here say his present outlawry is the result of insanity. They say he will be summarily dealt with by Villa if captured.

All those aboard the ill-fated train appear to have perished. They include at least nine Americans and thirty Mexicans, according to a dispatch from American Consul Letcher at Chihuahua to the State Department to-night. The dispatch, which was dated to-day, gave information brought there by persons who had just arrived from Madera, the nearest point to the tunnel. It said the Americans known to have been aboard the train and whose bodies were being sought by a relief party included:

C. H. Marders, express agent.
Henry Schofield, Superintendent, Juarez.
K. L. Hatfield, business man, El Paso.
J. I. Morris, road master.
L. E. Williams, employe Madera Lumber Company.
J. Webster, conductor in charge of train.
Edward J. McCutcheon, engineer.

About thirty other persons, including some Americans, were aboard.

From American Consul Edwards at Juarez came the information that Vice Consul Zoeller had left with a special relief train for Cumbre tunnel, with about thirty Americans and a guard of fifty Constitutionalist soldiers. They took many coffins with them, as they had little hope of finding alive any of the pasengers or crew of the train.

Mr. Edwards added that it had been positively established in the latest telegrams received from near the scene of the disaster that the train was not held up or in any way disturbed by the bandits before it entered the tunnel, and that it was also known that the bandits had departed about two hours before the train entered the south end of the tunnel. Seven stock cars had been set on fire at the north end, which ignited the timbers in the tunnel, and it is the supposition of those near the scene that the passenger train ran into and collided with the burning cars. The Consul said opinion was divided as to whether or not the bandits intended to destroy lives.

Secretary Bryan was busy at the State Department all day answering messages of inquiry concerning the Americans and telegraphing instructions to the nearest Consuls. The advices were shown to President Wilson. There is confidence at the State Department that the Constitutionalists will do everything possible to punish the offenders.

The announcement that Gen. Villa would protect Spanish subjects in his invasion of Torreon brought relief to officials here, who had been swamped with petitions and representations on behalf of the threatened Spaniards.

Urgent representations had been made to Villa by Consul Edwards at the instance of the American Government. Secretary Bryan said to-night that earlier dispatches to the effect that Villa had intended to execute all Spaniards were not confirmed. It is understood that Villa's warning was directed chiefly against Spaniards who were actively assisting Huerta. The State Department, however, regards its latest assurances as satisfactory and feels that all Spaniards will be safe. It is regarded as possible, however, that the Spanish Legation at Mexico City will advise Spaniards at Torreon to refrain from acting in any way as combatants in the revolution.

Word was received here to-day that Charles Myers Dobson, an American, formerly a newspaper man, was imprisoned in Torreon, and Secretary Bryan promptly dispatched a request for information to the American Consul there.

FIND NO BODIES IN TUNNEL.

Special to The New York Times.

CUMBRE TUNNEL, Chihuahua, Feb. 8.—Rescue workers in oxygen helmets have been at work since Saturday trying to reach the burning passenger train which was run into the tunnel by Maximo Castillo and his bandits. No more bodies have been located, and it is now believed by the officials of the Mexico Northwestern Railroad that all the passengers were suffocated and buried under the slime of the mountain tunnel.

The special train which left Juarez Saturday night arrived here at 1:55 this afternoon, and the entire crew and fire fighters on board went to work on the north portal, where the gas and fumes were worst. Lining the cars were seventy-five coffins, awaiting bodies that were not recovered. Mexicans sent to scour the mountains in the forlorn hope that Castillo might have kidnapped the passengers in the hills failed to find any trace of them.

At the Pearson Syndicate offices, which have been established at the tunnel mouth, the officials said they did not believe there was one chance in a hundred for the men in the tunnel to be alive. Rescuers working from the south end of the bore have penetrated only a third of the distance, but succeeded in discovering the locomotive of the passenger train. The pilot was broken, and the whole machine showed that the train had gone into the tunnel under full steam. This tends to verify the belief

That Castillo captured the train and sent it into the tunnel with all the passengers locked in the coaches.

The three American trainmen who were operating the cattle train reached Madera to-day. They said that when the bandits captured the first train the conductor told them they were going back to seize the passenger train as soon as they had wrecked and burned the freight.

Mrs. Gilmartin and the wives of the other American railroad officials are prostrated, and have abandoned hope of seeing their husbnds alive again. The fire continues to burn in the tunnel, which is filled with gas and fumes.

Rescuing parties returning to-night from the interior of the tunnel in the dark brought back a charred bone, a few buttons from a man's coat, and a punch such as is used by conductors on passenger trains. They found these articles near one of the coaches of the burned passenger train. The entire train had been wrecked, they reported. Rocks and mud covered a part of one car, so that it might have bodies under it that were not destroyed.

It became known to-night that Mrs. Lee Carruth, with five small children, were passengers on the train. She was en route to join her husband, who is employed in Mexico as a railroad man.

HUERTA REOPENS RAILWAYS.

Renews Communication to Tampico and Torreon as Rebels Concentrate.

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 8.—President Huerta has succeeded in the past week, without much fighting, in reopening the lines of communication to Tampico and Laredo and between Saltillo and Torreon. This apparent advantage is explained to some extent by the fact that the rebels have received instructions to cease operating in small bands in those districts, where they had been persistently cutting the lines, and join the concentration movements near Torreon, the middle districts, and about Tampico, on the Gulf Coast.

President Huerta has at Torreon 6,000 men and 4,000 at Monterey. At Tampico the Federal garrison is approximately 2,000, and there always remains the waterway from Vera Cruz to reinforce Tampico. Huerta has said that he will continue to send troops to Torreon until the garrison there numbers at least 10,000.

Military men profess to believe that there is much doubt about the ability of the rebels to take Torreon, even after they obtain ammunition, which they need. Not a few are convinced that the rebels are likely to be checked in their movement southward, both at Torreon and at Tampico.

President Huerta's calm attitude after the lifting of the embargo on arms seems to have gained him some sympathy, and in local financial centres it is believed that he has slightly more favorable prospects of obtaining money, perhaps indirectly from European sources. Even without foreign assistance it is certain that he will be able to extract many millions from local sources. Of this he has made no secret, repeatedly saying that if the worst befell he would take money where he could.

The owners of haciendas adjoining the State of Mexico have been notified that they will be expected to loan the Government money on their land, and it would cause no surprise if special taxes were imposed on all property in the capital and the other cities in which Huerta is still in control.

The opinion is held here that the rebels in the north from now on will direct their energies along two lines of campaign, one looking to the capture of Torreon, Zacatecas, Aguascalientes, and other towns in their path to the capital, and the other to the capture of Tampico, with Monterey and San Luis Potosi as secondary objectives.

DOUBLE DUTY ON OUR GOODS.

Decree Said to be Waiting Huerta's Signature—Vera Cruz Oil Seized.

VERA CRUZ, Feb. 8.—It is reported, apparently on the best of authority, that a decree has been prepared, and only awaits the President's signature, doubling the duties on all imports from the United States.

The straits to which the Mexican Government is reduced for fuel with which to continue the operation of the National Railway lines is shown by the commandeering this morning of practically the whole fuel oil supply of Vera Cruz, thus threatening the speedy suspension of all traffic between this city and the capital.

The Government sent a train of eighteen oil cars, with a capacity of 12,000 gallons each, to Vera Cruz last night. This morning an officer, at the head of a squad of troops, made a formal demand on the agent of the Aguila Company to surrender all the oil in its possession.

The agent replied that the oil had already been sold to the Mexican Railway, which is a British corporation, and was told that it was immaterial to whom the oil belonged. The engineer in charge of the pumps refused to fill the oil tanks and was arrested. Later he was released, but was compelled to obey the order.

There now remains in Vera Cruz a six days' supply of oil for the operation of the Mexican and Interoceanic Railways, and there is no prospect of receiving more oil from Tampico. Under the circumstances it is believed that it will be impossible to maintain communication with Mexico City beyond the end of the week, except n the case of trains for Government service.

It is asserted that the next move of the Mexican Government will be to seize the locomotives and rolling stock of the Mexican Railway to replace the engines and cars recently destroyed in the north. It is possible to transform oil burning locomotives quickly into coal burners, but there is practically no coal in the country.

The United States cruiser Des Moines arrived here to-day. After coaling she will proceed to Tampico.

Rebels Trying to Buy Two Cruisers, Consul Lelevier Reports.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Feb. 8.—The Mexican Constitutionalists are negotiating with France for the purchase of two armored cruisers, according to Consul Lelevier here.

While not new, Consul Lelevier said to-day the vessels would be superior to any owned by the Huerta Government.

Mexican Officers Ordered Home.

VERSAILLES, Feb. 8.—Seventeen officers of the Mexican Army who have been studying aviation here received orders by cable to-day to return to Mexico on the first steamer and rejoin their regiments.

Villa Looks Into Tunnel Disaster.

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 8.—Gen. Francisco Villa arrived in Juarez to-day to look after some financial matters, and incidentally to investigate the Cumbre Tunnel disaster and instruct his jefes in the field as to the course to be pursued in putting down bandits in the State of Chihuahua. He at once sent a message to the Mexican Northwestern and to the Madera Company, Limited, expressing his deep regret for the tunnel disaster and saying that he would take personal charge of the situation.

TEXAN FALLS IN MEXICO.

Not in Battle, but Off the Water Wagon, State Department Learns.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, whose watchfulness over the safety of Texans who get into trouble in Mexico is set on a hair trigger, has received a shock as the result of his earnest endeavor to save a citizen of El Paso from supposed summary execution at the hands of the insurgents in Juarez, just across the Rio Grande from that town. Yesterday morning Senator Sheppard got a frantic appeal by telegraph from a reliable constituent in El Paso in behalf of another El Paso citizen who was reported to be in jail in Juarez on the charge of being a spy for Huerta and in danger of being speedily shot.

The telegram was sent to the State Department by the Texas Senator with an urgent demand that steps be taken to save the Texan from a terrible fate. The State Department got busy with the United States Consul at Juarez, and in a few hours the official returns were received. This information showed that Senator Sheppard's appeal had come too late, as the El Pasoan had already been shot, not, however, by any of Villa's rifles, but through frequent patronage of a Juarez bar. The American had really been held by the Juarez authorities, but not on a charge of being a spy. He squared things with a small fine and returned to El Paso penitent in spirit but sound in flesh.

Senator Sheppard is one of the prohibition leaders in Texas, but says he stands ready to save anybody from being shot, whether it is all shot or only fractionally.

WANT RACE RULES IN ATLANTIC FLIGHT

As a result of the definite information that the attempt to cross the Atlantic Ocean this Summer in an aeroplane is likely to develop into a race between at least six giant aeroplanes, the Aero Club of America took steps yesterday to gain a firm control of the situation from the start and to obtain promises from all prospective flyers that they would either abide by rules for the flight to be formulated by the Aero Club or be disbarred from all participation in the measures to be taken by the Aero Club to insure the flight's success.

What mostly stirred the Aero Club officials into action were reports that plans to build three large water-flying aeroplanes had been financed in this city, and that the aeroplanes were now in course of construction. To have these aeroplanes dashing off toward Europe in a helter-skelter fashion would create general havoc, in the opinion of the Aero Club's officers, with the plans for furnishing wind maps of the Atlantic, warship patrols of the proposed route, and an auxiliary patrol of private yachts near the Newfoundland and the Irish coasts.

As a definite means of preventing haphazard flying by enthusiasts who are not properly prepared, the Aero Club has decided to ask the co-operation of the Aero Club of Great Britain in having the transatlantic flight declared to be a race, and thus to have it brought under the complete jurisdiction of the Aero Club. If the sanction of Lord Northcliffe, donor of a $50,000 prize for the first crossing of the Atlantic Ocean, should be given to this plan, the Aero Club believes all flyers who might embark on lonesome ventures without the co-operation of agencies other than their own backers could be debarred from participating in the prize. This plan would not work, however, if it should turn out that the original offer of Lord Northcliffe had the effect of a contract in cases where plans for the flight had been made under the terms of that offer.

Another prize of $5,000 given by Mrs. Victoria Woodhull Martin of the Woman's Aerial League of Great Britain, it is planned to hedge about with the same restrictions.

Henry Woodhouse, a member of the Aero Club's Water-flying Committee, explained last night why it was necessary to group all of the proposed flights within a single plan.

Restrictions Necessary.

"In the first place," he said, "it would be grossly unfair to all who want to help make this flight a success, to ask them to give their aid in a haphazard way to a dozen different fliers at a dozen different times and over a dozen different routes. And it would be unfair to induce owners of a large number of private yachts and the naval authorities of Great Britain and the United States to assemble ships along a proposed course, in anticipation of some one announced flight and then have an unanounced flier slip out on that particular air lane at that particular time.

"The man who wins the transatlantic flight will fly from 300 to 600 miles further than any other flier has ever flown in a single day. And he will be in the car of his aeroplane long enough probably to break the world's record for hours of continuous flight by from two to five hours. This is figuring on ideal conditions and an average speed of over 100 miles an hour for the whole distance. A slight headwind would materially lessen this speed, and it would take a really stiff breeze from the west to make it possible. The route from Newfoundland to the Irish coast is measured at 1,900 miles, although some officials of the Aero Club believe the measured route can be shortened in an aeroplane's flight by 300 miles.

"You can readily see that a proposition involving the passing of world's records in so many ways is one that it would be foolhardy to attempt in a loose manner. Fliers who wish to operate independently can of course bring much discredit upon the whole undertaking. Overanxiety to win is a peril with which we will have to deal as definitely as we will with the perils of the sea and wind.

"We want to make tne taking of long chances impossible and superfluous and to save some lives that may be heedlessly thrown into the venture. The Aero Club has not been officially informed as to some American contestants for Lord Northcliffe's prize, but it is known that Glenn H. Curtiss, for instance, has been asked to build four flying boats to compete with the Rodman Wanamaker expedition."

Vilas Would Try It.

One of the American aviators who hopes to fly across the Atlantic before any one else, it was learned yesterday, was L. A. Vilas of Chicago. Vilas, an amateur flier, became attracted to the flying boat a year ago and bought two of them He was the first flier to cross the Great Lakes, and it is known that he now has a big flying boat under construction for transatlantic service.

An order for a 400 horse power motor for an aeroplane has been reported. It has attracted some attention, as it is four times as large as the motors now in use on the most powerful aeroplanes. It has been found, however, that this monster engine is for use on a triplane, of which a great many have been built that never were able to leave the ground. George W. Martin, a Brooklyn lawyer, is said to be the amateur who thinks he can fly a triplane, and his friends quote him as having said he hoped to enter the machine for a transatlantic trial.

Besides the co-operation of Government ships and private yachts in making the transatlantic flight a success the Aero Club of America hopes to be able to furnish each contesting aviator a complete aviator's wind map of the North Atlantic Ocean, the eastern coast of the United States, and the western coast of Europe.

The map in contemplation will be so complete that the aviator will be able to find out by reference to it what any country is above which he may be flying, and where the desirable landing places are. The map will only be part of a large plan to make a wind map of the whole world.

Rear Admiral Peary is know to be a strong advocate of a plan to make such a map, and it is probable that he will be asked to head an Aero Club Commission to take charge of the task.

Maps for Aviators Tried.

In Europe the weather bureaus have already begun putting out weather forecasts with the special needs of aviators in mind. The flier who would take a 1,000-mile cross-country ride glances first at his weather report showing the outlook over the whole zone of his flight, then guides himself by a map made especially for fliers, showing the prominent points on the landscape, and finally he guides himself to the ground at any important city by a map which indicates the best landing places.

When Admiral Peary visited Rome last year as a delegate to the Tenth International Geographic Conference he found that the subject of an aeronautic map of the world had a prominent place in the discussions. Upon his return to this country Admiral Peary reported that the need for a map of the world for aeronauts was recognized in Europe as pressing. He recommended that a meeting be called to take up the matter. While the National Geographical Society was considering Admiral Peary's recommendation the plans for transatlantic flights this Summer made it necessary for the Aero Club to take the initiative in the matter. The plan for the map, as at present outlined, calls for the making of a map of the North Atlantic first, and then of each of the American States, with detailed maps of each of the zones through which local flights may occur.

It was pointed out that aeroplanes had now succeeded in reaching a height of four miles above sea level, while spherical balloons had reached a height of six and a half miles. By using aeroplanes and balloons in the preparation of the aeronautic maps, Aero Club officials hold that they can be made much more definite than any maps based merely on atmospheric conditions as found on the tops of buildings.

The Aero Club will make public within a few days the names of those who will co-operate with it in making an aeronautic map, and also the names of those who have signified their intention to attempt a transatlantic flight this season.

POLICEMAN KILLS HIMSELF.

Davey Uses His Pistol to Commit Suicide in a Saloon.

Thomas J. Davey, 29 years old, a policeman attached to the Greenwich Street Station, committed suicide about 9:30 o'clock last night by shooting himself in the right temple in the rear of a saloon at 973 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn.

The saloon is owned by A. W. Gerlach. Albert Gerlach, son of the proprietor, and the bartender, Henry Cordes, were in the saloon last night, when Davey, in full uniform, knocked at the side door. He was admitted and went into the back room, locking the door after him. A few moments later Cordes and young Gerlach heard a shot. They broke in the door and found Davey sitting on a chair with a bullet wound in his right temple. On the floor lay his revolver, bearing his shield number, 292. His helmet and uniform coat hung on the hatrack.

Cordes ran to the Classon Avenue Police Station and summoned Detective George J. Drum. An ambulance was called from the Swedish Hospital. Dr. A. H. Bullwinkle said that Davey was dead. It was learned that he had left two friends at De Kalb and Nostrand Avenues a few minutes before he killed himself. The cause of his suicide was said to be worry over the breaking up of his home after the death of his mother six years ago.

Davey was unmarried and had been seven years on the police force. His father, Matthew Davey, is a retired policeman, one brother is a bicycle policeman attached to the Fourth Avenue Station, Brooklyn, and another brother is a clerk in the District Attorney's office in Brooklyn.

Slowly Dying of Mercury Poisoning.

Paul Francis, a shoe cutter, 21 years old, of 41 Withers Street, Williamsburg, who on Thursday swallowed 22½ grains of bichloride of mercury in a shoe factory at 141 Roebling Street, is dying in the Williamsburg Hospital. He can live only a few days, the hospital doctors say. Disappointment in a love affair caused him to take the poison.

This Bank Uses 21 Machines

About two years ago a certain New York bank—never mind its name—bought two "Ellis" machines! It now uses 21 machines.

In response to an enquiry, this bank says:

"The Ellis adding-typewriters have given very satisfactory results. They enable us to facilitate different branches of work not attained by the ordinary adding machines. The fact that we have increased our equipment speaks for itself."

There are fifty—yes, a hundred—other banks in this city that can use—and should have—"Ellis" machines.

CONFESS TO 50 THEFTS.

Pawntickets Held by Prisoners, Police Say, Represent $10,000 Value.

When cries of "Thief! Thief!" brought Detectives Bloom and Gamberdella hurrying to 1,854 Seventh Avenue, on Saturday night, they were met at the door by two youths who brushed past them and, leaping into a waiting junk cart, drove off at full speed. The detectives gave chase in a taxicab, and soon caught the fugitives.

The prisoners, Robert Ross of 211 East 104th Street and Anthony Mega, a 16-year-old boy of 231 East 101st Street, pleaded guilty yesterday morning in the Harlem Court, and calmly furnished a list of fifty robberies they had committed. More than 100 pawntickets were found in their possession, some of them for amounts as high as $500. These tickets alone, the police believe, account for stolen goods worth at least $10,000.

Their method was simple. They would drive up in a junk cart offering to buy old clothes or any odds and ends. If no one answered their ring, they would break in and steal a wagon full.

NEWS BUREAU FOR MAYORS.

It Will Keep Them Posted as to Legislation on Municipal Matters.

A Municipal Information Service for the cities of New York State has been organized by the Municipal Bureau Council of the State Conference of Mayors. This service is to supply the needs of city officials while the conference is establishing a permanent State Municipal Bureau and to demonstrate just what can be done for municipalities through a clearing house.

The City Bureau will furnish information about municipal problems and the Albany Bureau of the Municipal Government Association will keep city officials posted about municipal information. The three organizations will work jointly for any municipal legislation or movement that each body approves.

Former Mayor Edward Schoeneck of Syracuse, Chairman of the council, in a statement sent yesterday to the Mayors of the State, says the service will endeavor either to send to city officials the latest and best information on any general municipal problem or to inform officials where such information may be obtained. The legislative service will consist of a weekly report to each city of all municipal bills and their provisions introduced the previous week.

MONROE'S DEAD IN A TRAP.

Special to The New York Times.

NORFOLK, Va., Feb. 8.—Mate Hogg of the wrecking tug Merritt says the dead in the hulk of the Old Dominion liner Monroe, now lying in seventy feet of water, were trapped in the starboard saloons and staterooms. Mr. Hogg, as chief of the divers, personally aided in the inspection of the sunken steamer. He said that near the bridge, on the starboard side, and below the waterline, there was a gaping hole, extending half way through tne hull of the vessel, large enough for a two-horse wagon to pass through. That she remained afloat ten minutes after the collision, he regards as surprising.

The divers found all the doors on the starboard side jammed so that they could not be opened. Mr. Hogg says it will be necessary to use explosives to open the doors and reach the bodies. As soon as the present rough weather passes the divers will attack the wreck with dynamite. Mr. Hogg believes then all of the bodies will be recovered. An inspection of the cargo of the steamer shows that it can be saved.

GOT PICKPOCKET AT WORK.

Detective Saw Him as He Robbed a Man on a Crowded Car.

A crowd of men and women was boarding an eastbound bridge trolley car at Irving Place and Fourteenth Street at 11:30 o'clock last night, when from the front platform of the trolley car just behind Detective Cassassa, noted in the department for his knowledge of pickpockets, pointed to a young man racing toward that crowd and beginning to worm his way into it.

"A dip," said Cassassa laconically, and, accompanied by two other detectives, he gave chase. They ran so fast and the car was such a little way ahead that they landed on its platform only a foot behind the man under suspicion. He whom Cassassa had called a "dip" was standing directly behind Benjamin Steinman, a lawyer, of 320 Linden Avenue, Flatbush. Cassassa was watching as a cat watches a mouse.

"Ah, there!" he cried suddenly, and as he spoke he seized the two hands of the young man in front of him and lifted them straight up in the air, all the while holding them so tightly that what was clenched in the fingers of the right hand could not fall out.

"Your pocketbook, Mister?" asked the detective, and, after a startled search, Mr. Steinman found that his card case was missing from his hip pocket.

Then they all went down to Headquarters, Steinman, Mrs. Steinman, the prisoner, and the detectives. On the way down the prisoner wept and told a moving story of hunger and desperate want. Mrs. Steinman was so affected that she was disposed to dissuade her husband from pressing any complaint, but she changed her mind when the detectives showed her the handsome diamond pin the prisoner was wearing, the excellence of his clothing, and the weight of the gold watch, chain, and penknife he carried. Mr. Steinman will be a witness against him to-day. He said he was Samuel Fishman of 234 Second Street. He is 24 years old.

FATAL CLASH WITH NEGROES

Two Killed, One a White Officer—Bloodhounds Pursue Fugitive.

AMERICUS, Ga., Feb. 8.—Marion Bass, a deputy constable, was killed; Tucker Cassell, a constable, was seriously wounded; Lou Larramore, a deputy constable, was painfully wounded, and Edward Tyson, a negro, was killed in a battle late last night at a negro settlement near De Soto, fifteen miles from this place. Cooper Bivins, a negro, is being pursued by a posse with bloodhounds. It is reported that Bivins is armed.

According to reports received here late to-day, two white men were fired on as they passed the negro settlement. Neither was injured. Cassell and his deputies went to the settlement to arrest the negroes. They were greeted with a volley, Bass falling dead. Cassell and Larramore, although wounded, returned the fire, killing Tyson.

NEW SEA GIANT AQUITANIA.

Capt. Turner Will Command Her—Due in the Mersey, May 10.

News was received here yesterday that the construction of the Cunarder Aquitania at Clydebank is proceeding so rapidly that the Cunard Directors have decided upon some of her complement.

She will be commanded by Capt. William T. Turner, R. N. R., who has already turned over the command of the Mauretania to Capt. J. W. T. Charles and is now in Glasgow. James Poynton of the Lusitania will be the surgeon, and it is expected that the two pursers will be H. Graham and J. G. Clark. William H. Allison, chief steward of the Lusitania, will leave his ship in Liverpool on her arrival there next week and go to the Aquitania.

The new Cunarder has her four smokestacks and engines installed. She is now expected to arrive in the Mersey on May 10.

SUFFRAGE SETBACK BLAMED ON FACTION

UNWISE, SAYS MRS. FUNK

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—The schism reported to exist in the ranks of the women suffragists was made plain to-night in a statement issued by Mrs. Antoinette Funk of the Congressional Committee of the National Woman Suffrage Association. Mrs. Funk repudiates, for the national association, the action of the suffragists who tried unsuccessfully last week to induce President Wilson to indorse their cause. The blame for the refusal of the House Democratic caucus to favor the creation of a House Committee on Woman Suffrage is also placed by Mrs. Funk on suffragists not recognized by the national association.

Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge of New York, President of the National Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, added to the controversy by a statement in which she said that the suffrage movement received "a fatal blow when the Democratic Party refused last week to endorse it in any way."

Mrs. Funk's statement amounts to a repudiation by the National Association of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage, at which her criticism of the efforts to obtain the support of President Wilson and the Democrats of the House is apparently aimed.

The Congressional Union, which is headed by Miss Alice Paul of Philadelphia, handled the legislative work of the National Association until recently. Then the National Association for Woman Suffrage organized the Congressional Committee to take its place and offered the Chairmanship to Miss Lucy Burns, a lieutenant of Miss Paul. Miss Burns and others who had been associated with Miss Paul declined to abandon their leader, and the Chairmanship of the new Congressional Committee went to Mrs. Medill McCormick of Chicago, a daughter of the late Senator Marcus A. Hanna.

The Congressional Union continued under Miss Paul's direction, and on the surface was still loyal to the National Association. There have been reports of friction, but it was not until to-night that the National Association formally repudiated the Congressional Union.

"Woman suffrage has not been checked, it has not been injured, by two apparent defeats last week, which were due largely to ill-advised action," says Mrs. Funk in her statement.

"It was not the national organization who sent a delegation to President Wilson with a request that he reverse himself within two months. It was not the National Association that forced a Democratic caucus, as the Congressional Committee, up to that time, had assurances that the tie vote in the Committee on Rules would be broken, and in some way the proposition for a Woman Suffrage Committee would be brought before the House.

"Both of the hasty and ill-considered actions, resulting in defeat, were brought about by the small faction which is working independently of the National Association.

"Just now the woman suffrage movement is afflicted with a faction located in Washington which is doing more harm than good, even though some of the women associated with it may be actuated by the best motives. An instance was the sending of a delegation to the White House. The leading members of the National Woman Suffragist Association had presented to President Wilson a few months before a request that he support the equal suffrage movement in his message to Congress. Did any one, least of all, the leaders of the Congressional Union, have any idea that President Wilson would reverse himself at the behest of a small faction of the women suffragists?

"In the matter of the Democratic caucus, the national organization was aware of the attitude of the Southern members of Congress and believed that it was unwise to bring the huffrage movement before a party caucus at this time, particularly when it seemed probable that the Committee on Rules at a later day might have made a report on the resolution creating a Woman Suffrage Committee. It may be true that the hasty action of the Democratic caucus was needed to further the candidacy of Oscar W. Underwood for a Senatorial seat from Alabama, as it has been stated that Mr. Underwood did not want the matter agitated from this time until the Senatorial primary. But the fact is that the National Association, as represented by the Congressional Committee, preferred to have a vote in the Rules Committee, with all members present, before taking the matter to the caucus.

"These two defeats, caused by unwise and precipitate action on the part of a small faction of the suffragists, were entirely discounted by the magnificent showing of the women in Illinois and the success of the suffrage amendment in the New Jersey House of Representatives."

Mrs. Dodge, for the anti-suffragists, challenges the suffragists to submit the question to the women of each State.

"The suffragists, deprived of their forlorn hope of Federal interference," says Mrs. Dodge, "must meet us in the individual States, which is exactly what they have not wanted todo. They fear the results of having the issue decided by contests in which the wishes of all the women of all this country will finally prevail."

INVESTIGATE BABY'S DEATH.

Police Think He Was Shot in a Fight Between His Parents.

Coroner Ernest Wagner ordered an investigation yesterday of the death of Peter Lacorte, 4 years old, of 117 Roebling Street, Williamsburg, who died on Saturday in the Eastern District Hospital from a bullet wound in the right temple. At the time of the shooting the police were informed that the family were moving and a revolver had been put on the floor. The baby, playing about, had picked up the revolver and shot himself.

The investigation was ordered following the autopsy by Dr. Lester D. Volk, who reported that the boy could not have shot himself. The Coroner told the police he was satisfied that in a quarrel between the boy's mother and father the man had fired a shot at the mother.

Vincent Commande, the boy's brother-in-law, who is said to be the owner of the revolver, was arrested, charged with violating the Sullivan law. He is now out on bail pending a hearing.

MACVEAGH MADE CHAIRMAN.

Organization of Social Congress of Insurance Is Completed.

The committee on organization of the International Congress of Social Insurance, which is to be held at Washington during October, 1915, announced yesterday that it had completed its organization by selecting Franklin MacVeagh of Washington, D. C., ex-Secretary of the Treasury, as chairman. W. G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury; William C. Redfield, Secretary of Commerce, and William B. Wilson, Secretary of Labor, have been elected honorary chairmen.

Nine vice chairmen have been elected, the list including Miss Jane Addams, Chicago; Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, and Miss Anne Morgan. Among the members of the Executive Committee are Louis D. Brandeis, Miles M. Dawson, John Mitchell, Miss Anne Morgan, and representatives of a number of business corporations and national labor unions.

Though such congresses have been held in the other countries, this will be the first in the United States. The international congress was invited to held its next conference in this country by Congress during the administration of President Taft.

The subjects considered by this body at previous meetings included workmen's compensation, sickness, invalidity and old-age insurance, and insurance for the relief of widows, orphans and dependants. Within five years laws covering compensation for industrial accidents have been enacted in twenty-two States, and it is expected that at the coming congress the subject of workmen's compensation will receive a good deal of attention.

TEXANS KILL AN EX-PRIEST.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Feb. 8.—Returning unexpectedly to their country home, eighteen miles south of San Antonio, Charles Baumberger, President of the San Antonio Portland Cement Company, and Charles A. Baumberger, his son, the latter President of the Alamos Cement Company, found S. Virum Brales, formerly a Spanish missionary, in theh house. What they saw prompted either the father or the son to shoot, and the expriest fell in the front yard with two bullet holes through his abdomen and his left arm shattered. He died in a hospital here to-night.

Baumberger and his son, who are two of the wealthiest business men in San Antonio, surrendered to Sheriff Tobin to-night. A few minutes afterward both men waived preliminary hearing before Justice Fisk and were released on bonds of $5,000. Neither of them to-night would make a statement, and the tragedy is surrounded by mystery.

The Right Rev. John W. Shaw, Bishop of the San Antonio diocese admitted that Brales at one time had been identified with the diocese as a traveling missionary, but the Bishop was emphatic in saying that the man no longer was connected with the diocese.

WILL HEAR KENNEDY TO-DAY

State Treasurer Is Expected to Testify in Whitman's Graft Inquiry.

State Treasurer John T. Kennedy, whose testimony is desired by District Attorney Whitman in the graft investigation, it is expected will be a witness in the John Doe inquiry to-day. Mr. Kennedy announced publicly that he would not evade service by the District Attorney's process servers, and it is understood that a subpoena will be handed to him in Albany this morning, and that he will be on hand for the afternoon hearing.

Ex-Gov. Sulzer, who was expected to go on the witness stand this afternoon, may not appear. It was said yesterday that pressing legislative business might make it necessary to hold a special session for Sulzer's benefit. Sulzer has promised to add to his story of dickerings with Charles F. Murphy, the Tammany leader, over patronage in the State departments.

Several up-State contractors have been subpoenaed to appear to-day. They will, it is said, tell of campaign contributions in 1911 and 1912 to Tammany agents.

The regular Grand Jury investigation of graft conditions in the construction of the barge canal and Catskill Aqueduct will be resumed to-morrow.

Auburn Seminary to Raise $500,000.

AUBURN, N. Y., Feb. 8.—A campaign to raise an endowment fund of $500,000 for the Auburn Theological Seminary has been launched, and will be carried on by a committee consisting of the Rev. William R. Taylor, Chairman, of Rochester, N. Y.; the Rev. A. F. Schauffler of New York City, Edgar C. Leonard of Albany, Theodore H. Wickmire of Cortland, N. Y., and George Underwood of Auburn. Increased courses and an extended faculty have caused a serious annual deficit which the seminary now hopes to wipe out.

Finds Woman Walking in Her Sleep

Clad only in her night clothing, Mrs. Sarah Jackson left her son-in-law's apartment at 1,111 Amsterdam Avenue at 1 o'clock yesterday morning while walking in her sleep. Patrolman Donahue saw her moving slowly along the car tracks, but as he came near she awoke. She suffered much from the cold before she regained her home.

TRUST COMPANY MUST REPAY HEIR

Surrogate Finds $592 Excess Profits in Repair Work on Apartment.

LET TO PRESIDENT'S SON

Long Litigation Against Farmers' Loan and Trust Company Settled by Award of $717.

The report of Robert L. Redfield, the referee appointed to take testimony on the manner in which the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company handled the estate of Wolf Kronethal, was submitted last week to Surrogate Fowler. Objections were filed by Joseph Kronethal, one of the legatees under the will. The estate consisted mainly of a six-story elevator apartment house at 1,270 Madison Avenue, in the rear of the home of Andrew Carnegie. It is valued at $175,000. Mr. Kronethal asked the Surrogate to charge the trust company with $4,645, which he asserts was paid wrongly to the Beaver Construction Company for repairs and to Mooyer & Marston, who managed the property.

It was said that Russell Marston, the junior partner of Mooyer & Marston, as well as the owner of the Beaver Construction Company, was a son of Edwin S. Marston, the President of the trust company, and Mr. Kronethal charged that improper profits were made in the treatment of the property. He said that the construction company sublet the repair work and that profits for the construction company were added to the bills of the sub-contractors, which were collected from the estate. The hearings in the proceeding were long and went into a great deal of detail. They covered more than a year, during which more than 900 pages of testimony were taken. The expenses were more than $2,000, which the trust company paid.

John T. Fenlon, attorney for Mr. Kronethal, insisted that it was against the law for the trust company to permit the son of its President to make profits out of the estates it managed. In his report Referee Redfield said:

"It may be conceded that a strict regard for the ethical side of the case would probably have resulted in the selection of some other contractor, but it does not follow that the trustee has been guilty of any legal wrong for which the law will hold it responsible. I can see no justice in the claim that the trustee has been guilty of bad faith simply because the principal owner of the contracting company is the son of its President so long as no personal gain or profit accrued to it."

Mr. Fenlon opposed the referee's report, and said that it should not be confirmed because it failed to state that one of the officers of the trust company, Vice President William B. Cardozo, knew that the Beaver Construction Company sublet its contracts, and that he knew, when he gave business to the company, he was giving it to the son of the President of the trust company. Then Mr. Fenlon said:

"While it is true, as the referee says, that we cannot and did not attempt to show that the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company or Mr. Cardozo, trust officer, made any profit directly or indirectly through Mooyer & Marston or the Beaver Construction Company, yet this is not a test of their responsibility. While we do not show any malfeasance, yet we do show misfeasance that in law must be construed as bad faith."

Surrogate Fowler directed the trust company to repay to the estate $125 collected by the agents from tenants in the property for telephone charges, and which was not included in the account. He also charged the trust company $592, the profits added by the construction company for repairs made by sub-contractors.

The Surrogate acquitted the trust company from deliberate wrongdoing, and said that "no doubt a trustee in the management of real estate committed to him must exercise such prudence and economy as an ordinarily prudent man would exercise in the management of his own estate."

STORMS HELD BACK LINERS.

The White Star liner Megantic arrived yesterday after a stormy nine days' passage from Liverpool, during which the sea swept her decks and smashed No. 2 lifeboat. In the twenty-four hours ended Feb. 1 the ship made only 217 miles. She had fifty cabin and 200 steerage passengers.

The French Line steamship Provence arrived twentw-four hours late from Havre, owing to the continuous northwest gales and heavy head seas. Norberto Dominguez, one of her cabin passengers, is on his way to Mexico City from Tokio, where he was secretary to the legation. He said that he did not know anything about the conditions in Mexico and that if he did he would not talk about them.

ROBBER SHOOTS DRUGGIST.

Cooney Fires at His Assailant and Wounds Him as He Escapes.

As John Cooney, a druggist of the Windsor Terrace section in Brooklyn, was preparing to close his store at Vanderbilt and East Fifth Streets at midnight last night a man wearing a black overcoat, with the collar turned up so as to obscure the lower part of his face, and a black slouch hat pulled down over his eyes, entered and asked to have a prescription filled. Cooney walked behind the counter and stretched forth his hand for a slip of paper which his visitor held in his left hand. As he did so the stranger made a quick movement and the druggist found himself staring into the muzzle of an automatic pistol.

"Open up that cash register and give me the money," demanded the intruder. "Hurry up or I'll blow your head off."

Cooney made an attempt to reach under the counter, where he kept a loaded revolver, but the other man was too quick for him. There was a loud report and the druggist staggered back with a stinging sensation in his left shoulder. Before the robber could fire a second time Cooney dropped under the counter.

When he regained his feet Cooney had secured his own revolver and he fired at his assailant who was on the point of running through the door into the street. By the time the druggist had clambered over the counter and reached the sidewalk, the highwayman had turned the corner and disappeared.

Cooney went to the office of Dr. James Flaherty at 623 Vanderbilt Street, where his wound was dressed by Dr. Flaherty, assisted by Ambulance Surgeon Westey, from the Methodist Episcopal Hospital. The druggist notified the police of the Parkville Police Precinct of the attempted robbery, and detectives were sent out to scour the neighborhood for some trace of the robber. The sleuths found a trail of blood leading in an apposite direction in Vanderbilt Street from that taken by Cooney, from which they concluded that the druggist had wounded his assailant.

$50,000 BARRIE GIFT EQUIPS SHACKLETON

From Her Biography.

In Mr. Barrie's gentle biography of his mother there is this account of Margaret Ogilvy's reading:

Biography and exploration were her favorite reading, for choice the biography of men who had been good to their mothers, and she liked the explorers to be alive, so that she could shudder at the thought of their venturing forth again, but, though she expressed a hope that they would have the sense to stay at home henceforth, she gleamed with admiration when they disappointed her. In later days I had a friend who was an African explorer, and she was in two minds about him; he was one of the most engrossing of mortals to her, and she admired him prodigiously, pictured him at the head of his caravan, now attacked by savages, now by wild beasts, and adored him for the uneasy hours he gave her, but she was also afraid that he wanted to take me with him, and then she thought he should be put down by law.

Explorers' mothers also interested her very much; the books might tell her nothing about them, but she could create them for herself and wring her hands in sympathy when they got no news of him for six months. Yet there were times when she grudged him to them—as the day when he returned victorious. Then what was before her eyes was not the son coming marching home again, but an old woman peering for him around the window curtain and trying not to look uplifted. The newspaper reports would be about the son, but my mother's comment was: "She's a proud woman this night."

This passage occurs in the third chapter of the book in which Barrie wrote down the story of his mother—the companion of the days when he was learning to write, the heroine of every story he ever told, and the inspiration of every really notable act of his career.

STERLING

THE GORHAM COMPANY

Silversmiths

A recent customer in Gorham's Fifth Avenue store insisted upon seeing the Gorham trademark on every piece of silver he bought.

When a curious salesman inquired the reason why, the customer replied:

"Because my father always taught me to look for Gorham's 'Lion, Anchor and G' when buying silver."

This incident illustrates the implicit reliance which those who have known Gorham's longest place upon the Gorham imprint. With these old friends of Gorham's, to question the quality of an article stamped with the Gorham trademark is tantamount to questioning the value of a $20 gold piece.

The trademark of an establishment like Gorham's means something. Placed on a piece of silver it is like a signature on a gold bond. It is the guarantee of a company with a record of nearly 100 years of honorable dealing that the article so stamped is of the highest workmanship and quality.

The Gorham trademark is almost as old as the company itself. Of course, its money value is tremendous, but the Gorham Company treasures far more than any intrinsic value which this trademark may possess the trust and confidence it inspires all over America.

The Gorham management feel that this trademark fixes a standard which every officer and employee of the Gorham Company must live up to. When that mark is stamped upon an article it is the contract of the Gorham Company with the purchaser that that article is precisely what it is represented to be.

And the Gorham Company, in nearly 100 years of existence, never failed to make good a contract or guarantee.

SAYS LORD MURRAY COST PARTY $200,000

MAXSE URGES AN INQUIRY

His Attack Deals with Absconding Broker and Alleged Improper Investment of Funds.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Monday, Feb. 9.—On the eve of the reassembling of Parliament L. J. Maxse, editor of The National Review, returns to Lord Murray's connection with the Marconi share dealings in a long letter to The Morning Post. Among other things, Mr. Maxse suggests that the House of Lords appoint a select committee to examine Lord Murray on oath, and thus "spare him the temptation of making a speech without any moral sanction."

Referring to Lord Murray's dealings with the missing stock broker, Fenner, Mr. Maxse says that Lord Murray's trusteeship of the Liberal Party's funds cost the party between $150,000 and $200,000 through one broker alone, apart from any losses on American Marconis.

"No proceedings," he says, "were taken against Fenner, who had misappropriated this immense sum, although the chief Ministerial whip was aware that another client's property had been likewise depleted to the extent of over £30,000, ($150,000.) Fenner was allowed to remain in business at the expense of his victims, whose losses ultimately reached over £100,000, ($500,000.)"

Lord Murray is further accused of neglecting his plain duty in remaining silent while the select committee of inquiry was sitting, "though, according to the sworn statement of his brother, Capt. Murray, he was in this country for very nearly two months of the committee's sittings."

Mr. Maxse also calls upon Lord Murray to account for the huge accumulation of secret party funds on the eve of the Coronation of 1911, at a date when the "honors" list would presumably be under discussion, as also to explain how he came to invest $105,000 of the party's funds in home rails ordinary while his colleagues were engaged in settling the coal strike, which might be expected to affect the market value of those shares.

HOPE TO FORCE DISSOLUTION.

Unionists Plan Rejection of Army Budget by House of Lords.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—It is reported that the latest Unionist device to force a dissolution of Parliament and thus defeat the measure providing for Home Rule for Ireland is for the House of Lords to reject the annual Army Budget bill. If this were done, the army would cease to exist and the Government would be compelled to appeal to the country.

It is believed that such an extreme course is hardly practicable, and the milder suggestion is said to be favored of amending the bill in such manner as to put the army out of existence in Ireland alone and thus prevent it being employed to coerce Ulster.

RIOT IN BARCELONA.

Unpopular ex-Governor Escapes Shots Which Kill a Civilian.

BARCELONA, Feb. 8.—An attempt was made to-day to kill Señor Ossorio-Callardo, who was Governor of Barcelona at the time of the disorders in 1909. The ex-Governor escaped, and in his stead an inoffensive citizen was shot dead.

A serious riot ensued at the conclusion of a meeting of the partisans of Antonio Maura, the former Premier, which was addressed by Señor Ossorio-Callardo. The ex-Governor is an intimate friend of Maura, but is intensely unpopular because of the part he took in quelling the rioting at Barcelona, where martial law was proclaimed because of a general strike.

A great mob gathered outside the building, and, in spite of repeated charges by the police, forced its way to an automobile in which it was supposed the ex-Governor was riding. A volley of revolver shots was fired into the machine, and when the body of the victim was taken out it was found to be that of a civilian.

NEW PORTUGUESE CABINET.

Machado, ex-Ambassador to Brazil, Forms a Ministry.

LISBON, Feb. 8.—Bernardino Machado, recently Ambassador to Brazil, at the request of the President, has formed the following Cabinet to replace the Ministry headed by Dr. Affonso Costa, which resigned on Jan. 27:

Premier, Minister of the Interior, and temporarily Minister of Foreign Affairs, Bernardino Machado; Justice, Manoel Monteiro; Finance, Thomaz Cabreira; War, Gen. Antonio Pereira d'Eca; Marine, Peres Rodriguez; Public Works, Achilles Goncalves; Colonies, Conceiro Costa; Public Instruction, Almeida Lima.

Senhor Machado was one of the most active leaders in the Republican revolution. He is a very wealthy man.

WON'T SELL BOOTLE ESTATE

Lord Derby Says Terms of His Offer Have Been Misrepresented.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The Earl of Derby has declined to sell Baron de Forest his Bootle estate in the suburbs of Liverpool as at one time appeared likely, on the ground that the Baron had wilfully misrepresented the terms of his offer.

Recently in a contribution to the Land Inquiry Committee's report, Baron de Forest cited the Bootle estate of the Earl of Derby as a striking example of unearned increment. The property, which was purchased in 1724 for $35,000, he estimated to be now valued at between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

Lord Derby declared that the estimates were grossly excessive, and said he would sell the Bootle estate to Baron de Forest for $7,500,000.

Novelist Calls British Laws a Shame to the Nation.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, speaking in London to-day on divorce reform, said that there were 200,000 married men and women in this country who were separated. Compulsory celibacy, in his opinion, was not the method to be adopted to encourage morality. He had been told by Magistrates that the lower classes were rotted through and through by that law.

The ingenuity of man, he said, could not possibly have been used to invent a more demoralizing thing than the acts of separation had been. British divorce laws were the shame of the country. Englishmen congratulated themselves on the fact that their divorce statistics were not so great as those of Germany, but if they added their separation statistics they would find themselves worse than Germany.

Divorce was not an evil, but a cure—a deplorable cure for a deplorable state of affairs. He had no doubt if all the reforms suggested were brought about, there would be a deluge of divorces for some little time, and every one would hold up his hands. It would be opening an ulcer which had to be opened, and after opening it, it would be possible to see what was beneath the surface.

HUNT A DEADLY PARASITE.

British Scientists to Study It in Chinese Rivers.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—An interesting expedition is to be undertaken immediately by some of those who took part in recent antarctic exploration. Dr. E. L. Atkinson, the navy Surgeon who was parasitologist of the Scott expedition, accompanied by Cherry Garrard, will start this month with a small party and travel across Northern China, in order to track to its lair a minute creature which is the cause of a serious malady.

It is supposed that this parasite spends a part of its life in shellfish found in the Yang-tse-Kiang and other Chinese rivers. At any rate, it is found in water and attaches itself to those who work in and about water. Then it penetrates the skin, and, if the attack is severe, it may cause death. The discovery of the life history of the parasite, it is hoped, will lead to the discovery of a cure for the disease caused by it.

WIRELESS DISASTER A MYTH

Marconi Ridicules Duroquier's Theory of Crossed Currents.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—William Marconi characterizes as nonsense M. Duroquier's "wireless disaster" theory, which was outlined in a Paris dispatch to THE NEW YORK TIMES Feb. 7. He says that scientifically there is nothing in it.

If the crossing of Hertzian waves had such an effect as Duroquier suggests, it would certainly have been first detected on ordinary wireless instruments, and no such disturbance has been recorded.

THROWN BY CAVALIERI'S DOG

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Feb. 8.—Mme. Lina Cavalieri, the operatic singer, was the defendant in a suit in the Paris courts yesterday, brought by a tripe seller, who claimed $1,200 damages because the singer's St. Bernard dog, in a playful moment, overthrew him, injuring his eye.

Mme. Cavalieri's lawyer did not dispute the tripe seller's claim, but said it was excessive. The court awarded the tripe seller $80, ordering him to pay one-fourth of the costs for submitting an exaggerated claim.

Mme. Cavalieri is at present in the United States.

ZAMOR HAITIAN PRESIDENT.

PORT AU PRINCE, Feb. 8.—Oreste Zamor was to-day elected President of Haiti. The revolutionary troops under Zamor occupy all the military stations. There were no disorders on the arrival of the revolutionists from Gonaives. Congress met at 2 o'clock this afternoon and elected Zamor President by a vote of 93 out of 105 ballots cast.

It was announced that after the election the detachments from the foreign warships would return to their ships, since conditions were entirely tranquil.

Oreste Zamor was formerly Governor of the Northern Department and held the portfolio of war in the Ministry of 1911. He headed the revolt in the city of Gonaives last January, and his forces a few days later won a victory over the revolutionists under Senator Davilmar Théodore, who had proclaimed himself Commander in Chief of all the rebels. Théodore returned to Cape Haitien, where he has set up a provisional Government.

DRIVING ART TO AMERICA.

London Express Holds Lloyd George Responsible for Picture Sales.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Monday, Feb. 9.—The Daly Express, in an editorial on THE NEW YORK TIMES's announcement of the purchase of the "Cowper Madona," takes occasion to attack Lloyd George for his financial measures, which it alleges help toward the depletion of the nation's art treasures.

"This export from England of masterpieces," it says, "is a growing calamity, and the tendency of Lloyd Georgian finance and taxation will not make it less so. There are still many canvases of rare worth and beauty hanging on the walls of manor houses. The land owners who own them may cling to the last to their heritage; but sooner or later the pictures will be squeezed from the walls of the class which radicalism would tax out of existence. If and when they go, America will probably get them."

FRENCH IN POUTILOFF WORKS

Schneider & Co. Sign New Contract Which Excludes Krupps.

LONDON, Monday, Feb. 9.—A St. Petersburg dispatch to The Times says that Schneider & Co. of Creusot, France, one of the great iron and steel establishments, is signing a new contract with the Poutiloff Arms Factory, near St. Petersburg, and advancing the capital necessary to enable the Poutiloff concern to fulfill its engagements.

It is understood, according to the dispatch, that the German element will be excluded from the undertaking. Recently it was reported, although later denied, that the Krupp Arms Company had purchased the works.

KING GEORGE CLEANS HIS SLUM PROPERTY

CROWN IS THE LANDLORD

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—It is not generally remembered that King George, for the Prince of Wales, as beneficiary of the estates of the Duchy of Cornwall, is the landlord of one of the worst slums in London. There is a part of Kennington, on the south side of the Thames, which belongs to the duchy, and consists of a maze of small streets and alleys constituting a veritable Alsatia.

At the King's personal instigation, the committee which controls the revenues of the Duchy of Cornwall has taken in hand the task of doing away with the conditions prevailing there, and the whole area will be subjected to a cleansing process—the old houses torn down, new streets laid out, and a number of artisans' dwellings of the latest model constructed.

A tribute to the work started by the King in this connection was paid by Sir James Crichton-Browne, the eminent alienist, at a meeting of sanitary engineers on Saturday. Sir James said:

"In the reconstruction being carried out under the direction and supervision of his Majesty on his estate in Kennington he has declared that the object to be kept in view is to make people happy and comfortable; and his Majesty has recognized the fundamental principles to be observed if that object is to be attained, for he has insisted on planning the buildings as substantial, commodious, and comely dwellings, with every modern improvement in ventilation, lighting, washing, and cooking, and even with attention to the mainstays of domestic life, such as roomy cupboards, upon which, after all, happiness and comfort a good deal depend.

"One admirable feature in the King's reconstruction is the mixture of classes which it involves. If you huddle together the very poor you create a slum; if you associate people of different stations you raise the whole tone of life. There is an uplifting of those who are in poor circumstances and there is a broadening of the sympathies of those who are better off."

SWEDISH SOCIALISTS DEMUR

30,000 in a Counter-Demonstration Against Army Increase.

STOCKHOLM, Feb. 8.—Thirty thousand Socialists held a demonstration today in front of the Government offices, protesting against the project to increase expenditures for armaments and demanding that the Ministers rather work for peace and fraternity. The Premier, M. Staaf, replied that, in spite of his deep sympathy with the cause of international peace, he was absolutely convinced that the Swedish people would be compelled to make new and great sacrifices for the defense of the country. The Government, however, he added, was not inclined to accede to the demands for prolongation of service in the infantry until after the general election.

On Friday there was a great demonstration by 30,000 small land owners and farmers from every part of the kingdom in favor of the increase of Swedish armaments. King Gustaf on that occasion said that the problem of defense was one which must be solved without loss of time. His speech is reported to have led to serious trouble in the Cabinet, the members of which intimated their desire yesterday to resign.

DUTCH RIVAL OF FRIEDMANN

Van Stackun Thinks He Has an X-Ray Consumption Cure.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, Monday, Feb. 9.—According to Excelsior, Dr. Van Stackun of Rotterdam believes that he has discovered a cure for consumption.

He reasoned along the line that, if X-rays were efficacious in the case of lupus and cancerous skin tumors, their curative power was not due to their immediate action upon the diseased parts, but to a chemical substance formed under their influence in the adjacent tissues.

The physician supported his theory upon the well-known fact that the spleen of a dead animal, after long exposure to X-rays, has been shown to have undergone a chemical alteration. His experiments along this line were as follows:

He placed under the skin of animals stricken with tuberculosis a piece of an ox's spleen and submitted to the action of X-rays the diseased parts of these subjects. Twenty-four hours sufficed for a considerable improvement, and after some weeks, he says, a cure could be pronounced.

It seemed difficult to apply this treatment to human tuberculosis. Dr. Van Stackun has to isolate the curative substance which is formed in the spleen under the influence of X-rays. It is in the form of a gray powder, soluble in water.

After this he decided to try this product in the treatment of patients stricken with tuberculosis, and announces most satisfactory results. He says that ulceration disappeared, not only when it was superficial, but even when it was deeply buried in some abdominal organ; that articulation stiffened and rotted by disease improved almost immediately; that cases of tuberculosis of the kidneys were also successfully treated, and, finally, that bacilli disappeared from the expectoration of those afflicted with pulmonary tuberculosis.

GERMAN HELD AS A SPY.

French Officials Say He Has Fifty Plans of Frontier Forts.

TOUL, Feb. 8.—A man giving the name of Theodore Burgard, whom the police believe to be one of the cleverest German spies in France, was arrested to-day while photographing the fortifications. The police assert that Burgard has been supplying information to the German military authorities for the last fifteen years. He is ostensibly engaged in farming in a small way near Nancy.

A search of the man's house brought to light fifty staff maps and plans of all the forts on the northeastern frontier, on which careful marginal notes had been made, photographs, and a valuable telephotographic apparatus. A large amount of correspondence of an alleged compromising nature, written in German, was also found.

SEES AN END OF MILITARISM

But Noyes Says Thrones May Shake Before It Comes.

Speaking on militarism at yesterday's meeting of the Society for Ethical Culture, Alfred Noyes, the poet, said that indications pointed to an end to what he called the preposterous position of Europe in this day of heavy armament.

"The end," said Mr. Noyes, "may be catastrophic and thrones may shake before it comes, but come it must. The signs, however, indicate that Europe may prefer not to wait for the catastrophic end."

Mr. Noyes spoke of the English Government consigning a $250,000 ship to destruction as a target for practice at the very time she reported herself unable to afford the slight relief needed to keep Charles Dickens's children out of humiliating dependency. He also mentioned an English statesman who instructed his attorneys to bring suit against a firm of armament manufacturers for commissions due him on business received through his influence.

"We are moving in a vicious and narrow circle," said Mr. Noyes. "We in England are agreed that we are strengthening our armaments because the other nations of Europe are strengthening theirs, and they say they are doing so because we are. So it goes. Think of how much disease, how much poverty could be alleviated if we utilized properly the natural resources of our countries instead of spending millions of dollars in armaments. Is it to remain a fact that after two thousand years of civilization statesmen holding opposite views cannot meet and come to a business agreement like other men?"

FIGHT WHITE PLAGUE IN EAST SIDE HOMES

FAMILIES REHABILITATED

New System Cures Sufferers from Tuberculosis at Little Cost and Aids Their Dependents.

The spread of tuberculosis in the congested districts of the city can be prevented by treating the disease in the tenements, according to a report issued by the New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor. The report shows that tuberculosis, which was the cause of death in 55 per cent. of the families to which the association gave aid, was treated with great success in the last year in the Home Hospital of the East River Homes, otherwise known as the Vanderbilt Model Tenement, at the East River and Seventy-seventh Street. The Home Hospital was established in 1912 at the suggestion of Commissioner of Charities John A. Kingsbury, then General Director of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor.

The treatment of tuberculosis in the Home Hospital, according to the report of the association, can be conducted at a cost to the community considerably less than the cost of institutional treatment. This is possible because the Home Tenements not only gives treatment to tuberculous individuals, but undertakes the social and economic rehabilitation of all the members of the patient's family. If the same results are obtained in the next two years, the association believes that it will have pointed out the way for adequate control of tuberculosis. The report says:

> In the Home Hospital in the East River Homes under the general direction of Dr. Linsly R. Williams, now Deputy State Health Commissioner, twenty-seven familes, seventy-nine members of which were tuberculous, during the first year lived in sanitary homes, had ample sunshine and fresh air, good and abundant nourishment, freedom from undue work and worry, reasonable segregation, skillful medical care and constant nursing supervision. Eleven of these families containing twenty-three tuberculous patients, twelve of whom were wage-earners, were discharged during the year. Six of the eleven families were rehabilitated physically, socially and economically. The other five had to be dismissed for persistent intemperance or refusal to follow advice. The condition of these, however, as a consequence of the treatment received, was improved. Of the one hundred and thirty-five individuals in the hospital fifty-four were consumptive and twenty-five suspicious cases.
> The results obtained with the adult patients compared very favorably with those of the best sanatoria. One of the most marked results was the fact that no new case of tuberculosis developed after admission. Sixty-one per cent. of the adult patients were apparently cured, twenty-two per cent. had their disease arrested, and eleven per cent. were much improved. In only four cases was there no progress. Three of these it was found necessary to dismiss for refusing to follow advice, and the fourth, who was an advanced case when admitted, died. The improvement of the sixty-five children and sixteen infants was also most satisfactory. Eighteen of these were consumptives, twenty-three were suspicious cases, and most of the others were excellent candidates for the disease. Upon admission practically all were underdeveloped, but at the end of six months each child had reached a weight normal for its age.

Referring to the social and economic rehabilitation of all members of the families of tubercular patients, the report says that in every case the disease has forced the family into poverty; some of the families were "wholly destitute." Therefore, the association expresses the belief that the remedy of social ills is just as urgent as the cure of the disease, because without rehabilitation the family would continue to lead an abnormal life and cause the disease to recur. The report points out that the six families, discharged as "rehabilitated physically, socially and economically," at the time of its admission to the hospital, had an average income of $6.42 a week. One of the families was absolutely destitute, and the incomes of two more were stopped when they were moved to the hospital. When they were discharged, however, the average income of the six families was $15 a week. The report describes the progress of one of these families in this way:

> Mrs. K., whose husband is in a State hospital for the insane, and her five children, from 10 to 18 years of age, before admission to the Home Hospital, lived in a two-room apartment. Their home, though bright, sunny, and immaculately clean, was so congested that the mother and boys were compelled to sleep in one bedroom, while the oldest child, a daughter, had slept for years on a board and two chairs. They had very little furniture, not even a table. The woman attended a tuberculosis day camp, the oldest girl staying at home to keep house. One of the boys worked, although he had not obtained his legal papers. The family income was but $4.50, to which a relief society was adding $6 weekly.
>
> During their residence of a year at the Home Hospital the girl was able to return to work and the boy was sent to school to complete his education; the mother and children received the usual instruction and showed great improvement. The woman was fully restored to health. The girl, whose character was being molded gradually to fit the slum standard of the district in which she lived and the environment of the egg-packing plant in which she had been employed, sums up her experience by saying: "The time I spent in the Home Hospital seems like a year of heaven to me." Her whole outlook on life has changed. There is a personal daintiness and refinement of speech and manner. She has been inspired with fine ideals and a real ambition for improvement, and is now a trusted clerk and telephone operator in a hospital office. The two older boys have good positions, and the family income now amounts to about $70 a month.

The actual cost of caring for tuberculous families in the Home Hospital, by comparison, was found to be less than the cost of caring for them in other institutions.

The Forester's Daughter

A Story of Youth for Youth

Hamlin Garland

Mr. Garland says he would like to have it understood that this is NOT the greatest novel of the year, it is NOT the latest and the strongest work of the author, it is NOT a gripping study of elemental passions, it is merely an idyllic story of YOUTH for YOUTH, full of the vacation spirit of the Rocky Mountains and written in the vein of "The Spirit of Sweet Water" and "Her Mountain Lover," a comedy of forest folk with "Berrie of the cinch hand" for chief character. It can be read by every one in the family circle. Ask for it.

STATE PRISON COSTS HIGHER UNDER RILEY

ALL INSTITUTIONS CROWDED

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Feb. 8.—Though one of the avowed objects of the Sulzer prison reforms was to make the penal institutions of the State self-sustaining, the first annual report of John B. Riley, who was appointed State Superintendent of Prisons by Mr. Sulzer, shows a marked falling off in the earnings of these institutions and an even more marked increase in the cost of maintaing them.

The report will be submitted to the Legislature to-morrow night. The decrease in the earnings of the three leading State prisons for men, Sing Sing, Auburn, and Clinton, amount sto $51,278. For Great Meadow no figures of earnings are submitted, the prisoners there being employed largely in outdoor construction work on the prison. Four hundred of the prisoners at Great Meadow, too, were almost constantly employed in the reforestation plant conducted there by the State Conservation Commission. For this work no revenue is received by the prison.

	—Expenditures.—
Prison.	1911-1912.	1912-1913.	Increase.
Auburn	212,431	229,658	17,227
Great Meadow..	101,403	114,591	13,188

Supt. Riley points out that the greater part of the increase is due to an increase in the wages of employes rendered compulsory under a law passed in 1912. But provisions show an increase of more than $7,000, and fuel and light an increase of $8,656.

There is what Supt. Riley calls an "apparent" decrease in the sale of prison-manufactured articles aggregating $53,358. He blames this partly on the stoppage of certain industries at Sing Sing as a result of the fire last Fall and partly on the cost of refinishing and shipping 15,000 school desks from the Auburn Prison. Partly also the loss in earnings is ascribed to the fact that under Mr. Riley's plan of giving open-air work to prisoners, a good many convicts have been employed on road construction, in the planting of trees, and in farming operations at Clinton and Great Meadow, on the land owned by the prison farm for women at Valatie and at Wingdale, the abandoned prison site.

Mr. Riley advocates the purchase of land for farming purposes in connection with all of the prisons, where the vegetables, milk, and pork required for their maintenance could be produced. It is pointed out that the State spent $40,000 last year to supply vegetables to the prisons, and that nearly $22,000 went for potatoes. But the principal consideration, Mr. Riley declares, is that it would afford an opportunity for the employment of a large number of prisoners in the open air. The report declares the open air experiment in connection with prison work on roads an unqualified success.

The number of prisoners has outgrown the capacity of the cell accommodations in the existing institutions, according to the report. At one time last year it was found necessary to "double up" 60 prisoners in cells three feet and ten inches wide, seven and one-half feet long and seven feet high, for fifteen hours a day, and for forty consecutive hours, while the prison industries were at a standstill between Saturday noon and Monday morning. The State Superintendent points out that the cell accommodations are bad at all the State prisons except Great Meadow, but that conditions are worse than elsewhere at Sing Sing, where seven-tenths of all men committed to State prison are sent.

Special appropriations aggregating $138,000 for the completion of the southwest wing of the State Hospital at Dannemora and for new wards at the State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Matteawan are justified on the ground that both these institutions are overcrowded. The report says:

"Matteawan has accommodations for 617; on the last day of the fiscal year it contained 863 inmates, an excess of 246, or approximately 30 per cent. Dannemora has a certified capacity of 358. The census shows that it contains a population of 540, and that such population has increased during the last fiscal year 82.

Supt. Reilly, who, before he took charge of the Prison Department, was a County Judge, finds fault with the severe penalties meted out to offenders, especially by Judges in New York City. He recommends that the penal law be amended so as to provide for sentences "without term" for all first offenders except those convicted of murder, so as to give the Board of Parole the widest discretion in determining how much longer than one year a first offender should be detained in prison.

TUGS CANNOT MOVE THE QUEEN LOUISE

THRONGS WATCH WRECKERS

Auto Parties Visit the Shore Where Powerful Ships Are Trying to Free Sand-Bound Vessel.

Special to The New York Times.

SEA GIRT, N. J., Feb. 8.—All efforts to move the British steamship Queen Louise, which is aground on Manasquan Beach, near here, failed to-day. To-night the steamer, which is lying broadside to the beach, twelve feet deep in the sand, presents just as much of a problem as she did yesterday, and it is doubtful if she will be pulled back into navigable waters. For two hours, when the tide was at flood this afternoon, three powerful wrecking tugs, aided by the United States revenue cutters Seneca and Itasca, pulled at the vessel, but the combined efforts of the fleet failed to even budge the stranded ship.

At least 1,000 persons went to Manasquan Beach this afternoon to watch the wreckers at work. Most of them came in automobiles, and men, women, and children stood for hours in the bitter cold watching the wrecking fleet and admiring the beautiful picture that was presented every time the mountainous waves broke over the ship. Capt. McDonough and his men are still on board the ship and will stay there, the skipper says, so long as a chance of saving the ship is left.

The Manasquan life savers have the breeches buoy ready for instant use, and Capt. Longstreet and his men are standing by, ready to give assistance whenever Capt. McDonough says the word. The Queen Louise has shown no signs of breaking up, notwithstanding the fact that with every hour she is driving deeper and deeper into the Manasquan sands.

The next attempt to float the ship will be made at high tide to-morrow. To-night lighters are alongside the ship, taking off the 3,000 tons of tinplate that is on board. The pumps are also at work pumping out the water ballast, in order to have the vessel as light as possible when the wrecking tugs and revenue cutters begin the second effort to pull her into deep water.

LOOK INTO STEDMAN CASE.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., Feb. 8.—Coroner Phelan is coming here to investigate the death of William A. Stedman, the New York cotton broker, who was found in the cellar of his home with his head crushed yesterday. Dr. J. A. Clarke, the County Medical Examiner, pronounced it a case of suicide, but Mr. Stedman's relatives question this, because they do not believe he could have wielded an axe—the weapon with which he was killed—in such a way as to crush his skull.

A negro employed at the place found Mr. Stedman unconscious in the coal bin, with an axe lying at his feet. He was taken to a hospital and never regained consciousness, although while the surgeons were working over him he was counting audibly up to the number thirty-eight.

It was reported to-day that Mr. Stedman also had stabbed himself with a small pocket knife.

Dr. A. W. Klein, Mr. Stedman's physician, said the broker had been suffering from a nervous breakdown.

Mr. Stedman was manager of the Stephen M. Weld cotton brokerage firm of New York. His brother, Lewis A. Stedman, is assistant superintendent of of the Brooklyn Water Company.

Life-Saving Dog Is Missing.

Alvin N. Higgins, a lawyer of 200 Broadway, living at Spuyten Duyvil, has reported to the Kingsbridge Police Station that his pedigreed collie "Rover," valued at $1,500, which rescued 3-year-old Stella Cummings after a boating accident last Summer by swimming out of the Harlem River with her clothing held in his teeth, has been missing since Jan. 31. Detective Michael Vatta has been assigned to the case, and friends of the owners have joined searching parties through woods in the vicinity.

"BIG SIX" NAMES SCOTT.

Only Two Candidates for Head of International Typographical Union.

As a result of a ballot taken yesterday by Typographical Union No. 6 for candidates for election as officers of the International Typographical Union, Marsen G. Scott, President of the former, received the indorsement of his organization. Mr. Scott was opposed by Charles E. Hawkes of No. 6.

There are 7,300 members in No. 6, two hundred of whom are women. Most of the women were present and voted. When the balloting, which lasted all the afternoon, was over, the ballot boxes were taken to the headquarters of the union to be counted. It was shown that Scott had received 736 votes and Hawkes 615.

Under the rules of the International Union a candidate for President, First Vice President or Secretary-Treasurer cannot run unless he has the indorsement of at least fifty locals. Up to last evening Scott had received about one hundred indorsements from locals throughout the country and Hawkes twenty-two. As only 200 out of 800 locals in the union had been heard from, it was regarded as certain that Hawkes would receive enough indorsements to make him a candidate, and as far as is known these will be the only two candidates for President. First Vice-President Duncan, who is filling in the unexpired term of ex-President Lynch, announced some time ago that he would not be a candidate.

Jack Binns Engaged to be Married.

Jack R. Binns, who achieved fame as the wireless operator of the White Star liner Republic when she sank after colliding with the Florida on Jan. 23, 1909, announced his engagement yesterday to Miss Alice A. Macniff of Brooklyn, whom he met three years ago when he was operator on the Adriatic. The wedding will take place in June, followed by a trip to the Mediterranean. Mr. Binns recently obtained a verdict for $12,000 against the Vitagraph Company for using a false picture of him in its moving pictures throughout the country.

He just wanted to buy a pair of trousers

A WELL-DRESSED, carefully groomed and quick-witted business man came into our store the second day of this sale. He needed a pair of trousers—that was all he wanted to buy.

He made a selection, and while waiting for the easily-made alterations to be finished he bought a suit.

While this was being made ready he looked at overcoats—he bought an overcoat.

On the way out with his larger purchases he stopped to buy a derby hat, a cap, two shirts and some neckties that caught his eye.

"Must have had a mighty clever salesman?" say you. Not a bit of it. The man who sold him these goods was our sign painter, whom we had found it necessary to draft into the ranks of extra clerks because of the crowds.

Now, bearing in mind the fact that this customer was a newcomer to Smith Gray's, and a prosperous, sharp business man, it seems to us that this incident is a concrete proof of not only the tremendous bargains we are offering, but also of the notable quality of our clothing.

To our minds this episode perhaps points out more convincingly the reasons why you should attend the

than would a complete description of the value to you of our offerings.

CHOP SUEY PLANT A BLIND FOR OPIUM

Actual Sale of Drug in Progress When Police Visit Chinese Restaurant.

Chin Kee, said by the police to be the proprietor of the Tuxedo restaurant at 102 Third Avenue, was held in $1,000 bail by Magistrate McQuade yesterday in the Essex Market Court following an opium raid on Saturday night by detectives attached to Commissioner McKay's "clean-up" squad.

A well-dressed woman, who said she was May Irwin, 24 years old, of 120 East Tenth Street, who was arrested with Kee, was held as a witness. The examination of Kee will be held on Thursday. Several packages, containing, it was said, more than $1,000 worth of opium, were exhibited by the detectives in court as fruit of the raid.

In the course of the proceedings yesterday it was asserted that the "clean-up" squad had confiscated 326 revolvers and twenty-seven blackjacks in the last twenty-one days; that it had raided eighteen gambling places, made two arrests for petty larceny and one for grand larceny; and that it had captured one outfit of burglar's tools and recovered more than $5,000 worth of stolen property.

For two weeks Lieut. Scherb and Detectives Crosson, Johnson, Bryan and Schaudel have been watching Kee's restaurant. The actions of Kee's customers led them to believe that not all were going there merely for the purpose of eating chop suey. A few nights ago they observed a young man enter the restaurant and converse with a Chinese in low tones. The customer was led into an adjoining room, and a few minutes afterward emerged with a tin can. The detectives followed him, and it so happened that he tripped and fell. The can rolled along the sidewalk, spilling rice, and with it a quantity of a substance which the police say was opium.

The detectives continued to watch the place. From a taxicab on Saturday night alighted a well-dressed woman, who entered the restaurant and took a seat at one of the tables. She ordered a cup of tea and then said she wanted some chop suey to take home. The waiter departed to fill her order, and, returning, told her to step into a small room, where the chop suey would be given to her. According to the detectives who broke into the room, they saw Kee take a roll of bills from the woman. In the woman's hand was a bowl, which the detectives seized, which, they say, contained 310 small packages of a powder believed to be opium. A search of the room discovered many more packages of the powder, the total value of which was estimated by the police to be more than $1,000. These packages were inclosed neatly in the shells of Chinese nuts, cut in half. Each half shell contained fifty cents' worth of the powder. A piece of cardboard was placed over the half shells, and then they were wrapped in waxed paper. The detectives arrested Kee and the woman and confiscated the opium.

In court yesterday Lieut Scherb told Magistrate McQuade that he believed Kee was the man who had furnished most of the drug used by victims of the opium habit in that district.

"It is the first time," said Scherb, "that we have been able to catch a man actually receiving money and passing out the drug. Beside Kee in the inner room were his scales, on which he weighed the opium; his money drawer and two cans, one containing ten pounds of opium and the other two."

"Nobby Tread" Tires

will be sold under our regular warranty—perfect workmanship and material—BUT any adjustments will be on a basis of

5,000 Miles

This applies also to all "Nobby Tread" Tires now in service on automobiles.

The "Nobby Tread" Tire was placed upon the market in 1909—it was built regardless of price competition, and built to accomplish two purposes:

No. 1—To give American automobile owners the lowest "cost per mile" tire that could be built.

No. 2—To give American automobile owners a real anti-skid tire.

The inherent wear-resisting quality—the quantity of rubber—the quantity of fabric—the methods of construction—all have been rigidly maintained in "Nobby Tread" Tires, and maintained regardless of cost and regardless of price competition.

The result is that—today, through sheer merit alone, "Nobby Tread" Tires are the largest selling high-grade anti-skid tires in the world.

But more than this—solely through their day in and day out mileage records, "Nobby Tread" Tires have proved that they are the most inexpensive tires in the end.

Therefore, based solely on their mileage records of over four years, "Nobby Tread" Tires can be, and now are, placed on this 5,000-mile basis of adjustment.

This applies to each and every "Nobby Tread" Tire in service on automobiles today or unsold in dealers' stock anywhere in the United States, carrying our regular warranty.

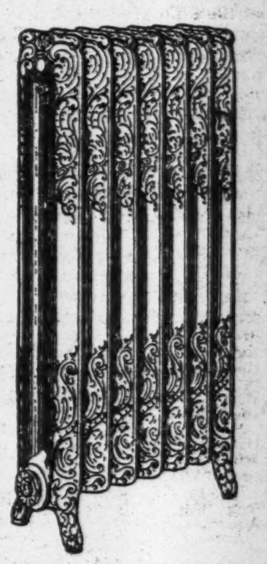
Make right heating choice

Scientific tests applied to old-time ways of heating show unhealthful air conditions, with either too little or too much heat and high fuel costs. The same scientific scrutiny applied to our modern radiator ways of heating shows definite results, warmth distributed evenly to all rooms—full results from the fuel burned, and healthful atmosphere, free from flying ash-dust and coal-gases. If you are holding on to the "old way," or it is holding on to you, why not break the hold and make the best choice by putting in a fully tested, fully guaranteed outfit of

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

Our heating outfits are made for every size of cottage, mansion, flat, church, school, store, garage, or public building. They produce the most healthful warmth known—free from ash-dust, coal-gases and soot—thereby saving much cleaning labor and damage to furnishings.



Selections from AMERICAN Radiator line insure best surfaces for decorations—most clean-cut castings made.

In choosing from the big IDEAL Boiler line, you can select a type just right for your needs—for water, steam or vapor, for hard coal, wood, gas, soft coal, lump, run-of-mine or screenings; or, you can choose our new DOWN-DRAFT type for smokeless burning of low-grade soft coals (plentiful and cheap in many localities.)

A No. C2118 IDEAL Boiler and 270 sq. ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators, costing the owner $135, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include cost of labor, pipes, valves, freight, etc., which are extra, and vary according to climatic and other conditions.

In choosing AMERICAN Radiators you obtain the tightest constructions, the most liberal heat distributers, the most graceful styles, the smooth surfaces which may be painted to match walls or woodwork, and their shapes permit convenient locations where the heat is most needed to insure evenness of warmth.

IDEAL-AMERICAN heating outfits will wear for a century or more; require no annual over-hauling to keep in order. Sectional parts go together by finely machined iron-to-iron water-ways which never require packing or attention. Consider present attractive price and low cost of upkeep and absence of repairs, with the fact that our outfits increase rental and sales values—and you will see that the outfit is more than a choice—it's a big paying investment.

Let us help you to choose wisely. Write us today if you have any heating troubles, or if you are planning a new home or other building; our booklets (mailed free) and special information will be worth your while—put you under no obligation to buy. Act now!

Certain-teed
ROOFING
GUARANTEED

The General Says:—

No roofing tests—however scientific—can tell you how long the roof will last. We have made our tests on the roof and know our guarantee is justified. Our guarantee is better than your guessing. Purchase an investment and not a gamble.

A Certain-teed Construction Roof for buildings of the most permanent type appeals to architects, engineers and builders as well as owners.

A Certain-teed Construction Roof is a built-up roof and is the modern scientific process of covering—whether a gable roof or a flat roof with poor drainage.

A Certain-teed Construction Roof does away with the smoky tarpot, and as no gravel is used, does not collect dust, and the roof is washed clean after every rain. It is a sanitary roof.

Costs more—but worth more. Applied only by responsible roofers.

Quality Cert-ified — Roofing — Durability Guaran-teed

The Certain-teed Label secures for you, through your dealer, our guarantee, and the three biggest roofing mills in the world stand sponsor for that guarantee. There is no true roofing test but the proof on the roof. Protect your buildings with Certain-teed Roofing and protect your purchase with our guarantee on Certain-teed.

Your saving, at most, is but a few dollars, and is poor economy. Certain-teed is the best protection for your buildings and the guarantee label, the best protection for you.

WHY THE QUALITY OF CERTAIN-TEED ROOFING IS HIGHER, ALTHOUGH THE COST TO YOU IS LOW.

By George M. Brown, President General Roofing Manufacturing Company.

There is one great big point about Certain-teed Roofing that I want to impress as forcibly as I can upon your mind.

It costs you less and gives you more.

When I say it costs you less, I do not mean that you can't buy roofing at a lower price. You can—much lower in some cases. But you cannot figure cost merely by the price you pay. You've got to consider the years of service.

A Certain-teed Roof will last 15 years or more. Even if you pay a few dollars less for some other roofing to cover the same area and it dries up and leaks and has to be done over in a year or two or possibly five—it has cost you many times the cost of Certain-teed per year.

Certain-teed Roofing is the highest quality possible for skilled men and perfect machines to make of the best raw products obtainable. There is no step in its manufacture in which we do not bear constantly in mind that we are making a roofing which will surely make good under our 15-year guarantee. It must be the finest protection for your building and its contents; it must be so durable that it will effectively resist heat and cold, rain and snow, and all other weather conditions.

It must be all of this to justify us in guaranteeing it for fifteen years. It will last longer than that, and it will save you money in every year of its service on your buildings. Certain-teed would have to be higher in cost were it not for our manufacturing facilities, our method of distribution, and our enormous volume.

You can buy Certain-teed Roofing of your local dealer, whom you know. We market it only through the jobber and retailer—not through mail order houses. Everybody likes to buy things face to face with the seller.

When you buy of your local dealer there is a personal element in the transaction. There is a personal satisfaction. You know the dealer and he knows you. His word is good with you as your word is with him. You know him well enough to know that when he says a thing is right he will make good.

Our Certain-teed label explains our guarantee in detail—15 years for 3-ply, 10 years for 2-ply, and 5 years for 1-ply. It protects you, your dealer and us.

Your dealer knows us. He knows we are responsible. He knows Certain-teed Roofing and he knows the Certain-teed label is an insurance policy on every sale he makes of Certain-teed Roofing.

He can tell you why Certain-teed Roofing costs you less. He knows of our three great mills and their enormous output of roofing.

It is this vast output produced under conditions of high efficiency and economy of manufacturing and selling cost, which enables us to help your dealer to sell Certain-teed Roofing to you at a lower price than would be possible if our output were small and our methods antiquated.

Stated briefly, the Certain-teed label means for you the lowest cost, the highest quality and the bets service in roofing You buy it with your eyes open, with the goods before you, from a dealer you know. And the entire transaction is backed by our fifteen-year guarantee. The manufacturing and selling of Certain-teed Roofing, in short, is along lines which are entirely to your advantage.

It is just possible that you yourself may have to convince the dealer that Certain-teed is the roofing he must sell you. Do it. You'll be glad you did—and so will he.

MEDDLING WITH REGULATION.

It is not seen as clearly as it ought to be that the chief threat to the successful regulation of public utilities is failure in the duty of the chief regulators rather than in the resistance of the regulated utilities. The corporations have come to see that their best chance of life and profit is in surrender to control by the States, and in limitation of unwise State control by Federal courts and commissions. So marked is this tendency that it is not necessary to cite examples. It might almost be said that there are no examples of resistance to the laws of regulation, such resistance as there is being to the fact of the law's existence or meaning, and not to its authority. The same cannot be said of the lawmakers. They constantly show inappreciation of their own acts, and meddle and mar their own work in a manner which is the chief menace to the success of the policy of regulation. Examples are too abundant, among both State and Federal lawmakers. Neither, after having established regulation, is content to allow the regulators to regulate. Because they create the regulators they think that they can oversee or instruct or reprimand them in a manner which would be resented by courts, and ought to be resented by regulators fulfilling the duties which they ought to be allowed to exercise, or which they ought to lay down if not allowed to use their judgment in compliance with the law.

At the moment Congress is directing the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate the allowance of rebates. If the Commission has discharged its duties there are no rebates. If there are no rebates the Commission is insulted by the direction to investigate what it is its duty to prevent or punish, and what it has prevented or punished with commendable success. It might almost be said that the Commission is a party to its own insult, for within a few days it has condemned the railways for granting rebates in the form of rates which have been filed with the Commission, and which, therefore, are lawful rates within the knowledge of everybody. There's a reason for this, of course, but that's another story.

As an example of State interference with lawful regulation may be cited the course of the New York Legislature regarding telephone rates. There are at least four leading measures meddling with the subject committed to the Public Service Commission. If the Commission is incompetent, its activities should be stimulated. If the Commission is dealing with the subject as is its duty, the Legislature is more the enemy of the public than the corporations, which are complying with regulation by law. This is no small matter to the telephone companies, and they are far from being the only victims. Public utilities in general, and in all the States, are treated as though they were public enemies, and as though their bankruptcy were desirable. Within the month a single railway has declared that a single statute has compelled it to spend unnecessarily $600,000 in a single State. That is an example, not of unreasonable regulation of rates to the public, but of regulation of expenditures.

Examples of resistance to such dangerous legislative interference with regulation are none too common. The most conspicuous and creditable, because of its boldness and originality, was Gov. HUGHES's veto of the two-cent fare law. He said the regulation of railway rates having been committed to a Commission, they should be let alone. In any case, it was not suitable for the Legislature to act in the manner it did, without clear knowledge of the various conditions which would make a universal rate either right or wrong. Within the week there has been another example worth notice. In the Maryland Legislature there were several bills assuming to do what it was the duty of the Public Service Commission to do. Two were killed last Thursday. In one case the Public Service Commission's bill was substituted. In the other case the Commission is to prepare a bill.

It may be hoped that there will be similar action at Albany, both in the Legislature and by the regulators intrusted with that duty by law. Certainly, before the pending telephone bills, and others like them, are passed, the regulators ought to have a hearing. It is necessary to assume that they are discharging their duties as they see them. If so, they should be supported both by public opinion and by the Legislature.

THE TURK RAMPANT.

It looks as if the Young Turks were bent on another effort to establish their rule by conquest. The amazing chances of a war in which they took no part enabled them to recover Adrianople and a substantial part—strategically important—of the territory lost to the allies. The still more amazing chances of intricate Balkan diplomacy have, it would seem, enabled them to make an ally of Bulgaria, their chief foe in the earlier struggle, and they are reported to be planning aggression toward Greece. In this project they have two objectives, one to seize the islands of the Aegean nearest the Dardanelles, the other to recover Salonika and the region east of that city. Incidentally, they are said to look forward to establishing a claim in Albania. To these schemes the passive, if not active, aid of Bulgaria is needful, and is reported to be secured. The chief advantage to the Turks would be the passage of their troops through Bulgarian territory.

But there are serious obstacles in the way of this ambitious programme. It obviously threatens to involve directly the essential interests of the great Powers. The seizure of the Aegean islands would be a flagrant violation of the agreement to which all the Powers are committed. War upon Greece on land would raise the questions involved in the settlement of the second and latest Balkan contest, and especially would directly affect Rumania and Russia. If Bulgaria should yield passage to Turkish troops across her newly acquired territory she would have to risk a joint movement of Rumanian and Servian troops upon her own capital—a repetition of the situation of last Autumn, which was so nearly fatal to her. The recapture of Salonika and the Aegean islands would open up again the vexed question of Italian claims as against Austria. Both Great Britain and France would resist the overthrow of the balance attained in the Adriatic, the Aegean, and the Mediterranean. Under these conditions it is reasonable to infer that the Turko-Bulgarian scheme, so widely announced and discussed, is rather a move in the game of diplomacy than a seriously developed policy.

NO WHITEWASHING.

The letter to THE TIMES from Mr. HENRY L. STIMSON, printed elsewhere, follows the emphatic statement of Mr. WILLIAM BARNES, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, in a communication appearing in these columns last Saturday, that the Republican Assembly will not lend itself to any attempt at whitewashing corrupt persons who may be exposed in its investigation of the State departments. Mr. STIMSON urges a legislative inquiry. His wide experience as a Federal prosecutor teaches him that Gov. GLYNN made "a serious mistake" and assumed "a most serious responsibility" when he declined to aid Mr. WHITMAN to extend the scope of his investigation on the highways and canals. While he advises that the people of this State will regard this as a matter too near its vital welfare to be juggled with by either party, Mr. STIMSON especially warns the Republicans when he says, speaking of the Legislature:

> If it falters in the least degree, if it lays itself open to the suspicion that it is less anxious to run down a Republican offender than a Democratic offender, it will instantly forfeit the confidence of the people and will instantly lose to the Republican Party all of the confidence which that party is seeking to regain.

Mr. WHITMAN alone cannot regain this prestige for his party. Without hearty support in the Republican Assembly his efforts will be only in part successful.

A STRAY REPUBLICAN "PLANK."

It is not needful to hold that the tolls plank in the Democratic platform of 1912 was smuggled in, in order justly to oppose it as undemocratic, politically unsound, and radically mischievous. So far from being a binding statement of Democratic doctrine or policy, it is purely—or impurely—Republican in principle, in aim, and in form. Whether by trickery or by sheer carelessness at a time of great confusion and excitement, it slipped in; but it has no more authority or binding force on Democrats than if it had been a stenographer's mistake.

It involved an issue. There is no doubt about that. The issue was a perfectly plain one. It was the issue of protection in its baldest and most offensive form. It "favored" a special favor to one class of interests at the expense of all others, and that class monopolistic. That is an issue on which Democratic doctrine has been defined over and again, and always clearly. The Democratic doctrine is that such favors are wrong, unjust, pernicious, and always indefensible. The tolls plank was contrary to that doctrine. No matter whence it came or how it got in the platform, it is not binding, and cannot be.

Moreover, it is, as we have said, not only not Democratic but Republican, a sort of protectionist foundling left on the Democratic doorstep, and foolishly taken in and fed with Democratic favor. It seems to have had its origin in the brain of Mr. TAFT, in one of his moments of weakness when he tried to play politics with international matters. At such moments his mind seems to have been the victim of sophistry, contracted from his legal studies and uncorrected by his usual good sense and sense of honor. It was probably fostered by Secretary KNOX, whose mind is habitually subtle and who supplied the amazing doctrine that the tolls exemption was a "subsidy" such as any other nation had a right to grant to its own vessels. If it is a subsidy, every Democrat should spurn it. If it is not a subsidy, it is a gross violation of treaty obligation, and no Democrat—or Republican either—should support it.

We note a disposition to rally to this mischievous plan as much as possible of the anti-Bryan sentiment of the Democratic Party. It is ignoble and ill-advised. We hold no brief for Mr. BRYAN, but in this matter he is right, both as to the immediate issue and as to the broad future. He has formulated a plan of great importance. He seeks to secure the assent of as many Governments as possible to the principle of an impartial inquiry, with adequate time to make it in, before abandoning the adjustment of international differences. This was the most valuable feature of Mr. TAFT's great peace treaties. Mr. BRYAN has done well to make it his own. He knows that he can do nothing with it if the good faith of the United States is exposed to reasonable suspicion. He knows that insisting on favors for our own shipping in the canal would warrant something worse than suspicion as to our honest intent to keep our promises. He is right, in every possible way, in trying to get this pernicious blunder corrected.

THE TILDEN CENTENARY.

To-day is the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of SAMUEL J. TILDEN. The ceremonies in honor of his memory, arranged by the Tilden Memorial Commission, began yesterday, when his grave in the cemetery at New Lebanon, N. Y., was decorated and formal church services were held in that town, where TILDEN was born Feb. 9, 1814. To-day, in the Assembly Chamber at Albany, there will be exercises, at which Gov. GLYNN will preside. To-morrow night at Carnegie Hall there will be a final meeting, with speeches and music. The Tilden Democratic Club of the Nineteenth Assembly District celebrated the anniversary last night in its clubhouse. These formalities have all been appropriately devised to direct the public mind to the invaluable services to his nation, his State, and his political party of a loyal, courageous, and enlightened statesman.

THEATRICAL CENSORSHIP.

There are reasons why a censorship of public amusements undertaken by churchmen should be welcomed alike by theatrical managers, actors, and the public as well. No possible harm to art that is worthy of the name can come from the movement instituted with the approval of Cardinal FARLEY. Moreover, it implies a recognition of the irresistible influence of the theatre which must be gratifying to all who are interested in its prosperity. That a play which receives the approval of this newly established censorship will have an excellent advertisement free of cost is an obvious fact, the importance of which will not be overlooked by playmakers and producers. That one condemned by it will also have an advertisement of a sort which in the past has not always been unprofitable, the shrewdest speculators in theatrical wares will bear in mind. The object of the censorship is commendable. Its conduct will be closely watched.

Of course, it must not be set down as a purely religious movement, in spite of the association with it of eminent prelates of the Catholic Church. The Church as an institution will not be involved. The movement must be accepted as one set on foot by a number of good citizens for the welfare of the whole community. It is gratifying to know that approval will not be given to dull plays simply because they are not immoral. The trouble with censorship of all forms of art has always been the inability of the censors to discriminate fairly. This has made Government censorship of plays in England ridiculous. The present movement, however, is not official or bureaucratic. That it is well meant nobody can doubt. That it may serve to rid our theatre of some of its abominations we must all hope. The disposition of the theatre-going public will be to await its development without prejudice. It will surely tend to answer the question which, as Mr. DE WOLF HOPPER lately said, is in the mind of all decent persons contemplating a visit to the theatre, "Where can we go?" Whether or not a large part of the public will care to go where the censor says good folks may go is another matter.

A MOTOR VEHICLE LAW NEEDED.

The Callan automobile law, passed to regulate motor cars in this State, has been found to be largely unworkable. That something is defective in it or in the men who should enforce it is the settled conviction of all who have watched the steadily mounting figures of deaths in the streets. In this city the fatalities from motor cars have risen from 142 in 1911 to 221 in 1912, and to 302 in 1913; in the past month 28 were killed, as against but 17 a year ago. Mr. JOB H. LIPPINCOTT, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles in New Jersey, indicates a vital defect in this State's regulations when he says:

> The one stumbling block toward proper regulation of automobiles in the East is the weak and inefficient law of New York State. The fact that the licensing authorities in New York have no power either to refuse or revoke licenses prevents the departments of other States from entering into co-operative arrangements in the work of regulating New York machines in traveling in other States.

Secretary of State MITCHELL MAY favors the requirement that every operator of a motor vehicle, be he owner, borrower, or chauffeur, shall procure a license or permit, at the discretion of the Secretary of State; if he be deemed unfit, a license should be refused. Excepting in New York, all operators are licensed in every Eastern State from Maine to Virginia. Here practically every one, regardless of age, character, skill, or physical defect, except paid chauffeurs, may drive without a license. In the case of chauffeurs the lack of power to revoke licenses after they have been found unfit renders the law nugatory.

Public opinion works "steady by jerks," especially when it meets with obstruction to its normal course. It has sometimes acquired the force of a triphammer, breaking through all restraints and recording itself in drastic and unjust legislation. The public may before long be in a dangerous mood with respect to the question of regulating motor car drivers. If men representing the substantial interests of this city, chosen from the Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants' Association, the City Club, the Citizens' Union, the National Highways Protective Society, and the Automobile Club of America, should meet and confer upon the best method of amending the admittedly defective Callan law, the danger of drastic legislation might be averted. It will not do to wait until some untoward incident inflames and angers the public mind. Able men and sober counsel are needed. A bill should be carefully and sincerely drawn, passed, and effectually applied.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Defectives Have Their Use.

By asking for an explanation, one of our readers questions the accuracy of a statement recently made in this column—that "civilization has found uses for the weak of body, and even for the weak of mind, and, for a while at least, it would be terribly embarrassed if deprived of their services."

"I can understand," writes the inquirer, "the service that brilliant minds in weak bodies have performed in the case of genius, but to what particular use a mediocre weakling can be put, and more especially a weak-minded person, as to cause embarrassment to civilization, is what I cannot understand."

Yet the mystery is far from deep. The savage, to live at all, must be nearly perfect in both body and mind—according to the standards and requirements of his environment, of course—and if he falls much below it he either starves to death or is put out of the way as an intolerable burden on a social group constantly living on a minute margin of safety. He must have versatility, as well as mental and physical ability, for there is but little specialization among savages, and every man has to be a fairly competent practitioner of all the known arts, sciences, and trades.

The demands on the individual made by barbarism are distinctly less comprehensive, owing to the greater division of functions and the consequent possibility of getting along well enough in spite of one or several disabilities. Civilization, which supplies vastly more material for intellect and strength to work with and on than does savagery or barbarism, also creates innumerable simple but important tasks the performance of which requires little more than strength, and in many cases only a little of that. These labors would be horrible drudgery for men of normal or more than normal powers, but often the half-wit or defective does them efficiently and contentedly, and by the doing really earns his living wage.

This is, indeed, a poor argument for the continued production of half-wits and defectives, but it explains, after a fashion, why there would be embarrassment if Sir WILLIAM RAMSAY's advice to "let a lot of them die off"—which is indistinguishable from advice to kill off a lot of them—were to be followed.

His Logic Seems to be Wrong.

Scientists will refuse to be much alarmed by the announcement which comes from a French electrician that wireless telegraphy involves hitherto unsuspected dangers of the most serious sort. This electrician has been drawing on the map straight lines between the great towers whence radiograms are sent, and he has discovered that at about the centre of three of them there has been recently an explosion or fire involving loss of life. Certain experiments have convinced him, too, that at these central points ethereal disturbances of some kind exist, and to these he ascribes an explosion in a Cardiff coal mine, the burning of the Volturno, and the blowing up of the cruisers at Toulon.

This discovery, of course, is important if true. One notices, however, that these three accidents differed in no way from many others that have occurred, some not on the lines mentioned and others in the years before there were any such lines to mention. Moreover, nobody knows how many ships, merchant and naval, have been exposed to the same influences without showing the slightest inclination either to blow up or to burn, and that all coal mines, everywhere, have only too much inclination to do one or the other all the time.

These facts do not give absolute proof that the French electrician is wrong, but they establish the degree of probability with which we poor mortals, in practically all of our affairs, have to be content as a substitute for such proof. If further reassurance were wanted, it might be found in another fact, and one which it is strange that an electrician should have forgotten—the fact that the impulses sent out from wireless stations are not confined to a narrow path leading to a single remote point. Mr. MARCONI and his fellow-workers in this field hope to bring that about some day, but up to the present time they have had to create spheres of disturbance, not lines, and the imagined conflict of the ethereal waves can be said to take place, not somewhere, but everywhere, or something like it.

And yet—and yet—one shouldn't be too sure. Mr. TESLA, who knows a thing or two about electricity, has been telling us for years that what the Frenchman says has been done accidentally could be done intentionally, and that he could destroy the navies of the world by pressing a button. He has kindly refrained from doing it, however, and with touching confidence in his further forbearance the nations go on building men-of-war.

His Questions Did Go Rather Far.

An aggrieved correspondent, a woman, raises the delicate and interesting question of how far and in what directions one to whom application for employment has been made can with right and propriety inquire as to the applicant's personal peculiarities and private history.

She says that, having recently seen an advertisement offering work of a literary character, she answered it and received as reply a request to fill out an inclosed blank, the elaborate and searching nature of which filled her with indignation. The offense was the greater, she thinks, because with her application she had sent commendatory "references" from past employers of widely known respectability sufficiently vouching for her character and ability.

The blank itself is not submitted for our sympathetic inspection, but she says that she was asked to tell the name of her home town, her religion, her father's name, his profession and nationality, and if he were living, whether she was married or single, what her salary in her last position had been, and how long she had held it and why she had quitted it. She was also told that after receiving her reply they would let her know if they could "use" her, and "all for a salary of not over $25 a week!" Then the angry subject of inquisition adds:

> I felt that much of this was rather too personal information to go to a person whose identity was concealed under the number of a letter box, though his coarseness was well revealed by the questions he asked. I feel that I had an equal right to know how many times he had been divorced and also if his grandmother was a monkey. None of these questions concerns the quality of work a woman does; in short, they concern nobody but herself.

While the necessity for several of the questions here rehearsed is not obvious, none of them seems calculated to fill with horror minds not abnormally sensitive. Perhaps our troubled correspondent's rage would be mitigated if she were to read up on how the new efficiency experts fit round and square pegs into holes of corresponding shape. Possibly the tests to which she objected were designed to accomplish that innocent, even commendable, end. Anyhow, she didn't have to answer the questions if she didn't want to do so. That's something.

DEFENDS NURSES' BILL.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your paper is so widely read and so deservedly relied upon to give a fair, unbiased statement of any fact, that I feel called upon to draw your attention to some inaccuracies in a criticism of the nursing profession. The suggestion you make that the grades of nurses should be kept strictly separate so that the employer of a nurse would know exactly what he is getting and pay a fair price for it, large or small, is precisely the happy state of affairs for which the advocates of the amendment to the Nurse Practice act are working. This act is not designed to increase any one's income. It will simply mark a difference between the woman who has spent three by no means easy years in acquiring a profession, art, or calling, and the woman who has only spent six months or a year, or perhaps only taken a correspondence course. The amendment is to protect the public rather than the nurse.

It would be well for the public at large to know that the nurse is not actuated by mercenary motives only. Charity is not lacking more among nurses than among members of any other profession.

It does not seem quite fair to accuse the nurse of never showing her willingness to serve the poor as the physician does when the physician or surgeon can pay many calls or perform many operations in one day, some for nothing and others for large fees, while the nurse gives her whole time and strength to one case, seldom or never getting more than $4 a day, out of which she must pay for lodging and laundry—no small items in a nurse's finances. How can there be any comparison between the remuneration or the work of the two professions?

Furthermore, in a wide experience of nurses and nursing I have known many nurses to give their services most willingly to the sick poor for nothing. Perhaps reticence or modesty or a peculiar regard for the admonition not to let the right hand know what the left is doing may account for their seeming lack of charity.

COURTESY IN SAVINGS BANKS

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In your issue of Jan. 31 you printed on your editorial page, under some such caption as "A Foolish Bank Run," an article in which you not only very properly commented on the senselessness of the run on the Bank for Savings, but also indulged in some very laudatory remarks regarding savings banks in general. I can hardly refrain from a few words of comment on that editorial, especially in view of a letter from Mr. McWilliams, which appears in your issue of this morning.

Can you name any institution which is dependent for its existence on those with whom it does business that is as arrogant, as arbitrary, and as generally discourteous as the average savings bank? I know there are exceptions. I have had the pleasure of having dealings with two such savings banks, but what I have to say refers to the average, not the exception.

The attitude of the average savings bank toward its depositors is that a great favor is being conferred in receiving money for deposit, and that courtesy is a luxury not to be expected. That such a policy was possible twenty-five years ago I am perfectly free to admit. But times and conditions are changing. The general public is no longer willing to be browbeaten and bulldozed by the institutions with which it has business relations.

Suspicion breeds suspicion, and discourtesy breeds discourtesy. The humble depositor at the average savings bank is frequently treated with suspicion, and with almost consistent discourtesy. Is it, therefore, to be wondered at that upon the slightest provocation these people become suspicious of the savings bank?

Mr. McWilliams in his letter this morning said, very truly and wisely, that a little money might be well spent in a campaign of educational advertising. But there is more than that necessary. A campaign of decent treatment toward customers is equally essential.

THE TIPPING EVIL.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In connection with the recent announcement that the Illinois Athletic Club proposes to solve the problem of tipping by adding 5 cents to every food check, I wish to say that I do not approve of its method or any other method recognizing tips in any way, shape, or manner. The proper solution of the matter, in my mind, is to pass a national law and have it ratified by the various States, prohibiting tipping, and making it an imprisonable offense both to the donor and the recipient of the tip. To my mind tipping should be classified in the eyes of the law as bribery.

I have been a commercial traveler for twenty-eight years, and from experience and observation I feel that all hotels, railroads, and other corporations that employ people who expect tips make a sufficient amount of money to pay good living wages. There is not a business in the world that is any more profitable than the hotel business, and there is no business in the mercantile line where the people engaged in the same can, or would dare, occupy as defiant an attitude to their patrons as in the hotel business. They could all well afford to pay their employes sufficient wages to support them properly and not have them looking to the public for tips and becoming ordinary common menials.

There is no occupation in the world where any man can accumulate the same amount of money, with the same amount of brains, and nothing whatever at stake, as can some of the employes of the larger hotels in the country. Many of the head waiters and head porters become immensely rich within a period of twenty-five to thirty years, and there is not another position in the world where they could do equally as well, with the same ability and no capital invested. As I said before, there is only one solution of the situation and that is to have a law that will eradicate the system from the face of the earth.

WOMEN DON'T WANT IT.

Demand for Suffrage Said to Come from Small Minority.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I am in sympathy with the aim of the New York State Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage because I am a democrat, with a small "d." I believe in government with the consent of the governed. What is the situation we face? Since 1848 there has been conducted an agitation for woman suffrage. With what result?—that women themselves have organized to protest against having the burden of the vote thrust upon them. This is a new phenomenon in the history of the franchise. No body of men has ever opposed having a vote given to them. As one class of male citizens after another in civilized countries has been enfranchised that class has demanded and welcomed the vote with practical unanimity.

But women themselves assert that the case is different with them. Not men, but women, claim that the distribution of labor in the State should leave them free from voting—a work which properly belongs to men.

Under these circumstances, what does the democratic doctrine of government with the consent of the governed require shall be done? Clearly that the persons affected, the whole of womankind, shall themselves determine, by the democratic method of majority rule, whether they shall receive the ballot. Let women themselves decide. Take a referendum vote of the women. The question is peculiarly suitable for decision by such referendum. It is simple, it contains no complicated statistics nor financial calculations; it can be answered by a plain "Yes" or "No."

At present not more than 10 per cent. of women say they want to vote; at the other end are 10 per cent. who actively oppose receiving the vote, and in between are 80 per cent. who give no expression of their opinion. In a democracy a minority must convert itself into a majority, by persuasion, before it can govern. Let the suffragists direct their arguments against their unbelieving sisters. So soon as 51 per cent. of the women of voting age are officially found to want the ballot, I am sure that men will readily concede it to them. But so long as only 10 per cent. of women are willing to shoulder the burden of government, it is the duty of democrats to see to it that the 90 per cent. are not overruled. Let the majority control. Government must be by the consent of the governed.

NURSING INSURANCE.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I am much interested in the correspondence regarding the problem of skilled nursing in families of limited incomes. All honor to the doctor who gives so generously of his time and strength and knowledge for free treatment and they all do it, but is it quite fair to contrast a nurse's opportunities in this direction with those of a doctor? Are the two cases in the least comparable?

The physician can sandwich in here and there free treatment and still have sufficient time for his private practice upon which he depends for an income, although he must sacrifice rest and recreation thereby, while the nurse who gives free or semi-free services must give her whole time and thus cut herself off meanwhile from all income. She always risks, too, losing a desirable engagement, which might have led to large earnings had she been free to take it.

It must be remembered, too, that a nurse's income is practically stationary, regardless of experience or skill. For instance, twenty-five years ago the nurse's rate was $21 a week, now it is very generally $25, an advance of $4 (!) to meet the increased cost of living.

Again, is it logical to ask one member of a certain group of workers to put her hand in her pocket to donate $25, $50, or $75, (which is the actual cash value of the time she may be required to give) to another individual of the same wage-earning capacity?

Nursing organizations and all thinking women in the profession have for years concerned themselves with the problem of providing skilled nursing for those who could not afford to pay full rates. District, rural, school, and hourly nursing are the results of the effort on the part of nurses themselves to meet this demand. It is recognized by them that these meet only the needs of the very poor.

Is the suggestion of training a cheaper grade of nurses for families of small incomes through short-term schools, correspondence courses, &c., fair to those families? The very rich and the very poor are provided with skilled nursing care—and we must find out how to bring the same type of nursing to all classes. There should be no question of second best in nursing.

My solution is that of a system of Nursing Insurance. Why cannot some reliable insurance company establish a system of nursing insurance along the lines of accident insurance, working out an actuary's table of weekly payments which would entitle one to an analogous time of private nursing service? The insured to be privileged to select his own nurse from any registry of recognized standing in his community. He is thus relieved of all sense of obligation, and the nurse of all need for sacrifice.

"NO FALTERING."

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have been asked for a definite statement of my views in reference to the pending investigation of the canal and highways scandals. My position is briefly this: The people of New York have undertaken a series of monumental public works, involving the expenditure of over $100,000,000 for trunk lines of highways, a similar amount for the new barge canal, and probably $150,000,000 for the new Catskill Aqueduct. Not only by reason of the vast expenditure involved, but also from the fact that each one of these works so closely touches the personal welfare or business prosperity of the citizen, we are entitled to have that work carried through in the most efficient, the most scientific and the most economical manner possible under modern methods. The modern State cannot face the responsibilities thrown upon it by the requirements of modern life unless we rigidly turn our backs upon the corruption and maladministration which have too often in the past stained our history.

The events of the last few months have, however, revealed that a widespread system of graft and corruption has crept into these great works. Contractors have been held up for money and have paid money with the idea of getting political influence to help them in obtaining or performing their contracts. The evidence thus far made public indicates that most of this corruption, in the highways at least, has taken place since the Highways Commission instituted by Gov. Hughes was set aside by the varying programmes of the two administrations which succeeded him. While, therefore, most of the political names made public thus far have been those of Democrats, it is, nevertheless, quite possible and indeed has been rumored that some Republican politicians were also involved.

In a matter such as this partisanship should not enter to the slightest degree. The people of the State will regard it as a matter too serious and too nearly touching their vital welfare to permit it to be juggled with by either party.

Under the judicial system of this State, where the jurisdiction of the various District Attorneys who prosecute crime is limited to the boundaries of their own counties, it is evident that any investigation would be inadequate unless the matter is taken in hand by some one whose jurisdiction is more extensive. For that reason I think that Gov. Glynn made a most serious mistake and assumed a most serious responsibility when he declined to grant the request of the New York District Attorney, who has taken a leading part in the investigation thus far, for additional jurisdiction which would help him to follow clues of crime outside his own county.

While I was investigating the sugar-weighing frauds five years ago, and found that some of the clues ran beyond my own district into Long Island and New Jersey, I made a similar request for an extension of my jurisdiction to the Attorney General of the United States, and it was immediately granted as a matter of course. My prosecutions would have been largely fruitless otherwise.

Since, however, the Governor has taken the position that he has, there is now left no other body with powers adequate to conduct an investigation except the Legislature, and the Assembly is proposing to take it up. That body is in the hands of the Republicans. The responsibility for obtaining the facts which will inform the public as to what has taken place throughout the State and perhaps afford the basis of evidence for future criminal prosecution rests upon the Republican Party. If it falters in the least degree, if it lays itself open to the suspicion that it is less anxious to run down a Republican offender than a Democratic offender, it will instantly forfeit the confidence of the people and will instantly lose to the Republican Party all of the confidence which that party is seeking to regain. There must be no hint of a feeble or partisan inquiry. The probe of the investigator must be pressed with unflinching firmness.

Furthermore, in the selection of this committee and in the selection of its counsel it should be borne in mind that Mr. Whitman, the District Attorney of New York County, has already made great headway in such an investigation. He has already accumulated a large amount of evidence. It is of the utmost importance that whoever is chosen to carry on the investigation of the Assembly will work in full harmony with, and not at cross purposes, to the work of Mr. Whitman. In a matter of this sort there can be no divided empire. The work must be conducted with the single purpose of attaining the most thorough and far-reaching results. If Mr. Whitman himself cannot act as counsel for the committee a commission should be chosen which will work hand in hand with him and in the fullest and most harmonious co-operation.

THE BEAUTY SHOP.

All the day long, with hurrying feet
Women-folk pass me by;
But I wait in my rose-lit parlor small,
For, sooner or later, one and all
Will come to my siren cry:
"Here are unfading charms for sale,
All of you daily older grow—
Washes and powders, paint and dye,
Warranted not to show!"

The hours wear on in my room of rose,
Softly the daylight dies;
And I dream of a vision that beckoning goes,
A glorious creature of airy pose
Luring with mocking eyes.
'Tis the phantom of Youth, and through thick and thin
Women follow,—but only to find
That a Will-o'-the-wisp before them flies,
Leaving them far behind.

Fools! to think I can turn back the clock,
Charm away wrinkles, or Time defy!
I am old, and my jaded eyes must tell
The secret that elsewhere I hide so well,
For the eyes refuse to lie.
But into my cash-box the dollars roll
From worker and worthless, from high and low—
No trouble too great, nor too high the toll
For just a chance to once more enroll

SETH LOW INDORSES MAYOR'S POLICE PLAN

Thinks Col. Goethals Would Not Abuse Increased Powers Asked of Legislature

BUT HIS SUCCESSORS MIGHT

So He Approves of the Proposition to Place the Right of Review in the Mayor's Hands.

Former Mayor Seth Low has sent to Mayor Mitchel a letter approving the efforts being made by the latter to obtain Col. George W. Goethals as Police Commissioner of New York City. Not only does Mr. Low heartily indorse the selection of Col. Goethals, but he also approves the Police Department legislation proposed by Mr. Mitchel and now pending at Albany.

Dear Mr. Mayor: I have not had an opportunity to express to you my appreciation of the efforts you are making to secure Col. Goethals for Police Commissioner of the City of New York. In doing this you have set a standard so high as to be an inspiration both to the city and to the police force itself. The fact that Col. Goethals, after his distinguished service in connection with the construction of the Panama Canal, should be willing to consider this appointment upon certain conditions, is gratifying evidence of the opportunity for useful and distinguished service which the office of Police Commissioner of the City of New York offers at the present time.

In view of the fact that one of the conditions named by Col. Goethals as in his view essential to the success of the Police Commissioner is that authority should be given to the department to discipline and dismiss members of the force without review by the courts, I have been interested to examine the bills which you have caused to be presented to the Legislature for the purpose of meeting this condition made by Col. Goethals. The suggested change is a radical one, because it appears to involve, in the case of a member of the police force charged with fault, the substitution of a hearing for a trial, as well as the forbidding of a review by the court. The proposal, therefore, must be considered both from the point of view of the city and from the point of view of the members of the department.

Col. Goethals has shown himself in the face of the whole world to be an administrator of the very highest order. What he asks in the case of the Police Department is, in effect, simply the power which he has enjoyed at Panama in connection with the construction of the Isthmian Canal. The fact that he lays so much stress upon this point is evidence that, in his mind, such authority on the part of the administrative head of the Police Department is essential to the maintenance of proper dicipline and to the securing of the best results.

His work at the Isthmus is both argument for and justification of the condition which he has made. His attitude in this particular corresponds to the belief of a great body of opinion in the city. The right to resort to the courts to review the findings of the Police Department in matters of discipline is believed by me, as by many others, to be one of the fundamental difficulties in securing such a police administration as the city ought to have.

I have always supposed that this appeal to the courts rested upon the property right of the policeman in the pension fund, to which he was a contributor; and I am glad to notice that you propose to meet this feature of the situation by returning to any man dismissed from the force all of his contributions to the pension fund, with 4 per cent. interest. This seems to me to meet the demands of this requirements adequately and justly.

The question as now presented, therefore, is confined to the definite proposition whether, under a system which gives to the Police Department entire control of discipline, the members of the force are so reasonably assured of just treatment as to satisfy the ideals of this community in their behalf.

So far as Col. Goethals himself is concerned, there can be no manner of doubt that every member of the force would be entirely safe in his hands. At Panama he has organized a working body of more than 40,000 men, made up of representatives of almost every race to be found on earth, and out of such a force he has made, in a tropical climate, far away from home, not only an efficient body of workmen, but a body of men whose pride in their work is the admiration of every visitor. He has made them efficient; he has made them loyal; and he has given to them an esprit de corps of which every man on the force is conscious.

This human achievement, even more than the great engineering work done at Panama, is the true basis both of the success of Col. Goethals and of his fame. When I was at Panama two years ago I tried to learn the secret of his power. I was told by the representative of one of the European powers that this wonderful result had been achieved because every man on the Canal Zone, from the top to the bottom, knew perfectly that, at the hands of Col. Goethals, he would receive justice. Under him, therefore, the proposed system would certainly result in fair treatment of every member of the police force.

The question, therefore, narrows itself down to the general consideration as to whether the new system, when administered by a succession of men, would on the whole work as large a measure of justice to the members of the force as the present system. I do not know how this question is to be decided except by trial. I perceive that in your bills you have attempted to protect the members of the force from injustice by giving to them the right of appeal to the Mayor, and to the Mayor the authority, on the basis of such an appeal, to order a rehearing by the Police Department.

It seems to me that this provision is almost certain to prevent gross injustice, and it may also easily prevent the petty injustices which are, perhaps, even more to be feared by the men than the severer penalties. In view, therefore, of the history of the department on the side of discipline, and in view of the judgment of a man so experienced as Col. Goethals, I think that the system which you propose should be tried. The advantages which it offers to the community seem to me much greater than the risks which it imposes upon the members of the force.

If it should develop that the bills as proposed by you need amendment in the light of experience, the power to amend is always resident in the Legislature. It is said that, as a matter of fact, comparatively few men have been restored to the force by the courts; but it must not be forgotten that the power of the courts to review dismissals from the force and to order the reinstatement of men against the findings of the department is an ever-present power likely to interfere with proper discipline in many cases that never reach the courts for review.

I hope, therefore, Mr. Mayor, that the Legislature will pass the Police bills which you have presented, as a group; for these bills seem to me to be more or less related to one another, and should be treated as a whole. Very truly yours,

SETH LOW.
New York, Feb. 7, 1914.

Mr. Low's letter has served to revive conjectures as to the probability of Col. Goethals coming to this city as head of the Police Department.

Morality Play by Shut-In Society.

Members of the Shut-In Society, of which Mrs. Charles E. Merrill is the President, are arranging to present a morality play in the ballroom of the Plaza on Feb. 24, in connection with a Shrove Tuesday fair on the same afternoon for the fund for the beneficiaries of the society. Society folk who are to take part in the play, which is based on "The Castle of Perseverance," are now being rehearsed by F. H. Markoe, the author and producer of the masques at the Oxford Pageant in 1907.

SOCIETY DINNERS NO LURE TO WILSON

'HONOR GUESTS' IN DEMAND

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and Chief Justice and Mrs. White Forced to Decline Many Invitations.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—When President Wilson disappointed the entire Southern contingent in Washington last Monday by failing to appear at the Southern Relief ball, he wrote a note to the women in charge expressing regret that he felt obliged to deny himself all social attentions not essential to his office. This is taken to mean that for the next three years the Chief Executive will accept no invitations except from members of his Cabinet and will limit these diversions to one dinner party each season.

Mr. Clark, Speaker of the House, is also declining dinner invitations. As he expresses it, "he does not propose digging his grave with his teeth." The death of Vice President Garret A. Hobart has always been laid at the door of Washington society and the succession of dinner parties which he attended. Mr. Clark referred to Mr. Hobart's death in support of his position on the society dinner question.

The President and Mrs. Wilson are giving the usual series of state dinners at the White House, the fourth and last to be in honor of the Speaker of the House, on Feb. 17. They are not, however, making these dinner parties so large as those of their predecessors, and they are not giving weekly unofficial dinners. All of this shows that the new President is consistent in his social policy.

Washington dinners always have a "guest of honor." Otherwise many of the hostesses who come into prominence with each new Administration would have no ostensible motive for "requesting the pleasure of the company" of scores of notable men or smart women with whom they have no acquaintance. "To meet the Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan," on the upper left-hand corner of a dinner invitation, is worth at least one season's ordinary progress for the newcomer in society, notwithstanding that any well-behaved citizen can meet Mrs. Bryan, and frequently Mr. Bryan as well, on any Wednesday afternoon at their own hospitable home.

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and Mrs. White are "top-liners" as guests of honor, but they, like President Wilson and Speaker Clark, decline the honor except from a very few old friends. Having had some twenty years or so of social experience, the Chief Justice has avoided unwelcome attentions without serving notice on his would-be entertainers through the public press.

TO AID CHRYSTIE ST. HOUSE.

Symphony Club to be Heard in Concert on March 12.

The auxiliary committee of Chrystie Street House, a temporary home for unfortunate and homeless young men, has arranged a concert in aid of its work, which is to take place on Thursday afternoon, March 12, at 3 o'clock. The Symphony Club of New York, made up largely of society amateurs, and conducted by David Mannes, will play, and will be assisted by members of the Philharmonic and New York Symphony Orchestras. Alma Gluck will sing. Among the members of the Symphony Club are Mrs. John A. Hartwell, Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and many other society girls as well as young matrons.

The patronesses include Mrs. Charles B. Alexander, Mrs. Cornelius N. Bliss, Jr., Mrs. Henry Clinton Backus, Mrs. James Creelman, Mrs. Frederick Edey, Miss Laura J. Edwards, Mrs. William P. Hamilton, Mrs. Oliver Harriman, Mrs. Henry Baldwin Hyde, Mrs. Brayton Ives, Mrs. Darwin P. Kingsley, Mrs. J. Van Vechten Olcott, Mrs. John E. Parsons, Mrs. Ogden Mills Reid, Mrs. James Roosevelt, Mrs. Alexander Rubel, and Mrs. A. Murray Young.

Dance for Day Nursery.

Mrs. Robert R. Livingston will open her house, 11 Washington Square North, this evening for a private subscription dance in aid of the St. Agnes Day Nursery. Tickets may be had at the door at $4 each by those who have received invitations. Miss Clara Fargo and her brother, James C. Fargo, Jr., are to give some exhibition dances. A buffet supper will be served at midnight. Last year several hundred dollars were raised by a dance at Mrs. Livingston's for the same object.

THE NEW YORK SYMPHONY.

Modern French Music by d'Indy, Roger-Ducasse, Chabrier, and Widor

Mr. Damrosch constructed a programme of modern French music for the concert of the New York Symphony Society yesterday afternoon that was of unusual interest, being nicely modulated between the extremes of the contemporaneous Frenchmen. Vincent d'Indy's first symphony, with piano obligato, on a "Song of a French Mountaineer" no longer seems extreme or difficult of comprehension. It is spoken of, indeed, by the "advanced" with something of a patronizing tone, especially in comparison with the composer's second symphony, written twenty years later. It is considered to have elements of "immediate popularity"; the employment of a pianist creates a factitious interest; the chief theme and the subsidiary themes are under suspicion on account of their melodiousness and the frankness of their treatment; d'Indy's harmony is more in accordance with custom than it is in the later symphony, and there is more superficial interest.

All these demerits no doubt contributed largely to the pleasure that was derived from the performance. The listeners could again admire and feel the artistic significance of the ingenious changes and development that make the mountaineer's air germinate so variously in the several movements. It appears in its original form in the slow introduction; it is developed toward greater complexity in the movements that follow; in the last it appears as a rapidly occurring "ostinato" figure in the piano in the last, against which the orchestra piles up varied sonorities. The workmanship in all these movements is most adept. There are passages that are beautiful, strangely and hauntingly beautiful, not only in thematic substance, but also in the richness of the harmony and of the orchestral coloring. Emphasis has been laid on the fact that d'Indy intended the piano to be considered as an orchestral, not as a solo, instrument, projected against an orchestral background. In only a few passages is its value as an addition to the orchestral timbres evident. In others it is either submerged, or, as in the last movement, aggressively brilliant as in a concerto. Yet Mr. Clarence Adler played the piano part with excellent judgment and discretion, with abundant command of its difficulties.

Roger-Ducasse is one of the younger of the French composers, and his position in the contemporary art of France is clearly indicated in his "Variations Plaisantes sur un Thème Grave." Mr. Damrosch made a few preliminary remarks about the vigorous part taken in this composition by the obligato harp, differing from the conventional idea of the instrument as played by our grandmothers. It was played on this occasion by Miss Ada Sassoli. The music is fantastic in spirit, and its title indicates that it is not intended to be taken too seriously. It is full of the harmonic characteristics familiar in the music of the younger Frenchmen, and there is a frequency of pentatonic effects, as of the scale of five notes, that gives the music a distinctive impression.

Chabrier's "Bourrée Fantastique," a wilful and fascinating piece for the piano, brilliantly and appropriately transcribed for orchestra by Felix Mottl, and Widor's "Choral and Variations" for harp and orchestra, in which Miss Sassoli again played the obligato instrument, were the remaining numbers. Widor is a conservative, and his solidly constructed and sonorous music offered few problems for the listeners.

PHILHARMONIC CONCERT.

The only feature of novelty at yesterday afternoon's Philharmonic Concert at Carnegie Hall was the appearance as soloist of Ruth Deyo, an American pianist, who has not been heard here for some time. She played Schumann's concerto. Miss Deyo's style is simple and straightforward, and she may be said to have done her best work in adapting the piano part to the general scheme of the concerto, making it virtually a part of the orchestra, to express the composer's intention, rather than seeking to make it obtrusive as a solo part. This is a concerto which does not lend itself to a display of virtuosity, although it requires a virtuoso to play it. Miss Deyo met the demands satisfactorily, carrying through the famous syncopation of the last movement with as clear an expression of the tricky rhythm as is possible. To say that Mr. Stransky and the orchestra furnished a good accompaniment, means more than if the remark were applied to a good many other concertos.

The other numbers of the programme were Abert's arrangement of Bach's Prelude, Choral, and Fugue; Schubert's Entr'acte and Ballet Music from "Rosamunde," and Tschaikowsky's Symphony No. 4. The latter composition was splendidly played, a special word of praise being due the strings for their work in the scherzo movement, where their pizzicato dominates. This was played with great flexibility and admirable variety of effect.

TO SHOW CHARITY FILM.

The affiliated societies embraced in the Brooklyn Federation of Jewish Charities have inaugurated a plan that is unique for city-wide education by means of motion pictures that exhibit the effectiveness of the charity work being done by the federation. At a recent dinner of the federation the pictures met with great success, and now various charitable agencies all over the country have requested permission to use them in their cities.

A private performance has been arranged, therefore, to take place on Sunday evening, March 1, at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre. The men and women of Manhattan who are interested in the furtherance of charitable work throughout the greater city have been invited.

The pictures consist of a film-story in two reels, and illustrate graphically the work of the charitable societies of Brooklyn. An interesting musical programme by the following artists—Mme. Alma Webster Powell, Samuel Gardner, Sara Gurowitsch, and Salvatore de Stefano—has also been arranged for the evening.

"Faust" Scene at Century Concert.

At the Century Opera House concert last night one of the important features was the singing of the garden scene from "Faust," in which Ivy Scott, Walter Wheatley, Alfred Kaufman, Kathleen Howard, and Cordelia Latham participated. Others who sang were Morgan Kingston, Mary Carson, Morton Adkins, Gustaf Bergman, and Merle Alcock, the latter a new member of the company. Among the orchestral numbers were Ochs's variations on a German folksong, imitating famous composers.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Omar, the Tentmaker," moves to the Booth Theatre from the Lyric to-night.

The Fortnight Club gave a dance at Claridge's last night. The Fortnight Club, an organization of young showmen and actors associated with vaudeville, will incorporate this week. The incorporators will be Edward V. Darling, Douglass Fairbanks, I. Robert Samuels, Jack E. Gardner, Russel Colt, Walter J. Kingsley, Edgar Allan Woolf, Dr. H. L. Constable, Reed A. Albee, Barney Bernard, and Maurice Goodman.

The management of the Forty-fourth Street Theatre announces that only two more weeks remain of "The Girl on the Film" at the Forty-fourth Street Theatre. The last performance will take place on Feb. 21 and on the next Monday the English company will embark on a steamer bound for London, where the services of the members are required by George Edwardes for a new show at the Gaiety Theatre, London. "The Midnight Girl" will be the succeeding attraction at the Forty-fourth Street.

Dorothy Donnelly's professional matinee of "Maria Rosa," with Lou Tellegen at the Longacre Theatre, this afternoon, will be attended by many of the players in current New York productions, while the boxes are to be occupied by Miss Billie Burke, Miss Frances Starr, Miss Laurette Taylor, Miss Jane Cowl, Miss Valli Valli, Cyril Maude, Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Esmonde, and Miss Elita Proctor Otis.

Blanche Ring has invited all the show girls in this vicinity to be her guests at the next Wednesday matinee of "When Claudia Smiles" at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre.

The Mutual Film Company announces that H. Whitman Bennett, general press representative of the Shuberts, who is to leave that concern and join the film corporation forces, is not to replace or supercede any of the present department heads. Philip Mindil will continue as press representative and Mr. Bennett's efforts will be directed toward booking and exploiting feature films and bringing the film business into closer contact with the high-grade theatres.

INFANT ASYLUM ANNEX DEDICATED

New Building in the Bronx Cost $25,000 and All of Its Rooms Are Sunny.

EQUIPPED BY MRS. GREENHUT

A new building with fourteen isolated rooms arranged for the special treatment and observation of patients in connection with the work of the Hebrew Infant Asylum at Kingsbridge Road and University Avenue, the Bronx, was dedicated yesterday at the nineteenth annual meeting of the asylum.

The new structure cost $25,000, and is situated 200 feet from the southern end of the main building. Each room in it opens to air and sunlight. Here the infants under one year old will be placed when received at the institution and kept under observation for three weeks, or until such time as the physicians may decide that the child is free from the least evidence of disease, and may be safely transferred to the wards.

The equipment for the interior of the new building, including furnishings and medical appliances, is the gift of Mrs. J. B. Greenhut. The equipment cost $2,000

President Douglas Mathewson of the Borough of the Bronx, President Marcus M. Marks of Manhattan, and Nathaniel Meyer of the Hebrew Technical School for Girls, speaking at the dedicatory exercises, praised the helpful work of the asylum, a work which has no exact parallel in any other institution in the country, it was said.

It was announced by President Benno Neuberger of the asylum that the annual charitable benefit formerly given by the late Henry B. Harris, the theatrical manager, had been continued by his widow, and that her gift from that source this season amounts to $5,000, the proceeds of the entertainment she conducted with the assistance of a committee composed of S. S. Japha, Max J. Ahrens, and Melville Regensburg.

Mrs. S. S. Japha, President of the Ladies' Sewing Circle of the asylum, presented a check yesterday for $1,000, the proceeds from the circle's work. Other donations and gifts included $500 from Clara Levine, $1,000 from the estate of Nathan Herrmann, $500 from Jacob Paskus, and numerous smaller contributions. Membership dues for the year brought in $30,276.

During the year 622 infants were cared for, of whom 312 were admitted since the last report, and 382 of them remain. The infants, who are provided for until they reach the age of 5 years, were distributed during the year in this way: Adoption, 2; returned to parents, 180; Hebrew Orphan Asylum, 2; Hebrew Sheltering Guardian Society, 17; Brooklyn Hebrew Orphan Asylum, 7; Children's Aid Society and to hospitals, 11. Deaths during the year were 21.

President Neuberger announced that the State Board of Charities had investigated the asylum, and had found it to be satisfactory in every respect, and had graded its class and equipment in Class No. 1. In addition to the President these officers were elected: Charles Hirschhorn and Larry R. Cohn, Vice Presidents; S. F. Eleier, Treasurer, and Joseph L. Reiling, Secretary. Miss Caroline J. Weller was re-elected Superintendent. The Directors, all of whom were present, also were re-elected.

TEA DANCE FOR SUFFRAGE.

A number of prominent women are in charge of the dramatic tea dance for suffrage to take place next Monday afternoon in the ballroom of the Biltmore. Among them are Mrs. John Purroy Mitchel, Mrs. Charles S. Whitman, Mrs. William Curtis Demorest, Mrs. Carroll Beckwith, Mrs. Henry Villard, Mrs. James Mott Hartshorne, Mrs. Howard Mansfield, and Mrs. Leigh French.

The New York State Woman Suffrage Association originated the plan and will benefit from the proceeds. A short programme, conprising dances, readings, and a playlet, will precede the tea and the dancing. Edith Wynne Matthison will read a selection, Miss Florence Fleming Noyes will execute the "Dance of Victory," Laurette Taylor will do a little sketch, Lydia Lopoukowa will dance, and a scene from "La Cordette" will be acted by Mme. Pilar-Morin and Pauline Maurice. Dr. Anna Shaw will also give a short address on "Our Cause."

Among those who will be at the tea tables are Constance Collier, Kitty Cheatham, Eva Moss, Alice Harcourt-Fischer, Bijou Fernandez, Jane Cowl, Alexandra Carlisle, Billie Burke, Blanche Bates, Mary Nash, Isabel Irving, Alice Frohman, Margaret Wycherly, Mary Shaw, and Louise Closser Hale.

FRENCH HOSPITAL DANCE

The Woman's Auxiliary of the French Hospital, 450 West Thirty-fourth Street, has arranged a dance to take place in the Plaza ballroom on Thursday evening, Feb. 19. The dance will be held under the auspices of the French Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand. There will be a number of novel features, which will include French folk dances and old French Court dances.

The money raised from the sale of tickets will go to the Social Welfare Branch of the hospital to help poor French people who are discharged from the hospital, but are not able to resume their customary occupations.

Among those who are interested in the dance and who are working to make it a success are Mrs. Percy R. Turnure, President; Mrs. Jose M. Ferrer, First Vice President; Mrs. Theodore Seltzer, Second Vice President; Mrs. Blanche Paladini, Treasurer, and Mrs. Charles H. May.

Anti-Suffragists as Play Censors.

The Executive Committee of the New York State Association Opposed to Woman Suffrage, has decided to follow the lines laid down by the Catholic Committee for a list of approved theatrical performances. The first play to be listed is "Young Wisdom," and as a mark of their approval of this play 200 anti-suffragists will attend a performance at the Gaiety Theatre on Thursday evening, Feb. 19. Miss Alice Hill Chittenden is President of the association.

SCHIFF VISITS BROWNSVILLE

Praises the Work of the Hebrew Free School There.

At the annual meeting yesterday of officers and Directors of Brownsville's Hebrew Free School, 414 Stone Avenue, Jacob H. Schiff, the Rev. J. L. Magnes, and Joseph Barondess, Commissioner of the Board of Education, spoke to a large audience, including a host of children of the free school. Mr. Schiff said it was his first visit to Brownsville.

When introduced by Dr. Magnes, Mr. Schiff said:

"You have good reason to be proud of your grand institution. I myself am proud of it. I have lived in New York for almost half a century. I have seen it grow from a community of 50,000 Jews until there are now—well, over a million. Brownsville is a great Jewish community. Twenty-five or fifty years hence who can foretell how great a Jewish community there shall be here. Let us take care of the education of our children. They must be made into educated, self-respecting Jews. America presents great opportunities to the Jew. I feel certain the American Jew of the future will be the greatest of Jews. The Jew of the future will be as good a Jew as he is an American and as good an American as he is a Jew."

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8.—Proof of the early settlement of Jews in New York and of subsequent colonial activities of followers of that religion has been obtained by the Jewish Historical Society of this city, and will be submitted, with the results of other research work, at the annual meeting of the organization in this city, Feb. 22 and 23. The most important business of the session, it is conceded, will be a study of the minutes of Shearith Israel Congregation of New York City, which has just been brought together. This congregation flourished during the early colonization of the Empire State, and the events with which the official records of its organization and earliest endeavors deal are interwoven with the struggles of the new nation.

In all the States descended from the thirteen original colonies facts similar in importance to those brought to light in New York have been unearthed. One member of the committee who made an investigation in South Carolina found letters and documents proving the Jews to have been among the pioneers to settle in that colony.

Actress Who Quit "High Jinks" Company Went to Cornell Prom.

When "High Jinks" is played at the Casino Theatre to-night Miss Elaine Hammerstein, daughter of Arthur Hammerstein, the producer of the musical comedy, will be back in the cast, much to the delight of her father. Miss Hammerstein left the company last Thursday without giving any notice of her departure, and until last Saturday morning neither Mr. Hammerstein nor any of the members of the company knew where the young woman had gone. In the meantime Miss Hammerstein's part of Florence was being played by Bessie Skeer.

On Saturday Mr. Hammerstein got a telegram from his daughter, which said that she was in Ithaca attending the Junior Prom at Cornell as the guest of young Clifford Herbert, son of Victor Herbert, who is a student at the university. Rumors of an elopement by the young couple were quickly investigated by both Mr. Hammerstein and Mr. Herbert, but yesterday Miss Hammerstein telegraphed that she would be home this morning ready to resume her stage career which was begun when "High Jinks" was first presented here last December.

Mr. Sapirstein's Recital.

Mr. David Sapirstein, who gave his second piano recital yesterday afternoon in the Princess Theatre, again demonstrated the gratifying progress he has made toward artistic ripeness and maturity. He is a young New York artist whose growth has been observed with pleasure by those who are interested in the development of native musicianship. His programme was one that set him a severe task. He began with Beethoven's sonata, Op. 111, and included also nine preludes, four etudes, the F major Ballade, and the F major Nocturne of Chopin, Moszkowski's "Caprice Espanol," and Liszt's Etude de Concert in F minor, "Gnomenreigen," and second "Hungarian Rhapsody."

Wagner Night at Metropolitan.

It was a Wagner programme that was given at the Metropolitan Opera House last night, with Mme. Fremstad, Riccardo Martin, and Putnam Griswold as the soloists and Richard Hageman directing the orchestra. Mme. Fremstad sang Isolde's "Liebestod" from "Tristan and Isolde" and a duet from "Götterdämmerung" with Mr. Martin. The latter's solo number was the "Spring Song" from "Die Walküre," while Mr. Griswold sang two numbers from "Die Meistersinger." The orchestral numbers were the overture from "Tannhäuser," "Siegfried's Rhine Journey" from "Götterdämmerung," the prelude to "Die Meistersinger," and the "Huldigungsmarsch."

Mr. and Mrs. Imandt Wed 50 Years.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Imandt of College Point yesterday celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage, the feature of the occasion being a reception in a Manhattan restaurant. They have been residents of College Point for more than thirty years, and have four children and fifteen grandchildren.

The Rev. William Holloway Dies.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Feb. 8.—The Rev. William Holloway, 70 years old, who for thirty-four years was pastor of the Hoagland Memorial Church of Dover, N. J., died suddenly this morning at the Hotel Marlborough, 45 North Arlington Avenue, East Orange. His body was brought here this afternoon. Since his retirement from the Dover church and from active ministry five years ago Mr. Holloway has supplied numerous pulpits in Morristown and vicinity. At the time of his death he was in temporary charge of a pastorate in West Orange. He was pastor emeritus of the Dover church, and was also connected with several organizations in that place.

Charles H. Ivins.

RED BANK, Feb. 8.—Charles H. Ivins of the law firm of Durand, Ivins & Cartin, died last night at his home in Broad Street of tuberculosis, complicated with diabetes. Mr. Ivins was born at Rumson, near Red Bank, and lived on his father's farm until he was 19 years old. He studied law with the late Robert Allen, and was admitted to the bar in 1884. He served in the Assembly in 1890-91, and was Prosecutor of the Pleas for Monmouth County from 1890 until 1895. He was 59 years old.

George Miller Cadmus.

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., Feb. 8.—George Miller Cadmus, 75 years old, died today at his home, 36 Washington Street, Bloomfield. He held the office of Building Inspector for seven years. He was born in the old Cadmus homestead, 90 Montgomery Street, Bloomfield, Jan. 1, 1839. For thirty years he was Adjutant of William S. Pierson Post, G. A. R.

Jesse H. Baldwin Dies.

Jesse H. Baldwin, a hardware merchant at 33 Murray Street, who had been in business in this city for nearly sixty years, died yesterday at his residence, 58 West Eighty-fourth Street. He was born in this city 82 years ago, and was a member of the Consistory of the Madison Avenue Dutch Reformed Church. He leaves two children—Mrs. W. M. K. Olcott and H. W. Baldwin, clerk of the Municipal Court.

MRS. E. M. KNOX DIES.

Mrs. Edward M. Knox, wife of the hat manufacturer, died early yesterday at her home, 26 East Eighty-third Street. She had been ill for several weeks. Mrs. Knox was nearly 70 years old, and many years ago was well known in New York as a singer. She gave up an operatic career to marry. In the seventies the music-loving public knew her as one of the finest church singers in the city, and she gained considerable distinction under her maiden name of Florence Rice, under which she once appeared with Adelina Patti at the Star Theatre.

After her marriage she sang frequently for charity. In recent years Mrs. Knox led a quiet life and seldom left her home. Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning at her late residence.

The Rev. Patrick H. Barrett.

The Rev. Patrick H. Barrett, C. S. S. R., for the last five years connected with the Brooklyn Community of the Redemptorist Fathers, died yesterday at the age of 58 years. Dr. Barrett had served as a rector in Saratoga and also in Toronto and Quebec, Canada.

The Rev. Summerfield Snively.

NICE, Feb. 8.—The Rev. Summerfield Snively, rector of the American Church, died to-day. The body will be taken to Brooklyn, N. Y., for burial.

Obituary Notes.

SARAH ELIZABETH ROLSTON, widow of Roswell Graves Rolston, who was President of the Farmers' Loan and Trust Company for forty-five years, died on Saturday in her apartment at the Albemarle Hotel. Stromboli Emits Flame and Smoke as Baseball World Tourists Pass.

By JOHN J. McGRAW,
Manager of New York Giants.
Copyright, 1914, by John J. McGraw.

NAPLES, Feb. 8.—After a short visit at Alexandria, where our party of world tourists spent the night after the trip from Cairo, we had a delightful trip to Naples on the Prinz Heinrich. We passed through the Strait of Messina and had an excellent view of that city.

One of the greatest sights we have yet witnessed was the activity of the volcano Stromboli of the Lipari Islands. We all crowded on deck to witness the eruption of flame and smoke from the crater of the volcano. It was a marvelous sight. Stromboli rises more than 3,000 feet out of the sea, and was constantly active as we passed.

We got a hearty reception here from the representatives of the sporting clubs of the city. The people expected that we would play an exhibition game during our short stay. Such a request was sent out to the Prinz Heinrich by wireless before we landed, but through some mistake the message did not reach us. As there was a big race meeting here to-day, Mr. Callahan and myself deemed it wise not to play, as we thought that the game would interfere seriously with the attendance at the races.

These Neapolitans seemed to be enthusiastic sportsmen, and they are so anxious to see our players in action that a large number have planned to accompany us to Rome, a distance of 160 miles, and see our first exhibition game there on Wednesday.

We are stopping at the Bertolini Hotel, high up on the cliff back of the city, with a magnificent view of the bay and Vesuvius. Every member of the party spent to-day sightseeing, and we accomplished more in this line than in any one day during our trip. We spent much time looking through the Castle St. Elmo, which is on the highest summit of the city; also the Castle dell' Ovo, the Castle Nuovo, the National Museum, with its wonderful art collection; the Monastery of San Martino, the Church of St. Maria del Carmine, the famous aquarium, and Mount Vesuvius.

The trip through the ruins of Pompeii was one fo our most delightful experiences, and as a special favor Mr. Callahan and myself were escorted through some of the newly excavated areas of the ancient city, destroyed 1,900 years ago by an eruption of Vesuvius. The party finished the day by attending a performance of grand opera at the San Carlos Opera House.

Our hosts here were very anxious to have us stay here until Tuesday, but we wanted to get to Rome, where we will play on Wednesday and Friday. All members of the party are well.

We plan to leave here to-morrow at noon for Rome, where a private audience has been arranged with the Pope for Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock. We will leave Rome for Nice and Monte Carlo on Saturday.

Pitcher Hughes Joins Minors.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—Thomas Hughes, pitcher on the Washington American League baseball team for many years, has signed with the Los Angeles team, Pacific Coast League. A star on the baseball diamond when some of the present-day celebrities were babies, Hughes still is an effective pitcher, though his arm no longer will stand the strain of regular turns before big league batsmen.

BASEBALL AT COLUMBIA.

Candidates for the Columbia baseball team will be called out exceptionally early this year in order to prepare for the hard season. All of the candidates for both the 'Varsity and freshmen teams will be asked to report to the cage by the middle of next week, when the training will get under way.

For the present the team will have to get along without a regular mentor, inasmuch as no coach has been selected to train the Columbia nine this season. Billy Lauder, who coached the Blue and White nine last year, is still uncertain as to his plans, and Graduate Manager Harry A. Fisher is still holding the place open in the hope that Lauder will be able to take up the coaching again this Spring.

In the early part of the outdoor season and before he goes South Eddie Collins, who played at Columbia prior to joining the Athletics, has promised to give the Columbia fielders a week or two of his time in showing them some of the real points of the game. The season for the Blue and White team opens on March 25, giving the team little more than a month in which to get into shape.

BOXING BOUTS THIS WEEK.

The all-star show of the Garden A. C. Thursday night, arranged as a substitute card after the postponement of the Gibbons-McFarland bout, holds first place on the boxing programme of the present week at local clubs. The Empire A. C., which has been alternating with the Garden A. C. in putting on the feature shows, will be closed during the week. All the other clubs will put on their usual shows.

The star bout of the Garden show will bring together Frankie Burns of Jersey City and Young Fox, the English bantamweight, who has not lost a bout since he came to America. Fox is now a challenger of Johnny Coulon for the featherweight title. He has not boxed any one of Burns's ability since coming here, and his skill will be severely tested. In the ten-round semi-final Tom Gibbons of St. Paul, a brother of Mike Gibbons, will oppose George Weinert, who has sprung into popularity by his work against Battling Levinsky and George Ashe. In the opening ten-round bout Young Otto, the hard-hitting lightweight, will mix with Mike Mazie.

The Irving A. C. of Brooklyn has arranged an all-star show for to-morrow night, featuring with two ten-round bouts between boxers of note. In the final event Jack Britton of Chicago and Johnny Dohan of Brooklyn will be the contenders. The other ten-round bout will bring together Sapper O'Neill, the English lightweight, and Phil Bloom of Brooklyn.

The Broadway Sporting Club of Brooklyn will also feature its show to-morrow night with two-ten round bouts. In the main event Johnnie Dundee will oppose Willie Jones, the Brooklyn featherweight, and in the semi-final Jack Driscoll and Tommy Madden, Brooklyn light heavyweights, will come together The same club has signed Joe Coster and Patsy Callahan for Saturday night.

At the Atlantic Garden A. C. to-morrow night Johnny Daly and Pinky Burns, local bantamweights, will feature the card. Patsy Cline, the ex-amateur, and Young Ketchel will figure in the semi-final.

At the Olympic A. C. of Harlem to-night the three ten-round bouts will be between the following: Red McConville vs. Eddie Clifford, Barney Houston vs. Eddie Martin, and Willie Doyle vs. Willie Jackson.

At the National A. C. of Brooklyn Thursday night the three ten-round bouts will show Walter Butler vs. Fighting Fitzpatrick, Charlie Alberts vs. Eddie Carroll, and Joe Locap vs. Young Joss.

Amateur boxers get their chance in the tournament to be held on Thursday and Saturday nights at the Crescent A. C. of Brooklyn. The classes include boys of 110, 120, 130, 140, and 150 pounds.

The usual week-end shows will be held Saturday night at the Fairmont, Sharkey, and Atlantic Garden Clubs of New York; the National, Irving, Gowanus, Vanderbilt, and Dexter Park Clubs of Brooklyn; the Queensboro A. C. of Long Island City, and the West Brighton A. C. of Staten Island.

AMERICAN CYCLISTS LOSE.

McNamara and Moran Finish Third in Brussels Six-Day Race.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 8.—The six-day bicycle race which ended to-night was won by the Dutch-Belgian team, Johann Stol and Cyril Vanheuwaert, who covered 4,502 kilometers (2,800 miles). The French team, Lapize and Miquel, finished second, and the American team, McNamara and Moran, third. Walthour and Cameron were eighth, while Root and Thomas abandoned the race in the 136th hour.

Intercollegiate Basket Ball League.

Although the race for the Intercollegiate Basket Ball League championship is almost half finished and Columbia is leading with a clean slate of four victories and no defeats, it is by no means certain that the Blue and White will be on top at the end. Cornell came with a rush against Yale on Saturday and literally swept the Blue off its feet in a loose guarding game, winning by a score of 40 to 26. As all the teams will be in action again this week next, Saturday night, when Yale faces Dartmouth, should see some vital changes in the league standing. Cornell and Princeton will fight each other to a finish at Ithaca. Another game on which much will depend is the Columbia-Pennsylvania encounter at New York on Thursday night.

Seaton Turns Down $12,000 Offer.

DELTA, Col., Feb. 8.—A $12,000 offer from the Federal League has been turned down by Thomas Seaton, pitcher, of the Philadelphia Nationals, it was learned to-day. Seaton yesterday signed a contract with the Philadelphia Club.

MAJORS ASKED TO DROP DRAFT RULE

As a measure to strengthen the clubs of the International League and the American Association, President Edward Barrow has written to the National Commission requesting that the draft rule, which permits the major leagues to carry off their best players at the end of each season, be eliminated. This is the most important move yet suggested against the Federals, and it may be adopted as a war measure.

The International League and the American Association will have to bear the brunt of the contemplated invasion of the Federal League. The International will be hard hit in Baltimore, Buffalo, and Toronto if the plans of the outlaws go through and the American Association in Indianapolis and Kansas City. By dropping the draft, these two leagues see where they can retain their star players from season to season and battle with the Federal oposition through legitimate competition.

The National Commission will hold a meeting here within the next few days, and President Barrow and President Thomas Chivington of the American Association will at that time put forward their plan to eliminate the draft.

There is sure to be opposition to this plan not only from the major leaguers but also from the players. It is possible that the Players' Fraternity will have serious objections to the proposed change on the grounds that it will prevent the players of the two Class AA leagues from advancing to the majors, which is the ambition of every minor league baseball player.

When the International League club owners meet at the Hotel Victoria to-day they will probably consider the proposition of placing one of their clubs in Brooklyn. It has been suggested that the Jersey City Club be transferred to Brooklyn. It is understood that President Ebbets of the Brooklyn Club is willing to have another team come into Brooklyn territory as a war measure against the Federals, but not under other conditions. However, the Brooklyn magnates realize that it is only a question of time before there will be another club in their territory, and if it is expedient at this time, will be willing to countenance the change during the present season.

One plan which has been put forward is to have the club play in Brooklyn on days when the Dodgers are away and play in Jersey City on Sundays, as there would be no chance to play Sunday ball in Brooklyn.

August Herrmann of Cincinnati, the Chairman of the National Commission, came to town yesterday primed for the big baseball conclave, which is to be held here this week by the National, American, and International Leagues. Baseball men from all over the country will be here, presumably to fix up the schedules for the coming season, but the deeper purpose behind the big meeting is to decide on what action organized baseball is going to take against the Federal League.

"I do not believe that it will be necessary for us to go to law with the Federals," said Mr. Herrmann last night at the Waldorf-Astoria. "It looks to me to be a physical impossibility for the Federals to open the season. In five of the eight cities on their circuit their baseball plants have not yet been built, and while they have acquired the sites for their parks, it does not seem possible to get them in shape in time to play this season. In Chicago, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Baltimore, Buffalo, and Toronto, the work of building grand stands has not been started and it takes time to construct them.

"I am afraid many of the young players have made a serious mistake in going to the Federal League, because in the event of their not realizing the prosperous future they have anticipated organized ball will be very reluctant about taking back men who have shown that they have no respect for contracts. We have lost Packard and Wickland, but will not take them back."

The National League Rules Committee, consisting of Umpire Hank O'Day, Miller Huggins, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, and John B. Foster, Secretary of the Giants, will meet here to-day to discuss changes in the code. Whatever changes they decide upon will be sumbitted to the American League Rules Committee, and at a joint meeting.

FEDERALS READY TO SUE.

Legal Action to Secure Services of Killifer and Kirkpatrick.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8.—Legal action to secure the services of William Killifer and Enos Kirkpatrick to the Federal Baseball League will be begun within ten days, according to an announcement to-night by Edward E. Gates of Indianapolis, chief counsel for the league, who spent the day in conference with James Gilmore, Federal President.

Mr. Gates said, however, that probably no legal effort would be made to keep Leonard Cole with the Federals, as the league officials had decided that he probably was under a moral contract with organized baseball at the time of signing his Federal agreement.

The suits to hold the players will be brought by the Chicago and Baltimore clubs, which hold the contracts of Killifer and Kirkpatrick, respectively. The clubs will be supported by legal and financial aid of the league.

Chicago Federals Sign Cassidy.

DENVER, Col., Feb. 8.—Harry Cassidy, outfielder of the Denver team of the Western League, has signed with the Chicago team of the Federal League. He has been told to report March 1 for assignment, it was learned to-day. His salary will be $3,600 annually for three years.

FULL SCORES AT TRAPS.

Honors were pretty evenly divided at the Larchmont Yacht Club traps yesterday in their regular weekly shoot, for out of the nine matches completed A. W. Allison won three, R. L. Spotts and D. F. McMahon two each, and T. F. McCahill and A. W. Fitzgerald one each.

Despite the handicap of a strong northwest wind, full scores were returned in six of the matches, and ties had to be shot off in two to determine the winners.

In winning the leg for the Monthly Cup A. W. Allison, with a handicap of 2, returned a full score of 25. He did the same in the Visitors' Cup contest, winning after a shoot-off with W. E. Ferguson, who had tied him. Allison rolled up a total of 120 in the 125 clay-bird handicap match on a handicap of 12, and won it.

Ralph L. Spotts again qualified as high gun. This time his total was 136 out of the possible 150, H. Sanford being the runner-up, with 135. He also captured the first take-home trophy with a full score of 25 straight, for he shot from scratch. T. J. McCahill, A. B. Jones, A. W. Allison, and C. W. Berner tied Spotts with full scores, but he won in the shoot-off.

With 47 breaks out of his possible 50 "Danny" McMahon won the leg for the Accumulation Cup, beating H. Sanford by two "birds." He also won the 15 "bird" scratch shoot with a full score. The 10 "bird" scratch contest was won by T. J. McCahill with a full score, and A. W. Fitzgerald proved the winner of the second take-home trophy.

YACHTSMEN GUNNERS WIN.

Manhasset Bay yachtsmen visited Knollwood Country Club at White Plains yesterday and engaged in their annual team match at the traps, with the conditions 100 "birds" per man. The invaders gathered in the trophy with a team score of 371 against 330 for the home aggregation.

J. W. Alker accounted for the visitors' trophy presented by W. H. Sykes, Jr., when he broke 79, which, with his handicap of twelve, brought his aggregate up to 91. The summaries of the matches follow:

Visitors' Trophy, 100 Birds.—J. W. Alker, 79, 12—91; H. L. Hoyt, 83, 4—87; F. L. Richards, 61, 24—85; E. A. Sierck, 76, 8—84; E. H. Lewis, 65, 16—81; C. M. Gould, 52, 28—80; Dan Smith, 68, 8—76; E. P. Alker, 59, 16—75; W. H. Lindeman, 33, 28—61.

New Rochelle Y. C. Weekly Shoot.

In a strong wind from the northwest that made high scores well nigh impossible, the nine men who faced the New Rochelle Yacht Club traps yesterday succeeded in completing six matches, in two of which shoot-offs were required to determine the winners.

D. Giriat showed the best form for the day by winning three of the matches. He first captured the 15 "bird" scratch prize, breaking 13 blue rocks. Then he tied A. Chandler with 21 in the Accumulation Cup match, winning the leg in the shoot off. His third win was the leg for the Stevens Cup distance handicap in which he tied J. P. Donovan with 20 breaks, both having 19 yards as their handicap.

A. Chandler won the 10 "bird" scratch contest with 9 breaks, and C. A. Marsland proved the winner of the leg for the Monthly Cup with a full score of 25 aided by a handicap of 4. The prize in the 25 "bird" sweepstake match went to B. R. Stoddard with 23 breaks on a handicap of 4.

West Point to Play Polo Here.

The West Point officers' polo team will play a polo match to-morrow evening with the Durland team at Durland's Academy. The match will be the feature event of the weekly equestrian entertainment, and promises to be one of the best witnessed in this city. The members of the Durland team have been practicing during the last three months, and in a recent practice game against a picked team won, 8 goals to 1. The local players will have an advantage over the West Point team, as the latter will play in a foreign school, and in addition will use the Durland ponies. The usual ride will open the entertainment, and special horse show classes of high-steppers and saddlers will be judged before the game.

Swimming at the Sportsmen's Show.

With the entry blanks for the swimming carnival to be held in the Garden in connection with the Sportsmen's Show Feb. 21 to 27 going out to-day, the followers of water sports will have a line on who will compete at the revival of indoor water racing by the end of this week. The feature of each day's card will be the diving competition, for which the management has received the promises of all of the medal winners in this section. The star race for each day's card promises to be the free-for-all handicap, with the men racing under imposts given according to their best performances. This race will be an innovation in local circles, but Director Wahle is of the opinion that he can handle the times of the men to advantage, giving the novice a chance against the champion.

EASY VICTORIES IN SQUASH COURT

With the completion of play on the courts of the Heights Casino, Brooklyn, yesterday eight players remained to compete for the national amateur squash tennis championship, the third round of which will be started to-day. Five matches were played during the second day of the tournament, all of which were decided in straight sets.

George Whitney, the present champion and D. Alfred Stillman 2d, the former title holder, came through the second round with flying colors, while Malcolm D. Whitman, the old lawn tennis expert, was also numbered among the survivors. Of the eight players remaining in the competition four represent the Harvard Club, two wear the colors of the Heights Casino and one each come from Columbia University and Crescent Athletic clubs.

Dr. Stillwell was opposed by his clubmate, J. V. Onativia, Jr., but the former champion was not required to exert himself to win. He played the side walls and corners in puzzling fashion and completely outclassed Onativia, who was hardly at his best on the strange court, and scored but eight points in the two sets.

The match between Lyle E. Mahan, Columbia University Club, and W. W. Pell, Crescent Athletic Club, was the closest of the day, and a nip and tuck contest was witnessed by a big gallery. Pell put up a surprisingly strong game, and there was little to choose between the pair at the end. Mahan always appeared to have just a trifle more in reserve than his opponent, and in the end won out 18—14, 18—17. Five points extra were played in each set, the aggregate being 36 to 31.

The pairings for the third round will be Cornell and Whitman, Whitney and Abbott, Bull and Mahan and Stillman and Irving. The summary:

National Squash Tennis Amateur Championship.—Second Round—Malcolm D. Whitman, Harvard Club, defeated Josiah O. Low, Heights Casino, 15—13, 15—2; George Abbott, Heights Casino, defeated E. W. Putnam, Columbia University Club, 15—6, 15—11; Lyle E. Mahan, Columbia University Club, defeated W. W. Pell, Crescent Athletic Club, 18—14, 18—17; Dr. Alfred Hillman, 2d, Harvard Club, defeated J. V. Onativia, Jr., Harvard Club, 15—5, 15—3; L. du Pont Irving, Harvard Club, defeated E. du Pont Irving, Harvard Club, 15—3, 18—15.

RECORD DOG SHOW ENTRY.

Nineteen hundred and twelve dogs, which by duplication make 3,095 entries, have been nominated for the thirty-eighth annual show of the Westminster Kennel Club at the Grand Central Palace, Feb. 23 to 26. This is a slight increase in both respects over last year, maintaining the show's pre-eminence as the largest in the world as to dogs actually benched. The entries for the pack specials, each pack to be of five couples from a recognized hunt club, for American foxhounds, English foxhounds, harriers, and beagles, are not included in this tabulation. They are to be judged on Hound Day, the last day of the show. Bulldogs lead in numerical strength, with 116 nominations. Next in line are the Boston terriers, 105, and cocker spaniels, 80, a 20 per cent. advance since last year. Pointers and English setters are the largest classes in a long time, while the other "gun dogs" have held their own. There are double the number of chow chow and Pekingese named that appeared in 1913. This is the case also with the Scottish terriers; the other terriers hold their strength, the Airedales, with 84, forming the strongest breed. The five variety classes, a new feature, have drawn 61 entries, the dogs named in each division being of such a high quality that the English judge, Midgley Marsden, will have his work cut out to select the winners.

Three New Class R Yachts.

Commodore W. H. Childs, C. D. Mallory and Richard A. Monks have ordered boats in the new R class that is being promoted by the Indian Harbor Yacht Club. Another boat of the same size is being built at Herreshoffs. The craft will race for the new Greenwich Cup that has been offered by the organization for interclub competition. Richard A. Monks, Chairman of the Regatta Committee of the Indian Harbor Yacht Club, states that the first series for the trophy will be sailed on Long Island Sound, off Greenwich, starting on Monday, July 6. The first race will be over a triangular course, the legs measuring aproximately two miles each. Competing yachts will sail twice around the course. The second race will be either to windward or to leeward and return, over a course measuring three miles to the leg. The course will be sailed twice. Should a third race be necessary it also will be over a triangular course.

HARRIERS BRAVE COLD.

In spite of a strong, biting wind, and zero weather, about seventy-five harriers took part in the two road races held yesterday under the auspices of the St. Anselm's A. C. The runners were paced by Jimmy Fitzgerald, the professional, who finished second to A. E. Wood on Saturday. In the short race of three and one-quarter miles Vic Voteretsas of the Greek-American A. C. finished first in the fast time of 16 minutes 55 seconds. He was nearly one minute ahead of F. Foran of St. Anselm's, with L. Schmidt of the Mott Havens third. The latter two runners made an interesting contest for second place.

William Rozett, the veteran Marathon runner, wearing the colors of the Irish-American A. C., captured the long race of nine miles. It was a preparation for the Seagate Marathon. Harry Jensen of the Bronx Church House was second, and H. Lucas of the Glencoe A. C. third. The winner had a commanding lead at the finish, while Jensen was only two yards ahead of Lucas.

A. Roth of the Mohawk Athletic Club won the weekly five-mile road race of the Bronxdale A. C. yesterday from a good field of harriers. Roth led from start to finish and won by 200 yards from F. Lux, his clubmate. G. Green, another Mohawk runner, was third. The order of finish: A. Roth, Mohawk A. C.; F. Lux, Mohawk A. C.; G. Green, Mohawk A. C.; S. Selig, Bronxdale A. C.; R. Mallary, Mohawk A. C.; G. Ghear, Mohawk A. C.; S. Weis, Mohawk A. C.; G. Crawford, Mohawk A. C.; W. Boak, Trinity A. A.; A. Cammeyer, Bronxdale A. C.; W. Harnett, Mohawk A. C.; L. Wallace, Bronxdale A. C.; F. Breidenbach, Bronxdale A. C.; H. Zippenck, Bronxdale A. C., and R. Mannering, Raymond Lyceum.

H. Browser, running for Evening Recreation Centre 188, won the five-mile run of the Sheridan A. C. Browser and S. Silverstein of the Sheridan A. C. led the field to the last 200 yards, when the pair opened up a big gap, and in a sprint to the tape Browser won by a few yards. The finish: H. Browser, E. R. C. 188; S. Silverstein, Sheridan A. C.; P. Blum, Rutgers Place A. C.; J. Venturini, Ozanam A. C.; J. Flynn, unattached; S. Baker, Sheridan A. C.; L. Levy, Rutgers Place A. C.; A. Lefkowitz, Sheridan A. C.; S. Rochnes, unattached, and M. Levenson, Sheridan A. C.

WALKERS IN LONG HIKE.

There was a good turnout of members of the Walkers' Club of America yesterday for the last test for the big handicap Washington's Birthday, from City Hall to Coney Island. Fifty of the athletes of the club responded to the call, and one of the most successful walks of the season was the outcome.

Among those who took part were Edward Renz, the three-mile champion of America; Thompson, Morrell, Hickey, Sneider, Kestenbaum, Schiffman, Sundquist, Goldstein, Levine, Smith, Lichenstein, Nindleman, Samuelson, Stevens, White, Bressler, Naisser, Miller, Greengold, Baunstein, Baumgartner, B. Nicols, Uckert, Langer, and Garine.

Prizes for the Washington's Birthday race will be given by James E. Sullivan, S. H. P. Pell, Col. Robert M. Thompson, Miss Helen Ware and others. The scratch men will be Richard F. Remer, Dick Gifford, the indoor champion, and Edward Renz, with the limit mark for the ten and a fourth miles arranged at twenty minutes.

RUNS 156 MILES ON ROAD.

A remarkable road-running performance was recently accomplished by C. W. Hart, a well-known English athlete, who in running between Brighton and London covered a distance of 156 miles. His task was to get to London, back to Brighton and return to the metropolis, the estimated distance being 156 miles. According to the time recorded by the officials of the run, Hart required 44 hours and 41 seconds for the run.

An analysis of the run showed that the runner covered the first two stages of the journey in 22 hours and 27 minutes, which was almost doubled in the last leg. Notwithstanding meeting with a fog when nearing the end of the journey, the runner finished strong.

Coast Artillery Games.

Under the auspices of the Ninth Company, Coast Artillery Corps, N. G. N. Y., (the Royal Arcanum Company,) and in the Royal Arcanum Armory, the field games will be held on Feb. 23 in celebration of Washington's Birthday, which falls this year on a Sunday. More than twenty-five teams from colleges and organizations of the army and navy are expected to compete. The feature will be an eight-and-a-half-mile hike for teams of eight men each. The hikers, who are expected to exceed 200 in number, will start from the Times Building at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and finish at the armory at Sumner Avenue. The last quarter of the hike will be finished indoors in the armory. At the time the hike starts from Times Square the games in the armory will begin. Chief among them will be an intercollegiate relay race, in which teams from Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Pennsylvania, and Columbia are expected to be entered. The military events, including the hike, are open to teams from the regular army and navy, the Marine Corps, the National Guard, and the Naval Militia, without regard to State lines. Teams from New Jersey and other States already have been entered, it was said yesterday.

FAIR SWIMMERS ORGANIZE.

Talk of National Body Since A. A. U. Barred Women Competitors.

The action of the Amateur Athletic Union in forbidding the holding of races for women in connection with sanctioned swimming meets has started a movement toward the organization of the fair swimmers for competitive purposes, and it begins to look as if before long associations would be formed in many cities and eventually combine in a national body.

The Brookline gymnasium mermaids who have hitherto taken part in all the open water carnivals will hold a meet of their own on Feb. 18, and mere man will not be allowed to invade the pool for the occasion, even as a spectator. It is proposed by the Brookline lady paddlers to join hands with the representatives of other clubs, elect officers, and run many like affairs in the future, under their own supervision.

Steps have also been taken to follow a similar plan in Pittsburgh, Chicago, and San Francisco, and the seed which has been sown promises soon to bear fruit.

Soccer on Many Fields.

Brooklyn's soccer team amassed its eighth straight victory in the championship series of the National League yesterday afternoon when they humbled the Newark Caledonians at Marquette Oval, Brooklyn, by the one-sided score of 6 goals to 0.

At Harrison Oval, Newark, yesterday afternoon, the champion West Hudsons, who are now leading the National League, played an exhibition game with the Philadelphia Hibernians and defeated them by 3 goals to 1.

The Jersey A. C. and the Clan McDonalds of Brooklyn met in a championship game of the National League at West Side Park, Jersey City, yesterday afternoon, and after ninety minutes of play the battle ended with honors even, each side scoring 2 points.

Ireland met Ireland on the soccer gridiron when the New York Celtics and the Brooklyn Celtics clashed in a New York State Amateur League game at Edison Field, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon. The Brooklyn team came out on top of a 5 to 2 score.

Meeting the strong Scottish Americans in a championship game of the National League at New Bronx Oval, yesterday afternoon, the Bronx United eleven had a hard tussle before they conquered their opponents by the score of 1 goal to 0.

Hudson United Soccer team's followers had a big day yesterday when both their Metropolitan and New York State Amateur League teams each gained two points in their respective leagues by victories. The Metropolitan League team was scheduled to play the West New York team at Nurges's Oval, but the West New Yorkers did not put in an appearance, and the game was awarded to the Manhattanites. The New York State team was stacked up against the Greenpoint Celtics at Huber's Oval, and walked off the field winners by the score of 5 goals to 2.

The Germans also won a double-header yesterday, the Metropolitan League eleven taking the Fulton A. C. into camp to the tune of 3 to 2, and the New York Amateur team winning by a forfeit over the Anglo Saxons by non-appearance.

In a hard-fought New York State Amateur League game, the Overseas Wanderers triumphed over the Clan Scott eleven by the score of 1 to 0.

In a New York State Amateur League championship game played at Suburban Oval, Brooklyn, yesterday afternoon, the Fulton A. C. defeated the Clan Chisholm contingent by 3 goals to 1.

At a protracted meeting of the American Football Association, held at the Continental Hotel in Newark, Saturday night, three protests of teams competing in the cup tie series were decided. The verdict in each case was against the protesting clubs, namely Brooklyn against Tacony on account of encroachment of spectators; Victors against Jersey A. C., on account of a prolonged interval, which was ruled by President Brown to be no protest; and West Hudsons against Bethlehem, because of alleged delay in starting.

CLOSE FIGHT IN HOCKEY.

Honors are fairly even between the leading clubs in the race for the Amateur Hockey League championship, with the St. Uicks one game ahead of the Hockey Club on actual games played. The latter club is scheduled to try conclusions with the Irish-American team to-morrow night at the St. Nicholas Rink.

On Thursday night the Crescents and St. Nicks will meet for the second time, and a good game is assured. Sars Kennedy, who was injured in a game several weeks ago, has resumed practice, and will take his place in the game, and every effort is being made to induce Artie Liffiton to rejoin the team for the final game.

On Saturday night Princeton and Harvard will play their second game in the intercollegiate championship series, and already the college hockey enthusiasts are trying to figure out the possible outcome of this meeting, which may decide the title. Harvard defeated Princeton in the first game played at Boston, and has two victories over Yale.

Morningside Amateur Billiards.

Ten amateur billiardists will begin competition to-night at the Morningside Billiard Academy, 125th Street and Lenox Avenue, in an 18.2 balkline tournament which may result in the winner and runner-up entering the ranked list. The tournament will combine an elimination and round-robin series. The games will be of 100 points each, the first five to be on the elimination style, while the five survivors will take up the last half in a round-robin schedule. This will facilitate matters to a great extent. The first half, with the ten players, will end this week, and the real contests for the two prizes will begin next week. W. Mason, winner in 1913, and his runner-up, E. Dumahaut, are both entered again, and the newly recruited players will have to show expert form to win from the two veterans.

If you are interested in a 1914 Buick motor car investigate and order now. There will not be enough 1914 Buick cars to supply the demand. We are building 30,000 Buick automobiles this year; 45% of these cars are now in the hands of owners; 85% of the entire 1914 output was contracted for by dealers last September; if possible these dealers would double their orders now. A very large percentage of cars allotted to our retail department for early Spring deliveries have already been sold. In October, November, December and January we more than doubled last year's business—WHY?

Buick Motor Cars are the highest grade and best finished automobiles sold at a moderate price. They lead all others for endurance, gasolene economy, easy riding qualities, hill climbing and speed. Do not be disappointed again this Spring; take a demonstration and place your order now. We furnish fur coats and robes that will keep you warm and Buick motor cars run well in any weather.

UNTERMYER BUSY ON 5 NEW TRUST BILLS

Will Incorporate in Them the Changes He Suggested to the House Committee.

FAULTS IN "FIVE BROTHERS"

After He Had Pointed These Out the Judiciary Committee Asked Him to Prepare New Bills.

Examination of the stenographic report of the proceedings before the Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives on Friday in respect to the new anti-trust bills, discloses that two important constitutional objections were urged by Samuel Untermyer, who had studied the "five brothers" carefully at the request of the committee in order to give it any assistance in his power.

Mr. Untermyer, it appears, was asked by the committee at the close of his argument to redraft the bills in accordance with his suggestions as a basis for future conferences with the committee.

The first objection made by Mr. Untermyer was to the amendment to the Sherman law that would render conclusive against a trust every judgment in favor of the Government adjudging that the corporation had violated the act so that every person injured could sue, and have the advantage of that judgment without having to prove the illegality. This would open wide the door to recovery by every injured tradesman who is now prevented from suing through the inability to make this proof and its prohibitory expense.

Mr. Untermyer advised the committee that, while he aprpoved the principle involved, the provision in its present form was unconstitutional, because while the judgment would bind the corporation in favor of every person injured where it was adverse to the corporation, it was not reciprocal in that it did not likewise bind the injured persons, where judgment was adverse to the Government.

This, he said, was repugnant to the provision assuring to the States the equal protection of the laws, which had been held to be necessary to insure to the citizens due process of law under the Federal Constitution. He contended tht if the judgment was to be conclusive against the Government when an injured party wanted to take advantage of it, it must have the same effect against the injured party in favor of the corporation.

The other constitutional objection arose under Section 4 of the interlocking Director bill, by which the mere fact that the same person was a Director in two corporations that have ever been in the past or may be national competitors, would make both corporations necessarily and conclusively violators of the Sherman law, and would make not only of the man, but of every other Director on both boards, even though they are different, a criminal. And this, although it could be proved, if permitted, that the two corporations were in fact violent competitors; that there were a dozen Directors; that he was the only common Director, and that the Directors in the first board did not know he had gone on the other.

This result was accomplished, according to Mr. Untermyer, by the simple provision that "the mere fact of there being such common Directors shall be conclusive evidence that there is no competition, and that both companies are violating the act."

This, he contended, was to disregard the two constitutional safeguards securing due process of law and trial by jury, and to amount to a denial of both.

1. Amend the Interlocking Directors bill by prohibiting interlocking Directors of banks only as to banks that are in the same city or are potential competitors, instead of as now forbidding any bank Director to be a Director of another bank anywhere.
3. Reach interlocking control of competing companies through stock ownership, dummy Directors, voting trusts, and other covers and devices to evade the spirit of the law by giving power to the Trades Commission to investigate and to prohibit or permit such control to the extent to which it does not injuriously affect competition.

As to holding companies, Mr. Untermyer gave the following advice:

1. Do not forbid all holding companies, as is now proposed.
2. Forbid absolutely all such companies where they are actual or potential competitors.
3. Leave to the Trades Commission the discretion to permit other holding companies which it believes necessary or beneficial on conditions that it must approve, which should include cumulative voting and the proper protection of the minority holders.

Mr. Untermyer recommended qualifying the right now proposed to be given to a private individual to sue in equity by requiring that the Government be made a party, that the suit cannot be dismissed without the Government's consent, and that the Government may at any time assume the prosecution, but is not to be bound by the judgment unless it does so. This provision would prevent the new privilege from being used by individuals to blackmail corporations on the one hand, or to obtain for the corporation a collusive bill of health on the other.

The proposed amendments, which Mr. Untermyer has promised the committee to put in the form of a redraft of all the bills, include a provision allowing the court, when it grants a decree in favor of the Government, to fix an amount of counsel fees and charges that will indemnify the Government for all the expenses of the suit, including the fees of special counsel. Numerous changes will be suggested also in the "Definitions" bill, and in the price-fixing bill that would materially change their character.

The bill prohibiting the fixing of prices, Mr. Untermyer argued, was mischievous in principle. Instead of stimulating competition and freeing business, it would destroy competition. It would enable every local manufacturer and dealer to undersell an interstate corporation in a locality and drive it out of that locality, unless the corporation was willing to reduce its price all over the country.

Even if Congress thought this was right, the provision would not accomplish the purpose sought and was meaningless. In allowing a corporation to select its own customers it nullified the requirement that it must sell to all without discrimination, and in allowing it to discriminate in price because of quantity it destroyed the price-fixing provision.

Mr. Untermyer made it plain that he was in hearty accord with the purpose of all this legislation. He added that it was unfortunate that the bills had been sent to different committees, as in his opinion they could not be dealt with separately to advantage.

CHECK ON STATE EXPENSES.

ALBANY, Feb. 8.—Harold J. Hinman, majority leader of the Assembly, has introduced a bill prohibiting the State Highway Department from expending the proceeds of bond sales except as appropriated by the Legislature. Up to Sept. 30, 1913, the State Controller's report shows a total of $37,600,000 had been expended from the sale of bonds for the construction of highways and of that sum $7,000,000 had been spent for salaries, office expenses and engineering expenses.

"It thus appears," a statement issued by Mr. Hinman says, "that 20 per cent. of the money voted for highways has been thus far spent for other purposes."

Mr. Hinman says he will ask the Assembly Investigating Committee, when appointed, to make a drastic examination into the way in which moneys accruing from bond issues have been spent for salaries without authorization from the Legislature. He is informed it is the intention of the present Commissioner of Highways to appoint a deputy in every one of the fifty-seven counties at a salary of $3,000 a year to look after future highway construction in that county, thus enormously increasing the amount drawn for salaries from the proceeds of bond sales without any appropriation.

Mr. Hinman also has introduced a bill compelling the Attorney General to pay to the State Treasurer all moneys collected for costs and damages under the Agricultural law. Under the present statute, the Attorney General is permitted to pay salaries and disbursements of counsel out of these moneys without any appropriation from the Legislature and without being called upon to make an accounting to any one. In addition Mr. Hinman has introduced a bill repealing the present law under which the salaries and expenses of deputies of the Attorney General appearing before the Supreme Court in the several counties are made a charge against the County Treasury without any appropriation by the Legislature.

The purpose of all three bills is to restore to the Legislature powers which it has allowed to drift away.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

The Board of United States General Appraisers has decided that rainproof cloth consisting of two layers cemented together, one layer being of knitted material and the other a twilled fabric, is properly dutiable under the Tariff act of 1909, as waterproof cloth, at the rate of 10 cents a square yard and 20 per cent. ad valorem. Collector Malone assessed the goods, which were imported by the Harrison Fabric Company, as manufactures of cotton at 45 per cent. ad valorem.

C. A. Haynes & Co., New York, objected to the action of the Collector in adding to the foreign market value of goods, an item representing the cost of shrinkage. The Appraiser considered the cost of shrinkage as non-dutiable and did not include it in his return. The Board agreed that the item is not dutiable and reversed the Collector.

A dispute between the Government and the Becker & Wickser Company of Buffalo, regarding the component material of chief value in trunks, was decided adversely to the importers. The Collector exacted duty at 45 per cent. under the old law, as manufactures of cotton, while the protestants alleged duty at 35 per cent. ad valorem as manufactures of wood.

Battery carbons imported by H. Reisinger, New York, were held to be unenumerated manufactured articles within the meaning of the old tariff, dutiable at 20 per cent. ad valorem. The Board reversed Collector Malone's return at 35 per cent. as articles made from an earthy substance.

START WAR ON CONTRACTS.

Francis W. Bird, State Chairman of the Progressive Party, wrote to Gov. Glynn yesterday informing him that Assemblyman Schaap on Tuesday would submit a resolution in the Assembly to substitute construction of highways and canals by a State department or departments for the present system of construction by contract. Mr. Bird asked the Governor to support the resolution.

"Of course there are those who will cry out that politics will permeate any work carried on by the State to the detriment of the work. Let them remember that the contracting firms are all in politics up to their ears. Let them remember that the worst feature of our present political life is the influence of these contracting firms. I do not believe that politics would get into the State work, but I am confident that eliminating the contracting firms from State work, and thus from politics, would be a benefit that is incalculable."

Chairman Bird said that he thought he spoke mildly in saying that the revelations of graft which had been made had astounded the people of the State.

"I am asking you to support this measure," he wrote in conclusion, "because I do not believe that the highway and canal scandals should be made a matter of partisan advantage."

The resolution asks for the appointment of a commission of five to suggest the best form of organization to enable the State itself to construct highways and canals.

$1,200,000 RECEIVERSHIP.

No Books of Cashier Company Found—Faces Jury Inquiry.

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 8.—The United States Cashier Company, thrown into a receivership here yesterday, and facing Federal Grand Jury proceedings, has no books that James L. Hunt, receiver, could find to-day. Dies and dynamos belonging to the company's plant are also missing. Edward C. Baker, former auditor of the company, but now, he asserts, an employe of the International Money Machine Company of Indianapolis, is under arrest, charged with contempt of court, because he refused to turn over the missing property or tell where it was.

Appointment of a receiver followed the filing of a suit by a stockholder, charging that nearly all of the company's $1,200,000 capital stock had been sold, with nothing to show for it but a $500,000 plant at Kenton, a suburb.

WARN CANCER SUFFERERS.

The Health Department's warning against too great confidence in the radium treatment of cancer at this time was indorsed yesterday by the New York Skin and Cancer Hospital in this bulletin:

> Radium has not been established as a cure for cancer. Its use in the treatment of benign conditions has met with success. In advanced cases its curative powers have not been demonstrated.
>
> There is but one universally recognized cure for cancer—the knife. The early, complete, and radical operation is the safest method known to the profession at the present time. A case cannot be said to be cured of cancer until five years have elapsed without a recurrence.
>
> Until the new method of employing various radioactive substances in the treatment of cancer have been thoroughly, carefully, and scientifically tested by those specially trained to carry on the correct technique and until a proper period of time has elapsed to make the results of real value, sufferers should not be misguided by a false hope that radium is a cure for cancer.
>
> Sufferers should not defer operation until too late in the hope of avoiding the use of the knife. An early diagnosis and prompt and proper treatment should be sought. This will alleviate much suffering and will result in arresting the progress of the disease. In many cases the patient will be cured.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION IN AMERICA AND EUROPE

A clearer line of demarcation was drawn last week between the movement on the stock market and the course of the bond market. Reaction prevailed in the former, whereas the investment demand, which has lately broadened to such large proportions, continued unabated and found reflection in the establishment of a new high level for this movement in the average of bond prices. These divergent movements followed naturally enough upon the fact that along with the investment purchases of stocks in January there went a very considerable amount of speculative buying, while the demand for bonds seemed to arise to a greater extent than usual from the ultimate consumers of bonds rather than from bond dealers. The latter, indeed, have often had difficulty during this forward movement to obtain the bonds which investors, whether individuals or institutions, were seeking. There was thus created a condition in which a very considerable amount of stock was held for resale for th purpose of realizing speculative profits, while the strictly investment demand for bonds was maintained on a scale which prevented the accumulation of any large surplus in the hands of the middlemen. On this basis of fact both the continued rise in the bond market and the reaction in stocks were readily accounted for.

It was more this technical market position than any news of the last week which brought about the moderate setback in the general level of stock prices. There was news, however, which affected adversely specific issues, and the movement of these had some effect upon the course of prices as a whole. The Rock Island securities were most conspicuous among those which showed weakness, and this was due to the news that a plan for the readjustment of the Rock Island companies is being considered by a committee of Directors. What these deliberations will result in has not yet been clearly indicated, but the theory underlying last week's movements in this group of securities was that the plan to be adopted would strengthen the position of the railway company proper, while putting burdens, which were described as unavoidable under the circumstances, upon the owners of the securities of the holding company. The plan was said to be in effect to undo now what was done in 1902, when the old Rock Island Railway passed under the control of the Rock Island Railroad, a holding company, which in turn was lodged with the Rock Island Company, by which process two holding companies intervened between the holders of the Rock Island stocks and the railway property itself. Another of the pronounced movements which contributed to the general reaction was the decline which occurred in New York Central. Hopes of an early grant of increased freight rates, which were formed at the time when intimations came from Washington that the President was disposed to favor a rate increase, have been dampened by recent indications that the deliberation over this question by the Interstate Commerce Commission was still likely, as originally seemed probable, to be prolonged over a period of many months. This was one of the influences which affected New York Central. Its earnings statement was another and more specific factor, and discussion of the pending investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the road's proposed financial plan, based upon a scheme of consolidation of some of the principal of the New York Central properties, was still another. Other price movements were similarly traceable to special factors, but the market viewed as a whole seemed merely to be responding to the natural effect of the profit taking which was called forth by the sharp January rise and to the professional pressure upon the market, which was based upon much the same theory as was the profit taking by January buyers.

The movement in stocks had, indeed, little reference to the course of fundamental conditions as these were revealed in the developments of the week. Money was maintained in a state of great ease here and abroad. In Europe further reductions were made in some of the official bank rates, the most notable change being the lowering of the German rate from 4½ per cent. to 4 per cent., and open market rates receded at Paris as well as elsewhere. It is true of European markets as well as of our own that a keen demand is being shown for short-term investments. This was reflected in sales of municipal notes in the English market well under 2 per cent., and in transactions here in New York City issues at rates as low as 2.80 per cent. on warrants running over four months. The purchase of prime commercial paper at 3½ per cent. for the shorter maturities and at rates as low as 3¾ per cent. for six months was another manifestation of the present money plenty.

The supply of short-term securities at rates acceptable to banking institutions has, of course, been greatly diminished by the purchases of recent weeks, and from these short-term investments banks and trust companies have turned in many instances to the long-time bond market. Their buying has supplemented largely the purchases for more permanent investment by savings banks and insurance companies, as well as by individuals. The quoting of premiums on new issues was one reflection of the breadth of the demand by which the bond market has lately so greatly profited. The cables told of the great success of the offerings made in the European market, and the $10,000,000 Cuban bond issue offered by New York bankers was quoted at a premium of a full point on the first day of issue. So far new security offerings have for the most part been confined to relatively small amounts, but the market is prepared for heavier issues as time goes on. The plans which were being laid last week for an issue of about $50,000,000 of 5 per cent. Southern Pacific bonds exchangeable into stock at par to be offered to the shareholders at par, furnish a reminder of the borrowing needs of railroads and other corporations. In this case about three-fifths of the issue will be required to replace outstanding short-term securities, and the amount of new money to be raised is, therefore, relatively small. This will be likewise true of any other issues which are to be made later on, for the principal needs now in sight are for the refunding of existing obligations which fall due this year. Such refundings put much less tax on the market than would a demand for a similar amount of fresh capital.

To the extent to which the corporations raise capital other than that needed to pay off maturing obligations, stimulus will be given to trade for railroads and others to borrow money to spend upon materials and labor for improvements to existing property, or for the construction of new facilities. Such borrowing is naturally encouraged by every step by which the charge for capital is lowered. Hence the promise of increased industrial activity which is perceived in the present large-scale movement of money into permanent investments. Last week's reports showed a small decrease in the number of idle freight cars throughout the country, an increase in bank clearings, and an expansion in the output of the steel mills. All of these furnished tangible reflection of the change for the better which has lately come about in business sentiment.

SLOWING DOWN IN PARIS.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

PARIS, Feb. 8.—The Bourse opened the week buoyant in tone. Rentes were less active, but rose a quarter of a point. The mining markets were somewhat quiet, and Tintos lost 14 points. Encouraging reports from London, Berlin, Vienna, and New York, the easy monetary conditions generally prevailing, and the increased activity in the metal industry, especially in the United States, gave a fillip to coppers and other metal shares on Tuesday. Tintos regained their previous loss and closed 6 points to the good. A sharp spurt occurred in Mexicans—Nationals rising 21 points.

The midweek market became irregular and hesitant, on unfavorable rumors from Mexico and Peru and reports of the failure of a big banking house in London; but nevertheless the tone in all departments remained firm and confident, the ease of the money markets, in anticipation of a further reduction in the rate of the Bank of England, being a favorable factor. Rentes went up half a point for cash and a quarter for the account; but the salient feature of the session was the rise of coppers. The Kaffir markets suffered from liquidation, but Tintos scored an advance of 13 points.

Business slowed down toward the end of the week, the general public not coming into the markets to the extent anticipated and professional dealers for the moment being fully committed. There was some disappointment that the Bank of England did not further reduce its rate, but general satisfaction over the reduction by the Reichsbank and the Bank of Austria-Hungary. Rio Tintos relapsed 27 points at the end of the week, despite satisfactory American advices.

The general feeling is that there is nothing in the foreign political situation or in the financial world affording any new stimulus for either a rally or a slump. After the rallies and general upward movement of the last fortnight, Paris is no exception to other big Stock Exchanges in feeling the need of a breathing time.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, Feb. 8.—The Stock Exchange started the week well. On the settlement gilt-edged stocks showed an unprecedented advance, prices ranging from 4⅝ per cent. in consols to 11½ per cent. in Metropolitan Water Boards; but the pace proved too rapid, and toward the end of the week a reaction set in, realizations in connection with the approaching carry-over causing a general decline of prices. A small amount of investment business was reported at the week-end, but the number of new issues before the public diverted interest from old to new securities, and speculative business was confined to the adjustment of positions prior to the carry-over, and generally resulted in the sale of stock.

Money was still abundant, but gold withdrawals caused Lombard Street to adopt a somewhat more cautious attitude during the week. Notwithstanding the reduction of the Austrian, German, Swedish, and Danish Bank rates, London remains the cheapest money centre, and the fact is beginning to tell on the foreign exchanges, which are moving against London, with the result that there is considerable Continental competition for bar gold in the open market.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Feb. 8.—Another week of firm prices and lively trading was vouchsafed to the Boerse.

The recent reduction in the Imperial Bank rate to 4 per cent. has caused the public to withdraw money on deposit in the bank and invest it in staple dividend-bearing stocks. Operators believe there is an increasing tendency in this direction. Yesterday's close was strong.

The simultaneous presence of the heads of the Hamburg and Bremen lines in Vienna caused the market to think that the shipping peace negotiations were progressing.

The trading in shipping shares was one of the liveliest features of the week, stocks of both companies being in strong demand. Steel, iron, and coal shares were also freely purchased at generally higher prices.

KENTUCKY OIL PROFITS.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 8.—The annual statement of the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky shows profits of $1,002,457 for the year 1913. In connection with the statement it is announced that the company has increased its capital stock from $1,000,000 to $3,000,000.

Stockholders of record of Jan. 31 will have the privilege of subscribing to this stock at par, in proportion to the amount of their holdings on that date. They may apply to this purchase the extra dividend of $200 a share recently declared. The dividend is payable on Feb. 14. Those taking advantage of this privilege will receive a stock dividend of about $350 a share, the stock yesterday being quoted $272 bid and $280 asked.

Dividends paid in 1913 amounted to $100,000. The surplus balance of the company is $902,437.69.

ST. JOHN'S GUILD IN NEED.

$4,000 a Month Required to Keep Up Its Activities.

An urgent appeal for public subscriptions as the only means of continuing its relief work on land and sea is made by the St. John's Guild in its annual report, to be issued to-day. The work for the last year is said to have exceeded in volume and importance that of all previous years, but unless $4,000 a month can be assured by public subscription, it is asserted, at least the hospital branch of the guild's work must be discontinued.

Seymour L. Cromwell, President of the guild, tells of the Seaside Hospital and Floating Hospital. The latter is quartered on the seventeen-year-old ship Helen C. Juilliard. The ship, he says, is in urgent need of better facilities. At the request of the city authorities, according to the report, the ship has been fitted up as a whooping cough camp, to help fight this widespread menace to the health of the city's children.

"The Floating Hospital began its service on June 30, and made fifty-two trips, the final one on Aug. 30," said Mr. Cromwell. "She carried a total of 57,887, of which 15,252 were women, 28,254 were children approximating 6 years and under, and 14,381 were babies. There was an average of 1,113 patients per trip, and the total number carried was 2,270 more than last year. There were 39,076 baths given, an increase of about 20 per cent. over last year.

"The Seaside Hospital began its Summer service on June 9 and closed it on Sept. 15. The total admissions were 2,134, of which 2,088 had been discharged cured or improved, and 25 unimproved, leaving the number of deaths 21, which was 12 less than last year. The number of hospital days' treatment was 23,827. The total receipts from members and contributors of all classes, including the City of New York, during the last year amount to $83,449.02. The endowment fund now amounts to $230,576.77, against $201,139.75 last year."

The guild has run into debt in the last year to the extent of $95,000, according to the report. A new hospital has been completed and opened, not only for the work so long connected with the name of St. John's Guild, but for operation on a new plan with distinct functions.

Astor Trust Company

The Safety of your Estate

will depend largely upon your choice of an Executor and Trustee. An individual in those offices may render a good account of his stewardship, but there is always the possibility that he may not live to complete his task.

A safe plan is to appoint the Astor Trust Company your Executor and Trustee. There is no danger of its not living to carry out your wishes. It has the experience, responsibility and executive ability so necessary to an efficient trusteeship, besides other advantages which reside only in a well-directed corporation subject to the Banking Law.

You are invited to confer with our officers in regard to "More efficient trusteeship at no greater cost." Send for our list of directors, and our booklets on Wills.

Trustee for Personal Trusts
FIFTH AVENUE & 36TH STREET, NEW YORK

The Union Trust Company of New York offers a special service to individual trustees who desire to have the clerical and routine administration of their trusts carried on at a low expense by an expert organization.

The Union Trust Company will care for the trust property, assist in making investments and in selling securities, collect the income and pay it over as directed, and will render accounts in the form in which a trustee is required by the Court to state his accounts. A trustee will avoid expense and trouble by having his accounts kept in proper form.

Correspondence and Interviews are Solicited.

FACTORIES' NEW PROBLEM.

Many Must Reduce Forces or Widen Stairs Under Fire Law.

ALBANY, Feb. 8.—It is estimated that substantial reductions in the working forces in many factory buildings must be made unless steps be taken at once to meet the requirements of a new section of the labor law which became effective Feb. 1. The new section provides that in existing buildings the number of persons that may be on any floor shall be fourteen for each eighteen inches of width of stairs serving as exists. If the height between floors exceeds ten feet the new section will allow one additional person for each sixteen inches of excess. Should the stairs be of the "winder" type the new section deducts 10 per cent. of the number otherwise allowed. Should the building be equipped with a proper automatic sprinkler system the new law increases the capacity of the stairs 50 per cent.

Commissioner James M. Lynch of the State Department of Labor calls attention to the new law in a statement issued to-day in which he gives a concrete example of the effect of the new section on existing buildings.

"Let us assume that we have a factory building that is 150 feet long and 60 feet wide, with two stairways, one at each end at diagonal corners," says Mr. Lynch. "The stairs are 4 feet 6 inches wide between stringers, or 3 units of 18 inches. The height from floor to floor is 11 feet 4 inches, or sufficient to allow fifteen persons per stair unit. The capacity of each stairs is forty-five. The combined capacity of the two stairs is ninety persons. If the building is equipped with a proper automatic sprinkler system the capacity of the stairs is increased 50 per cent. We find, therefore, that in a room containing 9,000 square feet of floor space, assuming all conditions to be of the best, 135 persons may be employed.

"If such a building were divided in the middle by a fire wall properly erected and fitted with fire doors it would contain two areas approximating 4,500 square feet. Assuming that one-half of such space were occupied by machinery, tables, and stock, there would still remain 2,250 square feet of free floor space. And under this law such free floor space would permit the employment of 450 persons upon the entire floor. This example emphasizes the value of a fire wall, for it is not only an effective barrier against the progress of fire, but sustains a most important relation to the number of persons who may occupy factory buildings.

"Another important feature to be considered in connection with this law is the requirement for the proper inclosure of stairways used as means of exit. Such stairways must be inclosed in partitions of fireproof or fireresisting material. Unless so inclosed they cannot be counted as serving the purpose of exists within the meaning of the law."

INDORSES LABOR PROTOCOL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8.—In a report made public to-day, the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations, which has been taking testimony in the matter, gives emphatic indorsement to the protocol or working agreement between employers and unionized employes of the cloak and suit trades in New York City. The commission holds that the agreement has been instrumental in maintaining the right sort of industrial peace.

Four members of the commission signed the report. The commission will have further hearings in other cities where the clothing industry is conducted on a large scale. Baltimore, Philadelphia, Rochester, Cleveland, Chicago, and St. Louis will be visited.

Frank P. Walsh, Chairman of the commission, said to-day:

"The purpose of the commission is in no sense to act as a board of arbitration or conciliation. We are attempting to find and eliminate the causes of industrial strife, and we are particularly interested in at least temporary solutions of the problem, such as the New York protocol."

Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, the only woman on the commission, was a member of the sub-committee which held hearings in New York.

"The strong testimony submitted at the hearings was so exceedingly favorable to the results obtained under the agreement that we believe, with a manifestation of fairness by both sides, matters complained of can and will be eliminated."

SENATOR LEWIS RETURNS.

United States Senator James Hamilton Lewis of Illinois arrived yesterday from London on the Hamburg-American liner Kaiserin Auguste Victoria. Senator Lewis was a delegate to the International Conference seeking to promote safety at sea. Senator Lewis left at once for Washington.

Another passenger was Prof. Ernst Elster of the University of Marburg, where he holds the chair of German Literature, who comes here as an exchange professor.

RECEIVERS' SALES.

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT Court for the Southern District of New York.—THE EASTERN STEEL COMPANY vs. GODAIR-WIMMER BUILDING COMPANY et al.—In Equity.—10-69.

By virtue of a decree entered in the above-entitled action on the 2d day of January, 1914, the undersigned receiver in the above-entitled action will offer for sale and sell at public auction at the office of the Godair-Wimmer Building Company, in the Heidelberg Building, at 42d Street and Broadway, in the City of New York, on the 11th day of March, 1914, at the hour of eleven (11) o'clock in the forenoon, the following property, namely:

2,000 shares of the Capital Stock of the Godair-Wimmer Building Company of the par value of $100.00 each share, the same being the entire capital stock of the said Godair-Wimmer Building Company; also

$200,000.00 par value of the 5% Mortgage Bonds of the said Godair-Wimmer Building Company, due on the 1st day of June, 1917, the same being the entire issue of the bonds of the said company.

The said Godair-Wimmer Building Company has been decreed in the above-entitled action to be the owner of the leasehold of that certain real estate located at the junction of 7th Avenue, 42d Street and Broadway, in the City, County and State of New York, said real estate comprising a frontage of 86 feet 2½ inches on 42d Street; 49 feet 4½ inches on 7th Avenue, and 51 feet 3 inches on Broadway, together with the building thereon situated, known as the Heidelberg Tower Building; the said leasehold being for a term of 21 years from the 1st day of May, 1909, with the privilege of three (3) renewals of 21 years each.

The purchaser of the above-described stock and bonds will thereby acquire the entire leasehold interest of said Godair-Wimmer Building Company in said premises, and the building thereon situated.

Terms of Sale: Each bidder will be required to deposit with the undersigned receiver a certified check for $5,000.00 or other satisfactory security as evidence of the good faith of his bid, and as a guaranty that if the property is struck off to him he will complete the purchase.

Terms of Payment: The purchaser must pay 1-3 of the purchase price in cash, on confirmation of sale by the Court; 1-3 in 6 months, and 1-3 in 12 months, with interest on the deferred payments at the rate of 6% per annum, such deferred payments to be secured in a manner satisfactory to the receiver, or the purchaser may pay the entire price in cash.

Full particulars regarding the said stock, bonds, and the leasehold, and plans and particulars of the building thereon hereinbefore referred to, may be obtained at the office of the receiver or his counsel, by persons interested, at any time prior to the date of the sale.

Said sale will be made subject to confirmation and approval of the Court.

NEPONSIT
We Ask You To Convince Yourself
Neponsit residents first convinced themselves and as a result 75% of the property is now sold through their recommendation.
Neponsit is New York City ocean front, with ½ mile of superb surf bathing beach. Worth more and more marketable. Yet costs no more than inland property. A carefully restricted colony of beautiful "homey" homes and cultured people. 40 minutes to Wall Street and shopping centers. By Long Island electric trains from Penn. Station, New York, or Flatbush Ave. Station, Brooklyn. A place to dodge the Summer's heat and the Winter's cold.
BEACH RIGHTS TO ALL PROPERTY OWNERS
Artistic houses and bungalows built from our designs or yours. Homes wanted ready for Summer should be secured NOW. A few charming bungalows of stucco-on-hollow-tile construction, just completed, await your careful inspection. Remember—you convince yourself! That's our policy!

POLICE LINE-UP PLAN IS RESUMED TO-DAY

OLD PRACTICE IS MODIFIED

Prisoners Will Be Brought from Stations—Detectives Not All Required to be in Attendance.

After three years' absence from Police Headquarters, the line-up will be restored this morning. This institution, devised to familiarize the detectives of New York with the criminals of New York, was modified by Mr. Cropsey when he was Police Commissioner and wiped out altogether by Rhinelander Waldo. The suggestion that it be restored was made by the Curran Committee in its report to the Board of Aldermen, and Commissioner McKay in a letter last week to Mayor Mitchel said he believed it should be restored in part.

According to the announcement made last night by Deputy Commissioner Rubin, the partial restoration starts at 9 o'clock this morning. At that hour all those locked up yesterday on charges of felony and not yet admitted to bail will be brought from the different stations to Headquarters and there assembled for the instruction of detectives. The word "partial" must be used because, unlike the old days, not all the detectives will be required to attend this early morning class in criminal personnel.

The original line-up was born of the days when the Central Office Squad was a big squad and when the cells at Headquarters always were full. Prisoners arrested for everything from burglary to assault, who still were behind bars at break of day, were taken to the platform in the big basement room, and there exhibited to the assembled detectives. Pickpockets, confidence men and footpads, arrested, perhaps on evidence too slim to convict them, thus would be introduced to the ever-changing force.

The detective, from behind his mask, would scrutinize the features of the prisoner and make mental notes that would come in handy the next time the prisoner in question was caught coming out of a strange hallway or jostling in a crowd. Reporters were not permitted to attend these private receptions, but stories about the old line-up are still told.

"There he is, boys," the man in charge would say. "He's a crook and he's done time many a time. A dip he is and a mean one. I am afraid we haven't got him this time, but keep your eyes open for him and if you don't see him doing anything, why just knock the spots out of him anyway."

It was Mr. Cronsey who pointed out that as detectives usually worked in pairs, it might serve as well to divide the force into two platoons and have one attend every other day. It was Mr. Waldo who decided that the whole system consumed too much valuable time, and so abolished it. Within six weeks of Mr. Waldo's retirement from the Police Dpartment the line-up is to be restored, in part. Only a fraction of the force is to attend this morning. How large a fraction is not yet announced. The old-timers at Headquarters are confident that before long Commissioner McKay will come to the belief that at least half of the detectives should be on hand each morning. Incidentally there is a persistent rumor that the Central Office Squad is to be tripled at least in size.

One of the great difficulties about the old system was the bail bond scandal. A professional criminal—or an amateur for that matter—hates the line-up as he hates Sing Sing. In the old days, he used to resort to devious methods to obtain release before 9 o'clock of the day following his arrest, and this was often done with the aid of the police in charge. When most of the prisoners of importance were locked up at Headquarters, the possibility of evil at least was centralized. Under the present system—inherited from the Waldo régime—the prisoners are locked up all over town. The bail situation will be harder to watch.

Commissioner McKay's reason for restoring the line-up are given in these paragraphs from his recent letter to the Mayor:

"The line-up was formerly in use by the Police Department. It was discontinued some time ago. No simple but effective system for familiarizing detectives with the personal appearance, voice, mannerisms, &c., of the criminals has been substituted for the line-up. No such system has been devised, the details of which can be acquired without long-continued study and practice. Systems of photographic analysis are complicated, and proficiency in them is acquired with difficulty. Any such system lacks the interest which is created by personal observation at the line-up.

"I recommend that the line-up be restored, but that a fractional part only of the detective force be required to attend daily. The moral effect upon the criminal would be practically as good, and the previous objections would be largely eliminated."

JUMPS FROM FERRYBOAT.

The police of the Stapleton Station, Staten Island, reported to Police Headquarters that a woman about thirty-five years old jumped from the upper deck of the municipal ferryboat The Bronx into the water while the boat was on the way to Staten Island at 1 o'clock this morning. At the time the ferryboat was between South Ferry and Stapleton. The woman was drowned.

She left behind a pocket book, in which was a letter addressed to Joseph Rubin, a lawyer of 309 Broadway, and a photo post card of a man and woman. Mr. Rubin said this morning that on last Monday a woman, greatly agitated, called on him for legal advice. She said she had been deserted by a man, to whom she had given all her money. Mr. Rubin said from the description of the woman who jumped from the ferry boat he was unable to tell if she was his client.

FEAR GIRL WAS KIDNAPPED.

No Trace Found of Henrietta Schatzlein and Church Prays for Her.

The police of the Herbert Street Station were notified yesterday of the mysterious disappearance of Henrietta Schatzlein, 17 years old, of 136 Skillman Avenue, Williamsburg. The girl has been missing since Tuesday morning. Yesterday in the German Reformed Emanuel Church, at Graham Avenue and Withers Street, the Rev. W. Walento asked the congregation to pray for Miss Schatzlein, who was a teacher in the church Sunday school.

Before notifying the police the family searched the hospitals and morgues of the city, but were unable to find any trace of the girl. On Tuesday morning Miss Schatzlein left her house to attend a sewing class attached to the Y. W. C. A. at Schermerhorn Street and Third Avenue. She failed to reach the class. Her mother believes that she has been kidnapped.

GAYNOR BRIDE IN HOSPITAL.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 8.—Mrs. Ralph Heywood Isham of New York, the sixteen-year-old bride, who was the youngest daughter of the late Mayor Gaynor of New York, is at the California Hospital suffering with appendicitis. It was declared to-day that Mrs. Isham had been taken to the hospital on Thursday night, a few hours after her arrival in the city with her husband on their honeymoon.

Dr. Carl Kurtz has taken charge of the case. Mr. Isham said to-night that his wife had been subject to periodical attack of appendicitis for the last two years, and that physicians in New York had proposed an operation, but that she and the members of the family had not consented, in the hope that on account of her youth that the ailment might pass away. The recent attack is the most severe of all.

HURT IN TAXICAB CRASH.

Manufacturer and Woman Companion Injured Seriously.

Solomon A. Rosenberg, a young cap manufacturer living at 49 East Seventh Street, was riding with two women companions in a taxicab in Westchester Avenue, the Bronx, at 12:30 o'clock this morning, when at Intervale Avenue the cab ran into a motor truck and was wrecked.

The chauffeur and one of the women was thrown clear of the wreckage. Mr. Rosenberg and the other woman, who said she was Eugenia White, a model, of 763 East 162d Street, were pinned in and were hurt so badly that they had to be taken to Lebanon Hospital. Mr. Rosenberg was badly bruised, but Miss White had her skull fractured. The other girl was Marie Smith of 717 Tinton Avenue, the Bronx.

WIRELESS WARNS OF ICE.

Bergs, Field Ice, and "Growlers" Reported by the Megantic.

Capt. Hugh F. David of the White Star steamship Megantic reported yesterday on his arrival from Liverpool that his wireless operator had picked up the following news of ice fields from various vessels:

In latitudes ranging from 46 to 48.10 north and longitudes 46.53 to 48.54 west are large bergs, field ice, and "growlers." One of the bergs sighted about 250 miles east of St. Johns, N. F., was 150 feet high and a quarter of a mile long.

Scow Cut Adrift in Gale.

The tug Hazleton was passing Sandy Hook yesterday afternoon, towing a mud scow from the dumping ground, when the craft became unmanageable in the rough sea and had to be cut adrift. The scow, with one man aboard, was driven out to sea by the northwest gale. At 11 o'clock last night she was picked up by a tug sent in pursuit and towed to a safe anchorage.

RELICS OF TILDEN ON VIEW.

Public Library Opens Exhibition of Books and Portraits.

The New York Public Library has opened an exhibition of books, manuscripts, portraits and views relating to the career of Samuel J. Tilden in view of the 100th aniversary to-day of his birth. The exhibition will continue for a month. Among the objects of special interest are textbooks which Tilden used at school and at Yale College, an engrossed copy of his will, a large number of prints and photographs of Tilden and his home; a facsimile of a characteristic appeal to Democrats, written by him while a candidate for election to the State Legislature in 1871; several pictures and plans of the library building which was to be constructed by the Tilden Trust, and the record of the breaking of Tilden's will in the Reports of the New York Court of Appeals.

Tilden planned that the greater part of his estate should be used for a free library in this city, but the courts set the will aside after years of litigation. The trustees finally received a little more than $2,000,00 from an estate valued at from $4,000,000 to $6,000,000, and this money, with the 20,000 volumes in Tilden's private library, his paintings and other objects of art, went to join the Astor and Lenox endowments and books to form what is now the New York Public Library.

"Femâle Association" Celebrates Its Century of Existence.

The 100th anniversary of the founding of the Flushing Female Association was celebrated on Saturday by an entertainment at the home of Miss Jennie C. Bloodgood, 95 Bowne Avenue, Flushing. Thirty descendants of the original founders were present, and a solid silver service was used which has been in the Bloodgood family for more than a century.

The association was founded on Feb. 7, 1814, by a group of women who met in the home of Mrs. Elizabeth W. Lawrence to consult "upon the situation of the poor children of Flushing who from incapacity of their parents to give them education are growing up in ignorance and in danger of being led into vice and immorality." The quotation is from the preamble to the minutes of the first meeting, at which was laid the foundations of the first free school in Flushing. The teacher at this school received $60 a year and $2 a week for board.

Among those present on Saturday were Miss Eliza MacDonald, Miss Eleanor Liggett, Mrs. Samuel C. Townsend, Mrs. F. N. Owen, Miss Anna Breath, Mrs. James Eadie, Mrs. Florence Gill, Mrs. S. Edson Gage, Mrs. Charlotte Henry, Miss Lydia Peck, Mrs. E. Van Dyke Cox, Miss Cornelia Parsons, and Miss Laura Mitchell.

ICE CREAM MEN STRIKE.

The Ice Cream Salesmen and Inside Workers' Union began a strike on the east side yesterday for recognition of the union. About 400 men quit, and the strike is to be extended to-day.

While this time of the year is not looked on generally as the ice cream season, this commodity is demanded on the east side all the year round. It is especially in demand at all weddings and dances.

Sale of Hart, Schaffner & Marx Dinner Suits (Tuxedos) $27.50

HERE is luck all the way 'round. Luck for us because we were able to buy these suits at a price. Luck for you because you have never had a chance to buy such suits in New York before at less than $40, $45 or $50. Never mind the why or wherefore—the suits, new in every way—are here and they are $27.50. In this case we do not sell separate garments. Look at your Tuxedo to-day—if it is not right, come here quick, you may not get an opportunity like this again.

To take in the Globe's snappy play!
There laughs 'round you wind of the bright, joyous kind,
With lassies so nimble and gay;
They'll entrance as they dance with their sly little glance—
